WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Banks's command, on Monday, had arrived safely at Williamsport. He states that his troops fought the enemy at Strasburg, Middletown, Newton, at a point also between these places, and at Winchester. The rebel force he estimates at 15,000 to 20,000 men, with very strong artillery and cavalry supports. His own force consisted of two brigades of infantry, less than 4000 strong, 1500 cavalry, ten Parrott guns and six smooth bores. The supply train numbered 500 wagons; on a forced march of 52 miles, 35 of which were performed in one day, not many more than fifty wagons were lost. The loss in killed and wounded was serious, but much less than might have been expected. A report from Williamsport says that as our troops retreated from Winchester, the women fired upon them with pistols from doors and windows, and that the sick left in the hospitals were most brutally treated, and some of them wounded.

Gen. McClellan telegraphs that his troops have cut the Virginia Central Railroad at three points between Hanover Court House and the Chickahominy.

A steamer, with a company of the 9th N. Y. Regiment, made an excursion up Chowan river to Gates county, N. C., on the 9th inst., and destroyed $50,000 worth of bacon, lard and other stores belonging to the rebels.

The appearances are that Fort Wright has been greatly strengthened. Several new batteries are to be constructed, mounting 21 guns, some of them of heavy calibre.

A prompt response is being made to the call for troops. 3500 troops reported to Gov. Andrew, on Boston Common, on Monday. The battalion which has been stationed at Fort Warren for several months, left for Washington at 7 o'clock in the evening. They mustered 700 strong. 3000 went on Tuesday. Rhode Island, too, was active. Enlistments were being rapidly made. It was expected that one regiment would leave Tuesday night, and another the next night. The Marine Artillery was also recruiting. Gov. Sprague will accompany the soldiers to the scene of war.

Gen. McDowell's army has crossed the Rappahannock in full force, and on Monday advanced eight miles beyond Fredericksburg on one road, and five or six miles on another. The few rebels in the vicinity retreated, destroying the bridges behind them.

Contrabands report that the rebel army is moving out of Richmond to a high plateau, three miles north of the city, which they are fortifying with the intention of giving us battle. Our troops have occupied the Mechanicsville bridge, only four miles from Richmond. The Virginia Legislature has appropriated $200,000 to remove the women, children and decrepid persons from Richmond to a place of safety.

A Petersburg, Va., paper reports that on the 19th, eighteen of the Monitor's crew went ashore at City Point, and were surprised by the rebels. Nine were made prisoners, and the balance, who reached the boat and pulled for the vessel, were shot. Eight were killed and the other lost an arm.

Rebel accounts state that the Mayor of Vicksburg replied to the summons of our gunboats, "that Mississippians never surrendered."

Martial law is proclaimed in Charleston, and the papers and citizens are fearful of a surrender.

Private accounts from Martinsburg represent that only a few rebel scouts were in that town on Monday, and that they soon retired, doing no damage. The indications are that the enemy is retreating to Winchester.

Dispatches from Gen. Banks state that affairs were quiet in the vicinity of Harper's Ferry and Williamsport, on Monday night.

It is reported that a rebel privateer steamer, with 8 rifled guns, has been spoken in the China seas, by a British man-of-war.

☞ The regulations followed in New York in raising troops, seems to us admirable, and we think they might with advantage be adopted in other States. One of the chief merits is the security it gives to those who spend money and time in raising troops, that they shall receive the positions they aspire to. Persons desiring to raise companies are required to pass an examination, after which they receive authority to enroll men: those who enroll thirty receive commissions as second lieutenants, forty men securing a commission as first lieutenant, and eighty-three men a captaincy. No regiments, as such, will be authorized, but after the companies are raised they will be formed into regiments, and the field officers will be appointed.

☞ By the arrival of the Kangaroo from Liverpool, we learn that the news of the taking of New Orleans was received in England by the Canada. The news excited much surprise, and occasioned some expressions of disbelief, but, coming from Southern sources, it was argued there was no room for doubt. It had no influence on the cotton market.

The Times says the capture of New Orleans is a hard blow to the South, and a great triumph to the North, and is another proof that the North can do the Confederates more harm than the Confederates can do them. The Times says it is vain to deny the importance of events, but if the Southerners mean what they say in their loud talking, which the Times rather questions, they can never be conquered.

The Herald declines to believe the report of the fall of New Orleans, but admits that, if true, it would be a great triumph for the North. The Morning Post doubts it.

The news per steamer City of New York, received just before the Kangaroo left Liverpool, of course dispelled all doubts respecting the capture of New Orleans.

The impression prevailed in Manchester that the event would bring forward some cotton.

THE MILITIA.—At the approaching session of our Legislature, something will probably be said and done about the New Hampshire Militia. No system, which would stand any chance of being adopted, could be any more equal than our old one, that every man should arm himself, and appear at inspection, drill and muster.

This, with very few exemptions, would cover nearly the whole ground; and there might be a volunteer system of light infantry, riflemen and artillery, in connection with the law,—which would always keep up a militia prepared for active service when called for by any emergency.

CONGRESS, Monday.—In the Senate, Mr. Wilson reported the bill legalizing the acceptance of 200,000 more troops. A resolution was adopted to compensate the crew of the U. S. Steamer Varuna for clothing and other property lost. Mr. Sumner introduced a bill to relieve the national government of all obligations to support slavery, and from all responsibility for it under the Constitution. It repeals the fugitive slave law and declares there shall be no slavery in any territory, forts, dock-yards, arsenals, vessels on the high seas, nor any places where the national government has exclusive control. It declares free all the slaves now held in such places. After some incidental debate on army movements and the weakening of Gen. Banks' force, in the course of which Mr. Wilson stated that it was done by the President with the approval of the Secretary of War and several generals and military men, the Tax bill was considered.

In the House, the consideration of the Confiscation bills was resumed. Mr. Eliot of Massachusetts made a speech, closing the general debate,—and voting went on, but the report is not very clear, as to which bills are passed, and which rejected. The bill from the Senate for relief for Robert Small and other negroes, who delivered a rebel steamer to our squadron, was passed. The following members voted against it:—Calvert, Dunlae, Harding, Johnson, Kerrigan, Norton, Shiel, Vallandigham, Voorhees, nine in all: much to the credit of the House, that the nays were so few, and only such nays as those above named.

☞ All is now quiet in Baltimore. The vigorous exertions of the Police Commissioners have resulted in restoring order.—The statement that Robert B. McLane was molested by Union men, is denied.

There was some popular commotion in Hagerstown, Md., on Saturday night and Sunday. A rebel newspaper office was destroyed and prominent Secessionists punished very severely in all parts of the town.

☞ Edward Pierce has been arrested in Portland, for obtaining money and goods from John Nutin, by passing upon him two advertising circulars of a New York concern, got up in the shape and form of bank bills. Nutin came very near getting into difficulty, by attempting to pass them in Boston—he being a foreigner, and not knowing better. Fortunately for him his story was believed, and he returned and had Price hauled up.

DEFEAT OF THE FRENCH IN MEXICO.—Semi-official dispatches dated Orizaba, May 9th, state that the French troops were met by 10,000 Mexicans, three leagues from that city, and defeated with a loss of 400. It does not appear that Juarez had fled, as has been stated.

☞ It is reported that President Lincoln has said he would raise a fresh army of a million of men, rather than submit to any forcible intervention. If he did say so, he only anticipated the universal sentiment of the people.

NATURAL CURIOSITIES.—The Tuolumne, (Cal.) Courier says:—"Dr. Coon of Lewiston has a cross eyed cat." There is one at Santa Rosa, also. It answers to the name of "cross eyes."

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The convention of the Episcopal Church in New Hampshire, meets in Grace Church, Manchester, to-day (Wednesday.) The first service was on Tuesday evening, when confirmation was administered and the sermon preached before the board of Missions.

—— On Sunday morning the ground in many places, in Manchester, was covered by a heavy frost. Ice formed in many places and the surface of the ground was frozen. Tomatoes, beans and other vegetables were killed. Grape vines also suffered severely, and it is feared apple and other fruit trees were injured. The frost was quite severe in all the towns in that vicinity.

—— Hon. David Pillsbury, Judge of the Police Court at Concord, died of apoplexy in that city, Sunday evening. He was a native of Candia, a graduate of Dartmouth College, and not far from 60 years of age. He practiced law in Chester for a long time, but has resided in Concord for the last six or seven years. He was never married.

—— The body of a German, named Koehler, was found in the Merrimack, about a mile below Manchester, on Saturday. A short time since he visited that city, called on some acquaintances, and then, as was supposed, left town. It is thought that he fell into the river accidentally. He was about 30 years of age.

—— Samuel Upton, of this State, has received an appointment as one of the visitors to West Point.

—— A horse thief, named Rand, was arrested at Sanbornton Bridge, on Saturday. The offence was committed in Newburyport, Mass.

—— The annual Musical Festival of the Boston public schools took place on Wednesday afternoon, and was an affair of great interest. The editor of the Manchester American, who was present, says:—

We could but mark the agency of our New Hampshire sons in the management of this festival, as we do in many an enterprise in the go-ahead city of Boston. Superintendent Philbrick is a native of Deerfield, where he still holds the old homestead; Dr. J. B. Upham, the chairman of the Music committee, is a son of Claremont; Dr. A. A. Gould, another member of the committee, is a New Hampshire man, a native, we think, of New Ipswich, or at least had his academic education there, while Mr. Averill, who had the supervision of the collation provided for the schools, is a Mont Vernon boy, and we might regard Mr. Ward, submaster in the Chapman school with Mr. Averill, as at least an adopted son of the Granite State, he having for several years successfully taught the North Grammar school of Manchester. Everywhere and in every good work we find New Hampshire energy and New Hampshire talent.

☞ The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Concord & Nashua Railroad was held in Phenix Hall, Concord, on Tuesday. Hon. N. G. Upham, President of the Corporation, called the meeting to order, and the call was read by Col. J. H. George, Clerk. The annual Report of the Board of Directors, which had been previously printed and distributed, was then submitted to the meeting, which voted to accept the same.

The meeting then proceeded to the choice of Directors, and, the vote having been taken, Messrs. N. G. Upham, Isaac Spaulding, Josiah Stickney, Charles H. Peaslee, Uriel Crocker, F. C. Manning, and J. S. Kidder, were declared re-elected.

TAMING HORSES.—Our readers are aware that taming horses has been made a science by Rarey, whose performances attract large crowds of spectators, who are surprised and delighted with the facility and certainty with which he accomplishes his results with the most furious and obstinate animals. We doubt, however, whether his mode of taming horses is more surprising than that practiced by the traders to the Indian towns in Georgia, as described in the Travels of William Bartram, a distinguished naturalist, who travelled among the Indians of that region before the Revolution, when that province extended from the Atlantic to the Mississippi. Bartram says:—

"I thought it worthy of taking notice of a singular method the traders make use of to reduce the wild young horses to their hard duty. When any one persists in refusing to receive his load, if threats, the discipline of the whip and other common abuses prove insufficient, after being haltered, a pack-horse man catches the tip end of one of his ears betwixt his teeth and pinches it, when instantly the furious, strong creature, trembling, stands perfectly still until he is loaded."

☞ The Lewiston (Me.) Journal says that business is probably better there at the present time than in any other town in the State.

☞ Elizabeth Lambert, aged 11 years, was recently married to an old bachelor of forty years, in Mendocino County, California.

☞ The U. S. Marshal has seized all the printing offices in Nashville as forfeited for treasonable publications.

Although Gen. Wool entered Norfolk with Mayor Lamb, it is not to be presumed that he was Lamb's Wool.

MOWING MACHINE QUARREL ADJUSTED.—Farmers throughout New England will be glad to learn that the manufacturers of the Buckeye, Ohio and Union mowing machines, have adjusted all conflicting claims as to patent rights, and agriculturists can use the machines without fearing a law suit.

☞ George W. Child, the enterprising Philadelphia publisher, has offered to Mr. Rarey, the very handsome sum of $20,000, if he will write a book upon the Horse, Horsemanship and Horsebreaking. Mr. Rarey now has the subject under consideration.

☞ There is considerable grim humor in Gen. Butler's permission to the people of New Orleans to make use of Confederate notes as a circulating medium, "as long as any one shall be inconsiderate enough to receive them."

☞ The ship Zone, from Falmouth, England, for Boston, was totally lost on Sable Island, on the 7th inst. Only one man, a Swede, was saved.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but from its facilities inventors have advantage for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Local.

☞ Bassing Mr. Dorr's stone building, on Linden street, a few days ago, we stepped into the Vinegar manufactory, for which these fine premises are now used, by Messrs. Weiskopf & Co. A row of immense tanks, the covers of which are only reached by ladders, flank the walls on all sides; but though we opened several, we must confess we "couldn't see into them" very far, as they were filled near the top with filters or strainers. However, everything appeared as neat and nice as possible; and the materials used, to be of the best quality. The cider and white wine vinegars made there, have long been "highly popular" in this and other markets; and recently the facilities for their manufacture have been greatly increased, so that now all orders can be promptly supplied.

☞ Among the trophies sent home from the war, to this city, are a ball and chain, a very rude and clumsy bowie knife, and an iron slave collar with gag. This gag collar weighs two pounds, and the arrangement is such that the person wearing it can neither speak nor eat, and if he runs away he must starve, unless he can get some one to take off the lock or file off the collar.—The bowie knife is a barbarous looking thing, but a very poor weapon for offence or defence, where the antagonist has a sword, or gun and bayonet; in a word, it is better fitted for murder than for war.—These implements came from Port Royal.

☞ The freighting ship "Portsmouth," in tow of steamer Walpole, of Boston, dropped down this harbor, Tuesday morning. She is commanded by Capt. Herman A. Tarlton of this city,—a very promising and competent officer, to take charge of so large and fine a vessel, although probably one of the youngest captains that ever sailed a ship out of this port.

☞ Knight's Brass Band announce a Promenade Concert at Union Hall this (Wednesday) evening, for the benefit of their leader. Tickets only 25 cents—and we hope the hall will be full. Dancing at 9 o'clock.

☞ We learn that an invitation has been extended to Parson Brownlow to visit this city and deliver here an address upon the subject of the outrages and violence to which Union men in the South have been subjected since the outbreak of the rebellion. His previous engagements, however, are such that it seems hardly possible for him to accept the invitation at present, although it is hoped by the gentlemen who have the matter in charge, that such an arrangement may yet be made as will enable our citizens to listen to this veteran editor of a loyal journal in the South, who has suffered so much on account of his steadfast adherence to the cause of the Union and the Constitution.

☞ Rev. Mr. Gage will preach at the North Church this evening, at a quarter before eight o'clock.

☞ Those very loyal papers, the Journal of Commerce and the New York Herald, find fault with Governor Andrew's letter to Secretary Stanton, and can hardly find words severe enough to express their rage. The Herald says:

"The best thing the government at Washington can do under the circumstances, is to direct the United States Marshal of Boston to give Mr. John A. Andrew a cooling in Fort Warren till he is thoroughly brought to his senses."

The Boston Courier adds:—

"To all this our people generally say—Amen!"

☞ The Strafford Guards are to celebrate their 39th anniversary, at Dover, to day, by a parade, dinner, &c. Co. C of the Horse Guards does escort, and Hall's Band furnishes the music. Among the numerous guests and visitors on the occasion, we understand His Excellency Gov. Berry and suite will be present.

FOR NEW ORLEANS. — The steamer Rhode Island is to sail from Boston direct for New Orleans on the 10th of June next, and letters for any of the regiments in Gen. Butler's department, directed to "New Orleans, by mail steamer Rhode Island, via Boston," will be forwarded by that vessel.

☞ The Washington Intelligencer has an article condemning the representations that the rebels menaced the National Capital; besides creating a false alarm, they are unjust to the military dispositions made by the Government for the defence of the city.

☞ The civil transactions of the last few months at Washington will make their impression upon ages to come, when the battles on the Potomac and Tennessee will be regarded as mere accidents in history.

☞ All the Cincinnati daily papers have advanced their prices one cent per copy per week, in view of the anticipated government tax on paper, ink, income, &c.

☞ Rev. Henry R. Knapp, better known as Elder Knapp, the Baptist revival preacher, died at New York, 16th inst., aged 61 years.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, accompanied with sickness and vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health.
M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1838. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26d

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a person, per. thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It can be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most extraordinary effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:
NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
Mr. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt a Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.
Drs. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others:
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a particular concentrated Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your favor, I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY for Medicinal and medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, JR., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

REV. JOHN MURRAY'S THOUGHTS.

Under this head the Newburyport Herald publishes the following "extract from a letter of Rev. John Murray, written from Boothbay, Me., in 1773, declining a call to be settled over an Episcopal Church in Portsmouth, N. H. He was an Irishman, a Presbyterian in religion, a very eloquent preacher, who soon after became pastor of the first Presbyterian Church in Newburyport. He is said to have been the most eloquent clergyman ever settled in that town. He died there, and his remains now rest on Burying Hill. We give the extract for the liberality of sentiment avowed."

Never will the religion of Jesus show its native beauty on earth till all party names, (Churchmen, Presbyterians, Independent,) shall be forgotten among men—being totally absorpt in the word Christian, till lesser differences in opinions and formalities amongst christians agreed in the great essentials of religion, sour and alienate their minds no more than a diversity of lineaments in the formation of the face.

Whilst I ardently long for the arrival of that happy period, (which I am sure will one day come,) I endeavor to anticipate a little of that disposition and satisfaction of the season whilst it is on its way. I detest the narrow spirit of sectarianism. The maxims of bigotry, vulgarly, but unjustly, dubbed with the honorable title of zeal for the truth, I heartily abhor, wherever found, though it were even in my own soul. By a natural instinct, enured from my cradle to free and Catholic sentiments, there is no degree of communion which I would refuse to the man by whom virtue is cultivated.

Truth sincerely sought for, and the lovely image of the holy Jesus displayed nothing solicitous to inquire by what prevailing part he is denominated. This, however, I cannot conceal, that of the truths that compose the christian scheme, of which I own no system but the Bible, some appear to be better supported by one denomination of its professors, some by others. Modes of worship and forms of government are the matters in which the greatest variety is found; in some points of these, I think the Papists; in some, the Quakers; in some, the Episcopalians; in some, the-Independents; in some, the Etrascans, are nearest the truth. Boothbay, Jan. 29, 1773.

Mr. J. N. Merriman, late Collector of the port of Georgetown, S. C., who was recently released from Georgetown jail, has arrived in Washington. His refusal to join the rebels of South Carolina in their treasonable plots subjected him to much persecution and suffering. He was imprisoned by the rebels in January, 1861, and lay in jail at Georgetown for more than a year, finally procuring his release on giving bonds in the sum of eight thousand dollars. He subsequently escaped by putting to sea in a skiff, and found refuge on board the Federal steamer Key State. If qualified, as we suppose he is, it would be a good idea for the President to make him Collector of Charleston.—Portland Argus.

Advertise!

IT IS THE

L I F E O F T R A D E !

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the articles they need; they rather neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks at the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising, ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most active. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the time are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have laid their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand-fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.—

For Physicians' Use,

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and used on the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glandular Secretions, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

UNREASONABLE GROWLS.—Some papers show their devotion to the United States, by finding fault with every important movement of our government and army. One paper of last Saturday, May 24, finds fault with Gen. Banks's retreat from Harrisonburg to Strasburg,—and says:

"Why is it? We have waited several days to get some clue to the purpose of this backward and in many respects disastrous step, but in vain. No word of explanation is suggested in any quarter. Perhaps it may be all right, though we don't see it."

The same paper, in another article, estimates the rebel troops now in Virginia at "175,000 to 200,000, all of whom can be concentrated at Richmond in 24 hours,"—and says:

"To be so confident that Gen. McClellan, with half the number of men, can overcome such a force, protected by entrenchments, while the divisions of Generals Banks and McDowell are allowed to remain comparatively idle, instead of going to his help, argues a remarkable degree of confidence in Gen. McClellan and his noble army, though we should prefer to see it exhibited in a different manner.

The odds in numbers against him can but make the work more difficult—the struggle more desperate—and of course the sacrifice of life greater. Does not the Secretary of War see this?"

Monday's edition of the same paper contains the story of an attack on Gen. Banks's advance by a force of rebels four times as large, who defeated him, and induced him to retreat across the Potomac.

We have no idea that Gen. McClellan has too many men—and it is now certain that Gen. Banks had too few, and they were far from idle.

SOCIAL HABITS OF AMSTERDAM.—In the evening we went to a concert, at which the social habits of Amsterdam may be learned. The audience, ladies and gentlemen, were seated (from seven to eight hundred) at small tables, partaking of refreshments, and nearly all the gentlemen smoking cigars. At intervals of ten or fifteen minutes between each performance, by the Band, all engaged in conversation, in Dutch, and of course, not particularly edifying to our party, — as I judged, the only foreigners present. The frequent use of the word "Yaw," from the beautiful young ladies fell unmusically upon our ears. The room, intensely filled with smoke, did not seem to disturb the most delicate organizations. But after an hour it became too much for our nerves, and we retired.—Thurlow Weed's Letters.

YOU TICKLE ME AND I'LL TICKLE YOU.—A gentleman from the country recently arrived and wishing to put through a local bill addressed, yesterday, one of the Senators on the subject, promising to help him in the country if he would aid him in his object. The Senator said he would do so if the applicant would assist him in the passage of a bill of his own. The latter assented most cordially to the proposition, and inquired of the Senator what the bill was. Answer—a board bill.—S. F. Herald.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1862.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The publishers of the Statesman, the Ind. Democrat, and the Patriot, of Concord, purpose to unite in the publication of a daily paper, during the approaching session of the Legislature, to be called the Legislative Reporter. This will take the place of the three dailies heretofore issued by the Concord publishers during the sessions of the Legislature, which have always involved considerable labor and inconvenience, while the receipts have fallen far short of the actual cost. The Reporter will be devoted exclusively to the publication of the proceedings of the Legislature, and the news of the day, nothing of a party character being admitted into its columns. Terms: 25 cents per copy; five copies $1, in advance.

—— The votes for Railroad Commissioner and Senator have been counted by the Governor and Council. Democratic Senators are elected in Districts Nos. 6, 8, and 12. In the 1st District W. H. Y. Hackett (rep.) has 1902; Thos. G. Furber (dem.) 1460; scattering 15. The vote in Districts No. 2, 6, 8, and 10 was very close.

—— The American Tract Society during the past year has received $746.86 from this State.

—— John Moulton, a native of Holderness, and a member of the 12th Iowa regiment, was mortally wounded at the battle of Pittsburg Landing, on the 6th of April last. He was attended from the battle field to the military hospital in St. Louis by his wife, and died there on the 30th ult.

—— Smyth's Hall, in Manchester, was crowded to overflowing on Monday evening by those anxious to hear Parson Brownlow, and to do honor to a loyal man. The receipts, over and above all expenses, were $188,—a handsome testimonial to the patriotic Parson.

—— Augustine W. Harriman, of Warner, one day last week caught a speckled trout from a brook, which weighed 2 lbs. 7 oz.

—— On Tuesday, J. C. Rand, of Concord, was before the Police Court, Newburyport, Mass., for larceny of a horse from Mr. Moses S. Little, four weeks since, which he attempted to sell at Salisbury, Mass. Mr. Little happened to arrive before the trade was consummated, but Rand made his escape. On Monday the Marshal of Manchester arrested him. He was held for trial at the October term of the Court in the sum of $500, in default of which he was committed to jail.

CONGRESS, Tuesday.—The Senate was occupied in considering the Tax bill.

The proceedings of the House were of no peculiar public interest. The Speaker laid before the House a Message from the President briefly referring to the history of the commencement of hostilities and his exercise of the broad powers of the Constitution to preserve the capital of the country during the absence of Congress. Incidental to this he refers to the arrangements with Governor Morgan, Alex. Cummings and others, with a view to speedy and efficient protective measures. By this means he believes the government was preserved from an overthrow. He has no knowledge that even a dollar was lost or wasted. The President quotes the House resolution concerning Mr. Cameron, and says that not only himself but all the heads of the Departments are responsible with Mr. Cameron for whatever error, wrong or fault has been committed. The message was referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, and 10,000 copies ordered to be printed.

A LIFE'S SECRET, a story of woman's revenge, is the title of Mrs. Henry Wood's latest volume. Her popularity as a writer seems to be growing with almost unparalleled rapidity, while she seems to possess that rare facility for rapid execution which keeps alive the interest of her admirers, and will not suffer them to forget her through want of new books from the same pen. In the present volume the author of "the Channings," and "the Earl's Heirs," has given us a work in no wise inferior to either of them, while, in some respects it will be found to exceed them in interest. The publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, will send a copy of this volume, post paid, to any one on receipt of 50 cents.

J. H. Foster has the Continental Monthly, for June, containing, among several other interesting articles, some recollections of Washington Irving, by one of his early friends.

A SENSATION RUMOR.—A Norfolk correspondent of the New York Herald declares on the authority of the military Governor, that there is no foundation for the story that attempts had been made to assassinate Union troops in Norfolk. The cases mentioned were purely imaginary.

"IN STATU QUO.—The Portsmouth Chronicle insists that the Portsmouth of the last century is the Portsmouth of to-day.—Well, we had a more favorable idea than that of the progressive spirit of that place; but then we submit—we won't differ with that journal, as it knows its own locality best."—Manchester American.

The Portsmouth Chronicle "insists" on no such thing. A "smart" correspondent of the American said that not even all the aid of a new and thriving inland city could bring Portsmouth up so as to occupy its "former position"—and we maintained that our city has in no respect whatever lost her always high standing. And we hold to this statement still—and claim that "the Portsmouth of to-day is not the Portsmouth of the last century," inasmuch as it has greatly increased and improved in almost every conceivable respect. When the American tells us one single point in which Portsmouth has lost, as compared with old times, we will consider it. Meantime, perhaps it can state at what Navy Yard they turn out better work? where better merchant ships are built, than those that first float on the Piscataqua? where nicer lawns are woven than here? where better beer is brewed (we not being judges of the article)? what city in the State has better houses and stores? of which can it be said the credit of their corporation and the merchants is higher abroad? which has a better native or resident population?—in short, what city in New Hampshire rates above Portsmouth, all things considered?

"The Chronicle also says they have no criminals in jail in their county, and asks 'what says the Manchester American?'—Nothing more than this. If the people of Rockingham County had no more friendly regard for rogues and scalawags than we have in Hillsborough, and the officers of the former were as vigilant as ours in arresting criminals, the Chronicle would have no occasion to inform us that their rascals go about 'with perfect impunity and great boldness.'"—American.

"So much the worse for the facts, then," said a fellow whose would-be arguments brought him up athwart the truth. And "I deny the fact," we once heard a young debater say. Just so does the American deliberately libel our County authorities, and boldly misrepresent the case, to make its special plea. If the writer in those columns had "smelt salt water" much, he would know that the best fishermen often fail of getting a haul, especially where there are no fish; although we admit that the fact of allowing the liberty of our almost-peerless city to fellows who so malign her by false accusations or "damning with faint praise," is some evidence that "rascals do go about here with too much impunity and boldness" for our good.

MILEAGE.—The amount which members of Congress receive as mileage, in addition to their salary of $3,000 each, is in the aggregate a large sum. Each member is paid at the rate of forty cents per mile for the distance he travels, or is supposed to travel, in going to and returning from Washington at each session. It is well known, however, that many members do not actually return to their homes, but remain in or near Washington from one session's end to the commencement of the next.

Representatives in the present Congress receive various sums, ranging from $7 to $7,282, the delegate from Washington Territory being entitled, under the existing law, to the latter amount. The delegate from Nevada receives $6,332. A member from Oregon has $6,662 and the two from California $6,274 and 6,112 respectively.—There are three others who receive over $2000, and thirty-one over $1000, at the beginning and end of each session. Members from New Hampshire receive between $500 and $600.

☞ Advices from the City of Mexico, May 5th, say that at the latter part of last month, the British Minister concluded a treaty at Puebla with Doblado, by which all difficulties with the English were amicably settled. Had it not been for the sudden action of the French, a treaty would have been concluded between Doblado and Gen. Prim. The latter, however, left the shores of Mexico on good terms with the Juarez Government, and a Minister will be sent to Madrid to arrange satisfactorily all matters in dispute.

THE PENALTY FOR SHOOTING BIRDS. The Massachusetts Bird Laws impose the following penalties for bird shooting at the present season of the year: For shooting partridges and quails from the first of March to the first of September, $5; woodcock, from the first of March to the fourth of July, $5; for shooting or killing any bird upon another's land, without his consent, from the first of March to the fourth of July, $10; for shooting, at any time during the year, any robin, thrush, linnet, sparrow, bluebird, bobolink, yellow-bird, woodpecker or warbler, $2.

☞ A German woman at Winstead, Conn., thinks "we in this country don't know any thing about war yet." During the existence of a war in Germany, she was compelled to work in a blacksmith's shop for three years, so scarce were men.

THE REBELLION.

In obedience to Gov. Andrew's proclamation, 4000 men had, on Tuesday, reported themselves on Boston Common. On that day a telegram was received from the War Department, directing that the Massachusetts militia should be released, concentrations of our forces having already been effected which render their employment unnecessary. Enlistments for three years, however, are to be made as heretofore.

The three months' men, tendered by several States, have been declined, as more than a sufficient number of troops ready to enlist for the war have been tendered the Government.

Later accounts from Gen. Banks' division give additional particulars of the recent battles. In the fight near Strasburg, on Saturday, Co A of the Vermont Cavalry, were all lost, being either captured or killed, except Capt. Plate, his Lieutenant, and half a dozen men, who made their escape. The Maine Cavalry also suffered severely in Saturday's fight. Gen. Banks was in the rear of the retreating forces when a shell exploded, four feet from him, without injuring him. Winchester is reported to have been burned by the rebels. Some ammunition was seen to explode while our troops were leaving; a loud report was followed by the rising of a large sphere of smoke high into the air. The enemy had stationed a force at Buryville to prevent our troops retreating toward Harper's Ferry, and they were compelled to take the road to Martinsburg.

The Baltimore American of Tuesday says Gen. Banks has received reinforcements at Harper's Ferry of at least 18,000 disciplined troops, and 6 car loads of siege guns.

The Norfolk Day Book newspaper has been suppressed at the request of a meeting of citizens, for publishing a communication assailing severely those Union citizens who have taken the oath of allegiance.

It is reported that the U. S. steamer Cuyler has captured an iron steamer loaded with cotton and sent her to New York.

Last Saturday, Deputy Provost Marshal McPhail, by order of Gen. Dix proceeded to Eastern Maryland, to arrest Judge Carmichael and Prosecuting Attorney Powell, on a charge of treason. The excitement was intense among the people, but the arrests were finally made with the assistance of the military.

It is said that, under the plans of the Government, the rebel force in the valley of Shenandoah will be captured.

Our fleet is ready to attack Fort Darling again, as soon as the order is given.

It is said the rebels have much increased their forces on the south bank of the James River, from City Point to Richmond; also that they are improving the defences in the Appomattox river.

Beauregard visited Richmond only to confer with the rebel leaders concerning his operations in the West.

Gen. Halleck has prohibited skirmishing. Our forces are within two miles of the rebel works. No engagement of the least consequence had occurred up to half past eleven o'clock, Monday evening.

The Savannah News says two Yankee steamers opened fire with shot and shell on Darien, Ga., on the 16th. No damage was done. All was quiet at Fort Morgan, Mobile, on the 22d. The Governor of Alabama has called out all the male population not subjected to the Conscription law, for a State Guard.

Camp rumors among Gen. Halleck's forces, say Vicksburg has surrendered and that our fleet is en route for Memphis.—When Com. Farragut does reach Memphis, probably, the rebels will be compelled to leave their entrenchments, and fight in a fair field and upon something like equal terms.

☞ The attack of the rebels on our troops at Front Royal, Va., in Gen. Banks' divison, was somewhat a surprise.

Capt. George Smith, who escaped from Front Royal, says they were first informed of the approach of the enemy by a mounted negro man, who was first laughed at.

Col. Kenley at length became convinced of the truth of his story, and the long roll was beaten, the men springing hastily to arms, formed in lines by companies,—and fought bravely, retreating across the Shenandoah.

Gen. Banks' whole force, small as it was, behaved like good soldiers, and his own management of the fighting and the retreat, is receiving praise from all quarters among military men.

☞ In the U. S. House of Representatives, Monday, May 26, the confiscation bill was passed, 82 to 68;—and the emancipation bill rejected, 78 to 74.

The bill giving freedom and prize money to Robt. Small and other slaves, who brought out a rebel gunboat from Charleston, was passed, 121 to 9.—On the announcement of this vote, the Kentucky members left the hall.

☞ Acting master Washburn, mentioned honorably in the report of Commander Rodgers of the U. S. steamer Galena, is a brother of Gov. Washburn, of Maine.

IMPROVEMENTS ON THE C. & P. R. R. The extensive grounds in this city, at the station of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad are being filled by gravel hauled from a pit a few miles out of the city, and the premises present quite a pleasant as well as business-like aspect. A new mail car is to be put on the road next week. [It is said that Mr. Conn, the new Route Agent, though just appointed, stands higher as an Agent than those who have held this office for some time,—and the new car has been ordered expressly for his use, with due allowance for the length of the occupant.]

An elegant set of cars has been placed on the Concord, Manchester & Lawrence line, built in the shop at Concord. They are substantially constructed. The interior is built of oak, maple and walnut, with seats secured by locks, so that they cannot be thrown back, for the purpose of spoiling the cushions, by loungers, unless by special consent of the conductor. Ventilators of a new style are also introduced, giving pure air constantly, without creating a draft or allowing currents of air, so dangerous to those in the cars. They are the most elegant and comfortable cars in the United States, and reflect much credit upon the corporation and its managers, under whose direction they were constructed.

It is also hinted that a new car is to be placed on the C. & P. line, in lieu of the leaky and dilapidated box that has run on the morning train. This is a much needed improvement, and we trust it will be carried out. The Concord & Portsmouth Road is the source of a large amount of profitable revenue to the Concord, Manchester & Lawrence Road, and its patrons in the "slow train" should be furnished with good accommodation for "resting on the road."

BIRDS AND BORERS.—An old orchardist states it to us as his opinion, that the great increase of borers and other worms, which do so much injury to apples and apple trees, must be attributed, in part at least, to the absence of that useful bird, the woodpecker. Have woodpeckers diminished? He answered, Yes; they used to be very numerous in our orchards; but now I never see one. What has become of them? Ah, said he, the gunners have destroyed them.

☞ One of the exercises incident to Anniversary week, in Boston, was a Universalist Sabbath school meeting, on Tuesday evening, which Rev. A. J. Patterson, of this city, addressed upon the means of increasing the usefulness of the Sabath Schools, one of the most effectual of which he believed to be in devoting half of the day to the school, to the exclusion of one sermon.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Burr Beach, aged 23 years, died very suddenly on Saturday evening, in Lawrence, Mass., from the rupture of a blood vessel. He had been riding on horseback in the afternoon, and consequently had taken considerable exercise, though he appeared to be in his usual health. Mr. Beach had very recently returned from Germany, where he had been pursuing a course of study in chemistry, and was a young man of much promise in that profession.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent will be furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent, faithful and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made twelve successful applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1838. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders should be addressed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may29

☞ Rev. T. H. Miller is to preach at Nottingham Square, next Sunday, June 1, and at Atkinson, June 8.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes rendering them breakable fibre; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME! The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no attention to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who finds, after trying the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, POTATOES. Try it on your GOOSEBERRY, CURRANT, FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS.

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and its use, aged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.

Mr. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.,

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.

Drs. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of July 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of Old Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him to our patrons to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

IMMORTELLES.

With the dew of her sweet youth upon her
We yield her, oh Death! to Thee!
We know that thine arms will enfold her,
For the pure hearted God's face shall see.

She has quaffed from life's cup only nectar;
Would we wish her its dark dregs to drain?
And while Heaven unfolds its bright portals,
Could we seek her bright spirit to chain?

Go, no! as of old on Thine altars
The fairest of first fruits were strewn,
So now, thy'l the blooming heart fallen,
We would not deny thee thine own.

That our loveliest and best loved we bring thee
And lay, with our hearts, at Thy feet,
And pray for the Fatherly mercy
That makes even sacrifice sweet.

THE POWER OF NATURE.

LOVE.

She that would raise a noble love, must find Ways to beget a passion for the mind;
She must be that which she to the world would seem;
For all true love is grounded on esteem;
Pleasures and truth gain more a gentle heart,
Than all the crooked subtleties of art.

Crab's Tails.—A young lady at a ball was asked by a lover of serious poetry whether she had seen Crabbe's Tales.

"Why, no," she answered, "I didn't know crabs had tails."

"I beg your pardon, Miss," he said, "I mean have you read Crabbe's Tales."

"And I assure you, sir, I did not know that red crabs, or any other kind of crabs had tails."

A lady of Yuba City, Sutter county, Cal., recently set a hen on six turkey eggs, and no more were added during the period of her setting, but seven young turkeys were hatched. It appears one of the eggs contained a double yolk and produced a pair of turkeys, both of which are doing well. —San Francisco Herald.

A correspondent at a Norfolk hotel on Sunday, relates the following: "Upon retiring for the night I made a sort of reconnoissance of my domicil, and found upon the door a little card requesting gentlemen not to leave their boots outside. Upon my query to Sambo in the morning, I was told, 'Hi! boss, boots is $25—a pair like dem of yours.'"

The Lewiston Journal says the President's proclamation opening the blockaded ports of New Orleans, Beaufort and Port Royal to the commerce of the world, will make the teeth of European secession chatter very audibly.

"Biddy," said a lady, "I wish you would step over and see how old Mrs. Jones is this morning." In a few minutes Biddy returned, with the information that Mrs. Jones was just seventy-two years, seven months and two days old.

A D V E R T I S E!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
L I F E O F T R A D E!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and afford the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.
To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To find that purchaser it looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers in the leading business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business therefore to confine their advertising to times when business most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "time was the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand-fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a footing, business to, its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation may be, from that it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be out of the world. The field is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man, who is, or just is himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE
PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,
For Physicians' Use.
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.
SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.
AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.
SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and beautifying ladies and children.
A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

F R A N K L I N H O U S E,
Portsmouth, N. H.
The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.
A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.
The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the state.
A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

The Chronicle.

THE REBEL FLOATING BATTERIES.—In a letter from Capt. D. D. Porter, U. S. Navy, to Senator Grimes of Iowa, dated Ship Island, May 6th, he says:—

"Four rams and floating batteries, such as the world never before saw, have been destroyed in the late attack. The Louisiana, an invincible steam battery, was set on fire and sent down on the vessels while I was engaged in drawing up a capitulation for the surrender of the forts—a flag of truce flying at the time.

"She exploded within three hundred yards of us, and sunk in one minute, her splendid battery of rifled guns being lost to us. Her fragments fairly covered Fort St. Philip, and killed a man of theirs in the fort. There was Southern honor for you! That vessel was four thousand tons, two hundred and seventy feet long, and had sixteen heavy rifled guns, all made in 'Secessia.'

"She intended to take position that night, when she would have driven off all our fleet, for as a proof of her invulnerability, one of our heaviest ships lay within ten feet of her, and delivered her whole broadside, but made no more impression on her than if she was firing peas. The Louisiana's shot, on the contrary, went through and through the above mentioned sloop, as if she was glass.

☞ There has been another destructive fire on Long Island. On Saturday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, Suffolk county was again visited by a large fire, which commenced in the woods about two miles east of Suffolk Station, and near the Long Island Railroad. The wind was blowing fresh at the time, and the fire increased with great rapidity during Saturday night and all day on Sunday, until evening, when, the wind subsiding, through the exertions of the inhabitants it was checked, after destroying an area of several miles of valuable wood and timber. The loss is very large.

☞ The South Boston Register states that a short time since a little child of one of their citizens died, apparently, from convulsions caused by teething. The parents, with sorrowful hearts, made preparations to have the body laid out; but in about half an hour after its supposed death, Dr. Dennett, who had been attending the child, obtained its parents' consent to apply a galvanic battery, which he did with success.—After experimenting about an hour, the parents had the pleasure of seeing their little one restored to life.

FORWARD FOR THE SEASON.—The Philadelphia Gazette, last week, said "the extent of the grass crop will be understood, when we say that the grass in the public squares is high enough to mow a second time. In some of the squares the heads of the Timothy are as long as young "cattails," and as thickly bristling as heads in a wheat field. The season for hay, as for wheat, has been all that foragers could desire." Grass in this section is not up to that description, but we have seldom, at so early a day, seen it promise better.

THE WOMEN OF BALTIMORE.—A correspondent at Baltimore writes that during the recent outbreak in that city a great deal of the fighting was witnessed by women, who manifested their delight or disappointment as they were most interested. Some of them were so excited that I expected to see them take a hand it in every minute.

☞ D'Orsay's rival, the wealthy Lord Pembroke, died in Paris a few weeks ago. He was 'immense' on dress, affecting the severely plain, while D'Orsay favored colors. Pembroke kept horses and women in plenty, and spent no end of money in Paris, where he resided all his life, considering it the only habitable place on the face of the earth.

ONCE MORE IN BLOSSOM.—The old Stuyvesant pear tree, (175 years old,) corner of East 13th street and 3d Avenue, New York, is again in blossom, and appears more profuse in its blossoms than for years past. The old landmark shows strong symptoms of decay, yet will doubtless last many years to come.

VALUE OF LIFE ANNUITIES.—An old lady recently died in Boston at the age of ninety-six, who, in the year 1828, purchased an annuity of two hundred dollars a year, by depositing in the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company $1858 33, for which she was to receive $200 a year.—She lived to draw from the Company six thousand and seven hundred dollars.

☞ The Cape Ann Advertiser states that many letters sent to that place by the soldiers, and containing money, have failed to come to hand.

☞ The Aquarial Gardens in Boston have been purchased by P. T. Barnum, of New York. He will manage it after the style of the American Museum in New York.

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1862.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Governor Berry has authorized recruiting officers to offer a bounty of $20 and a month's pay in advance, to all soldiers who enlist in the 9th Regiment, previous to July 1st.

—— In compliance with the request of the War Department, that all available troops in New Hampshire be sent to Washington at once, the Governor on Tuesday issued an order to all the organized companies in the State, requiring them to report to the Adjutant General forthwith.—There are about a dozen companies in the State. The Amoskeag Veterans, of Manchester, having received a request from Gov. Berry to report for the U. S. service for a period not exceeding three months, voted unanimously, on Wednesday evening to comply with the requisition. It is probable, however, that the order of Gov. Berry will be countermanded, the safety of the National Capital being not now considered imperiled.

—— The Manchester Mirror gives the particulars of a serious fire at Northfield depot (Montreal road) on Saturday, 10th inst. The fire was discovered at 11 o'clock A. M., on the roof of the main wood-shed, 200 feet in length, and containing 300 cords of wood, all of which was burnt. The fire also destroyed another shed, containing 175 cords of wood; a water house with several new tanks, and a stationary steam engine; and a dwelling house and barn,—and thence spread a mile and a half to the south-east, passing over pasture and woodland. In addition to damage done to young growth of trees, 1200 cords of wood near the station were entirely consumed. The conflagration was not arrested until 4 o'clock on Sunday morning.

—— Barnum is expected to deliver a temperance lecture in Dover.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Halleck's forces, on Sunday, moved up to within three fourths of a mile of the rebel fortifications, and were entrenching. It was expected that our forces would open on the enemy by Thursday.

The rebels were completely routed in the battle at Hanover Court House. We took 500 prisoners, and the whole rebel loss was 1000. Our loss was 53 killed, 326 wounded and missing.

Natchez, Miss., was surrendered to Capt. Palmer, of the Iroquois, previous to May 14.

The rebels at Fort Wright have been reinforced. It is rumored that a federal vessel had reached White River and blockaded its mouth, thus cutting off the last avenue of escape for the rebel steamers.

New Orleans papers of the 13th announce the death of Capt. Huger of the rebel navy. Gen. Butler has published a lengthy notice to the people, announcing the distribution among the poor of thousands of barrels of beef and sugar, captured while on the way to the rebel army.

Charleston papers of the 21st inst., state that four of our vessels shelled three islands in the harbor the day previous, viz: Coles, Kaiwah and Goat islands, and that the rebels retired after burning their quarters. Coles island is between twelve and fifteen miles from Charleston.

Gen. Butler has prohibited the circulation of Confederate notes, at New Orleans, after 27th inst. The Bee has been suppressed for an article in favor of the cotton-burning mob. The Delta office has been taken possession of, and the Crescent suppressed. A communication from Jacob Barker argues against the destruction of cotton. Gen. Butler forbade the observance of Jeff. Davis' day of fasting and prayer. He had also issued the order about women previously reported via Corinth. [The municipal regulations of the city punish women of the town found in the streets after nightfall. This is doubtless the punishment accorded to the insulters of our soldiers by Gen. Butler.]

The indications are that the rebels have made a material change in their plans, and have decided to dispute the way to Richmond inch by inch. They have re-occupied in heavy force the positions from which they had retired, and have again approached the Chickahominy in great numbers.

The rebels have refused to exchange Col. Corcoran for Col. Hanson, of Kentucky, although the latter was sent down under a flag of truce.

Gen. Burnside has not occupied Raleigh, N. C.

The rebel story of the capture of a portion of the crew of the Monitor, proves to be only an old story revamped,—the men taken prisoners belonging to the Wachuset.

More trouble is apprehended from rebel bands in Western Tennessee.

Mrs. Col. Lee and her two daughters have been taken into custody, and sent to White House under a guard.

Gen. Dix has required the Corn Exchange Co., of Baltimore, to display the national flag from their buildings.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WEDNESDAY, May 28.

Dear Chronicle:—"Retreat of Gen'l Banks to Harper's Ferry!" vociferated from the brazen throats of a host of money making news-boys, was the startling cry which arrested the attention of the Sabbath promenader, rang in the vestibules, rolled down the aisles, and rattled up into the galleries of our metropolitan churches. "Defeat of Gen'l Banks" formed the topic of conversation in the Hotel corridors; and the subject matter of every mind—roused by the cry from the quiet exultation over recent victories and prospect of speedy success, to a realization of the country's danger—was the discomfiture of this Massachusetts militant.

Then came the orders for troops. Telegraphic messages flashed over the wires, couriers on foam flecked steeds galloped thro' the streets, and regimental armories were thrown open and crowded with the throngs of eager citizens. So passed the night, and dawned the day; uniforms flitted along Broadway, bayonets glistened in the sunlight, and hours before the appointed time, groups collected on the corners, waiting the approach of the troops—scenes of an April week a year ago re-enacted.

Late in the evening the 7th Regiment formed in line, and marched down Broadway and Cortlandt Streets to the Jersey City Ferry, crossed and took the cars for Washington.

The ovation along the route was quite enthusiastic, but the remembrance of a certain return from Washington last year tended to diminish the admiration of the multitude.

The 71st Regiment, which served so gallantly at Bull Run, assembled at their armory Monday night, and the throng of actual and would-be soldiers was immense. Hundreds were desirous of sharing the past and future laurels of this crack corps, and were it practicable the regiment could leave with a complement of over 2000 men.

The city throbs with the most intense excitement. Every one is speculating on the probable result of movements and rumors. Squads of soldiers are hurrying to their different quarters, and one can hardly realize his personal identity so great is the change from last week.

The 8th, 11th, 22d, 37th, and 71st City Regiments are now coming down Broadway. The cheers of the crowd completely drown the music of the bands, and the throng is so dense that the progress of the troops is seriously obstructed. My point of observation affords a view of three miles up and down Broadway, and the whole expanse is one vast, dark, surging sea of humanity,—the gleaming bayonets, like a silvery serpent, winding thro' the centre. The excitement is unprecedented; over 8000 soldiers have responded to the call of the Governor within twenty-four hours, and before this goes to press ten or twelve regiments from the city alone will have gone to the wars!

While seated in my room one eve last week, wondering whether "yon silvery moon" was made of new milch or old dutch cheese, some one rapped on the door, and at our responsive "Come in!" the portly form of our big brother appeared in the opening. "Most gracious sovereign of these dominions," said he, "tell me if thou canst, why the Portsmouth Aqueduct Co. is a most arrogant institution?" "Because," replied we, musingly, "it escaped being Frost bitten last fall." He shook his head negatively, and we mused again, (thinking there might be one bright idea left after a two years' correspondence with the Chronicle,) but were compelled to "give in."—"Because," replied he, in that deep sepulchral tone common to a person just before dinner, "Because it's always putting on Ayres!" His boots and one of ours rattled up stairs together, and we relapsed into our arm-chair, meditating on the propriety of suggesting to the government the purchase of one or more Long Island clam boats to be used during the dog-days as a hospital for the accommodation of Major Generals troubled with the proclamation mania. NEWINGTON.

CONGRESS, Wednesday.—In the Senate, the bill authorizing certain bounties was passed. The tax bill was considered, and several amendments were offered. A motion to strike out the license to retail liquor dealers was lost.

In the House, the motion to reconsider the vote rejecting the emancipation bill, the dispatch says, was postponed to Wednesday. The bill to collect direct taxes in insurrection districts passed, 97 to 47. The Secretary of the Treasury was instructed to furnish a statement of the public debt to date, with the average interest.

LOSS AND RECOVERY.—Two thousand dollars were abstracted from the custody of the Cashier of one of the banks in Augusta, Me., on Saturday last, while he was on his way with the package to another bank. Suspicion fell upon the guilty party, and the money was restored. No legal proceedings will be taken in the matter, the individual implicated having heretofore occupied a respectable position in society.

☞ Governor William Sprague, of Rhode Island, was on Wednesday elected U. S. Senator for six years from the 4th of March next, when the term of Senator Simmons expires. He received 95 votes out of 103, there being no regular nominee in opposition. The Providence Press of Wednesday says:

"Gov. Sprague has served Rhode Island faithfully and well, both in the executive chamber and in the field; and we feel assured that when he enters upon his new sphere of duties, he will still command that warm regard of his native State that is so clearly evidenced by the vote to day."

SALT.—The State Geologist of Michigan expresses the opinion that at the depth of 800 or 900 feet below the salt basin of that State lies extensive basins, which, if operated would make every county in the Peninsula salt producing, and is the source of all the brine worked at Syracuse and vicinity, in the State of New York.

THE KNICKERBOCKER, for June, is issued by a new publisher, Morris Phillips, 532 Broadway, New York. Charles G. Leland continues as editor. The venerable magazine is to be conducted hereafter according to the original plan, as a purely literary publication.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.
I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of those complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.
DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with them, if they are worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may30d

BEHOLD HOW GREAT A TALK A CHANCE WORD CAUSETH.—When the Newburyport Herald gave us news apparently important, in advance of all other means of communication, we said the telegraph operator there must sleep in his office, or he would not have been there at 1 o'clock at night to get the news—this being the time at which it was stated in the Extra Herald to have been received. Now we never dreamed that anybody could misunderstand that remark so broadly as to draw the inference that the Newburyport telegraph operator slept at his post, or neglected his duty; but it seems that both he and the Herald made this mistake—for the next day that paper said:

"The Salem Gazette and Portsmouth Chronicle think we have increased advantages from the telegraph by the operator's 'sleeping in the office.' Mr. Brown is always in the office during office hours, but nobody ever caught him sleeping there; and he is frequently in the office at our expense, long after office hours, but we never heard of his sleeping at such times. A good operator he is,—always awake when anything is going on, and he does his sleeping at home, as other people do, or should."

Now, if our remark was in any way ambiguous, (which even now we don't see,) we desire also to add our testimony that Mr. Brown is a "good operator"—one of the best and most accommodating, as the Chronicle and many of our citizens have good reason to know, and we should be slow to say or think aught but the best of him. Still we can't see that it would be to his discredit, as a man or an operator, if he chose to have a sleeping-room in connection with his office, as many business men do.

The Herald also says:

"The News.—We have no right to brag of giving early news, for 'we live off the road,' where there is not much chance of hearing anything till all the world is up, has had its breakfast, and read the papers. We can only show our good intention by giving news when it happens to fall to 'our luck,' as it often has within the last few months, on Sunday nights. The telegraph is too costly for us to deal with, except as a luxury, though we have from it every accommodation that we could ask. Last Sunday night we had the report of the defeat of Gen. Banks and the call of the Governor for troops, in season,—and we gave it to the world in season also. Before sunrise, and hours before any other paper came in competition with us, 'Extra Heralds' were in all the towns between Ipswich and Portsmouth, and from the seaboard to Georgetown and West Newbury. The rider to the East sold the last of his copies in the Portsmouth Navy Yard, within the limits of Maine, more than three hours in advance of any other paper having the 'news.'"

Now we have not the slightest desire to detract from the credit due the Herald for its enterprise and public spirit shown on this, its "lucky" occasion; but they have "extended" the time of their advance circulation here "more than" one hour,—and from the following extract from a private letter Mr. Brown has written us in deprecation of the idea that he "slept in his office," it will be seen that to him, after all, is really due the credit of the early circulation of the exciting intelligence. He says:

"I stay in the office Sunday nights till 10 or 11 o'clock, without pay, (unless the Herald takes part of the news, when of course they pay me for it—but that is not one Sunday night in six,) to gratify the citizens who assemble in and around the office.—Last Sunday night the Herald was all printed, and all but the pressman had gone home; I sent to the editor and got him out, and between him, ringing the bells, and myself, folks got waked up. I was minded to come with the news by a team to Portsmouth, in advance of the Extras; but not knowing whether the interest would warrant the expense, I 'let it go' till the Extras were carried.

Our Newburyport folks get posted on all important news in advance of any of the papers, and I usually pass it along to Portsmouth when I can. Whether any credit should be given to the operator, is for others to say."

Well, we think there should—and we shall be the last to detract from his merits. And as we would not appear even to do so, and to show some similarities and some differences between the situation and circumstances of the Herald and the Chronicle, we have spoken thus at length on an other wise unimportant matter.

☞ If our captious inland weekly cotemporary isn't satisfied with the manner in which we conduct a Daily paper, and supply the news to this public—why don't he start a Daily himself, and do better? A weekly paper is such "a very old-fashioned way of transmission of news."

For the benefit of said cotemporary, we will say that neither "Uncle Toby" nor any other correspondent has any control of these columns, that this paper never was the "organ" of anybody,—and that the publisher, being "of age," claims to speak for himself—and it can't be helped if we don't always suit such croakers as are above referred to.

☞ The bawl-at man is dreadfully exercised about our flag-staff. Why don't he prophesy that it will fall down, as he did about the Chronicle? Or has he found out that he is as little prophet as profit to this community? We hope he has no lurking, covert hatred of the banner which that staff was raised to bear aloft—but really it would seem that there can be no other reason for his attacks on the pole, save stronger regard for his native than his adopted flag.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—We learn that Mr. Charles H. Mendum, of this city, has purchased the beautiful house and grounds owned and recently occupied by Augustus W. Simpson, Esq., on Middle street.

Mr. Simpson has purchased and now occupies the mansion of the late Mr. Stephen Pearse, on Islington street.

And Mr. Washington Freeman has purchased the brick house on State street, owned and formerly occupied by Mr. Mendum.

☞ The parade of the Strafford Guards, Capt. Wallingford, at Dover, on Wednesday, with the escort of Co. C, of the Horse Guards, Capt. Burleigh, formed quite a gala day for that city. The Strafford Guards are a fine large Company, well officered and with a very handsome new uniform.—Hall's Band furnished the music. Gov. Berry and Hon. Peter Sanborn, State Treasurer, with Hon. T. E. Sawyer and another Dover gentleman, were received at the Depot, and rode about the city in an open carriage, escorted by the military.

After dinner Gov. Berry addressed a few remarks in commendation of a general militia system, and in praise of the two independent companies parading on that day—in the armory of the S. Guards. Co. C, of the H. Guards, was out in good numbers, and made a creditable appearance for their first company drill for the season.—The new Paymaster of the corps, Col. Geo. H. Pierce, of Dover, did the hospitalities and courtesies of the day and occasion, in his usual good style. He said he should "pay off the Company about 6 o'clock," but as we left Dover at 5, we didn't draw our allotment.

The Portsmouth members drove to Dover, Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning; and the ride was lovely as in June—especially on the return, at sunset, Wednesday. The living green of the grass, the blossoming trees and blooming flowers, just after the refreshing rain had laid all dust—with the bright sun and clear blue sky, made up a scene of rare, quiet beauty, in pleasant contrast to the brilliant bustle of the day—which comparison made each the more satisfactory and complete.

☞ The Ballot speaks of somebody having been 'appointed' an officer in the Horse Guards. Don't that follow know the difference between appointment and election—to say nothing of re-election? or did he mean to ——misrepresent the case? As to being "qualified"—of course no officer is, until after he has taken the oath. And he is called a poor lawyer, who decides a case before it is brought before him for his judgment. What, then, is to be thought of the modesty of a pettifogger, who assumes the powers and duties of a military committee or court-martial, as does the legal adviser of the Ballot in this case? By the way, br. wit'em ought to be "appointed" chief of the blackguards—and here we don't mean negro soldiers.

☞ Copper ore is now brought by rail from Vermont mines to Portsmouth, for shipment to southern cities.

☞ A Mrs. Murphy, widow, of Eastport, Me., was found dead in her bed on Friday morning last. The town authorities found $1,700 on her premises, of which $400 in gold was sewed in one of her dresses. She left a request to be buried in the gold-lined dress, but whether the coin was to be taken out, the papers do not state.

☞ The tug-boat Tiger, at Portland, took fire from some defect around the boilers, about half past two Thursday morning, and was almost entirely destroyed.

☞ A call has been made on Massachusetts for thirty companies of infantry, to serve three years, and for one company of Light Artillery to serve six months.

☞ John A. Hedrick has been confirmed as Collector at Beaufort, N. C.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable.

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine proves them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-MONTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S

Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!

Try it on your FIELD CROPS! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL; pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO

—and—

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it report of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution forbears would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper-distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

TO A SKYLARK.

Up with me! up with me into the clouds!
For thy song, Lark, is strong;
Up with me! up with me into the clouds!
Singing, singing,
With clouds and sky about thee ringing;
Lift me, guide me till I find
That spot so suited to thy mind!

I have walked through wildernesses dreary,
And to day my heart is weary;
Had I now the wings of a Faery
Up to thee would I fly.
There is madness about thee, and joy divine
In that song of thine;
Lift me, guide me high and high,
To thy banqueting-place in the sky.

Joyous as morning,
Thou art laughing and scorning;
Thou hast a nest for thy love and thy rest,
And, though little troubled with sloth,
Drunken Lark! thou wouldst be loth
To be such a traveller as I.
With a soul as strong as a mountain river,
Pouring out peace to the Almighty Giver,
Joy and jollity be with us both!

Alas! my journey, rugged and uneven,
Through prickly moors or dusty ways must wind;
But hearing thee, or others of thy kind,
As full of gladness and as free of heaven,
I, with my fate contented, will plod on,
And hope for higher raptures, when life's day is done. —WORDSWORTH.

ANIMAL CONTENT.—I have been watching a family of kittens, engaged in their exquisitely graceful play. Near them lay their mother, stretched at her length upon the flagging, taking her morning nap, and warming herself in the sun. She had eaten her breakfast, (provided by no care of her own, but at my expense,) had seen her little family fed, and having nothing further to attend to, had gone off into a doze. What a blessed freedom from care! Think of a family of four children, with no frocks to be made for them, no hair to brush, no shoes to provide, no socks to knit and mend, no schoolbooks to buy, and no nurse! Think of a living being with the love of offspring in her bosom, and a multitude of marvellous instincts in her nature, yet knowing nothing of God, thinking not of the future, without a hope or an expectation, or a doubt, or a fear, passing straight on to annihilation. At the threshold of this destiny the little kittens were carelessly playing; and they are doubtless still playing. They have no lessons to learn, they do not have to go to Sunday-school, they entertain no prejudices except against dogs which occasionally dodge into the yard; and I judge, by the familiar way in which they play with their mother's ears and pounce upon her tail that they are not in any degree oppressed by a sense of the respect due to the parent. Cat and kittens will eat, and frolic, and sleep through their brief life and then they will curl up in some dark corner and die.—Timothy Titcomb.

☞ Not long since a couple of Irishmen were employed to whitewash a school-room in Lowell, and subsequently reported the completion of the job, complaining that one spot in the room gave them much trouble. An examination showed that they had labored several hours upon the blackboard before succeeding in making it look white.

Lieut. John N. Coffin, (formerly of Portsmouth,) of the Boston Light Artillery, was agreeably surprised on Monday evening, by the presentation, through the hands of Benj. F. Adams, Esq., of Somerville, of a handsome sword and belt, presented by his many friends as a token of their respect and esteem for him as a man and a soldier. —Transcript.

☞ Gen. Halleck found a newspaper correspondent making love to a rebel lady, and through her brother, a secesh officer, furnishing intelligence to Beauregard.—Hence the order excluding all the quill drivers, it is said.

In the sudden retreat of Gen. Banks to Winchester we have another of the fruits of Mr. Stanton's distinguished strategy. Having ruined the campaign in the York peninsula for its original purposes, the Secretary of War had now compelled Gen. Banks to sacrifice all the fruits of his advance up the Shenandoah valley.—Boston Advertiser.

☞ A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes that Gen. Halleck is reported to have said that he confidently expects to take Corinth without losing over one hundred and fifty men. Strategy is to do the business.

A GALLANT HUSBAND.—Mr. Oldham, the aeronaut, states, in reference to the late balloon accident, that owing to the extreme gustiness of the weather, he refused to allow any stranger to encounter the risk of the ascent. The party who accompanied him was only his wife.

☞ Capt. Bailey Foster of Brewster, Mass., had his thumb pulled off, and several inches of the tendons running up the arm, while leading a refractory horse by a halter wound round his hand.

☞ Memphis is said to be overrun by gamblers, garroters and murderers. An old man, a cigar dealer, was recently strangled and robbed of $15,000 in specie during a thunder storm at night.

☞ Mrs. Phillipe—wife of Jean Phillipe, who was killed at the battle of Williamsburg, committed suicide with laudanum, in New York city, on Sunday night, first killing her child, five years old.

☞ The Navy Department will receive proposals until the 1st of June for raising sunken vessels in Hampton Roads.

☞ It is understood that Col. Hanson, of Kentucky, is to be exchanged for Col. Corcoran.

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords access to every man by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time for advertising. Some are the dupes of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is good policy to conceal business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moments a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

HIST. OF FORMER CONSPIRACIES
AGAINST THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

The Missouri Compromise Excitement—1819-21.—The Territory of Missouri came forward, in December, 1818, for admission into the Union as a state. As slavery existed in the territory, the admission as a state involved the principles of a recognition of the "peculiar institution," and its right to extension. The Freesoil element of the Northern or Free States becoming alarmed, resolved to oppose the admission of the territory as a state with a slave clause in its constitution. The South, equally determined, resolved the state should have slavery if it wanted it, and thereby assumed that position which it has ever since persistently maintained—of a slave right in the territories. The issue, thus squarely presented, was met in the House of Representatives by a bill (introduced by Mr. Tallmadge, of New York,) prohibiting slavery, "except for the punishment of crimes, and that all children born in the said state after the admission thereof into the Union, shall be free at the age of twenty-five years." This passed the House, but was lost in the Senate. For eighteen months the discussion was continued in both branches of Congress with great ability, and not without great excitement, which extended to every section of the Union.

On the one hand, it was contended that the ordinance of 1787, which excluded slavery from all territory north-west of the river Ohio, was a public recognition of the principles of the people of the United States in regard to the establishment of slavery in new states and territories in that region, and that the proposal to establish it in Missouri was a direct violation of these fundamental principles. On the other hand, it was argued that slavery was incorporated in the system of society when Louisiana, which comprehended the territory of Missouri in 1803, was purchased from the French, and that as the faith of the United States was pledged by treaty to all the inhabitants of that wide domain to maintain their rights and privileges on the same footing with the people of the rest of the country, it would be a violation of that faith and those rights to abolish the institution of slavery without their consent.

Henry Clay then came forward with his well known "compromise" resolutions, and by his eloquence and great personal influence, succeeded in securing their passage—thus averting the peril threatened, of a disruption of the Union. The Compromise consisted of admitting Missouri as a Slave State, but conceding, as an equivalent for Northern concession in the premises, the prohibition of any further slave territory north of the parallel 36 deg. 30 min. The Compromise, though unpalatable to the opponents of the right of slave extension, was accepted as a solemn guarantee against all further extension, as, south of the parallel named, the territory then was not ours. Had it not been proposed and pledged as such a guarantee, the bill of Mr. Clay never could have passed the House of Representatives.

It was not until August, 1821, that the state was admitted. Prior to this the territory had adopted a State Constitution, one provision of which required the Legislature to pass a law "to prevent free negroes from coming to and settling in the State." When presented to Congress, this provision was strenuously opposed, but Missouri was finally admitted, on condition that no law should be passed by which any citizen of either of the States of the Union should be excluded from the enjoyment of any of the privileges and immunities to which such citizen is entitled under the Constitution of the United States. The vote upon the passage of the bill in the House was 86 to 82, several members from non-Slaveholding States voting for it. In the Senate it was passed two to one—28 to 14. Missouri thus became one of the United States, measureably to increase the power of the Slave States in the government. State by state had been added to the original thirteen—Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana, all with slavery in their borders, and bearing to Congress the preponderating weight of their votes. The admission of Missouri, and the later admission of Arkansas and Florida, confirmed the supremacy of the South in the National counsels; a supremacy which was not disturbed until the repeal of the Missouri Compromise in 1854 called into life the party which, in 1860, succeeded to the majority.

Mr. Everett states:—"Out of seventy-two years since the organization of this government, the Executive Chair has, for sixty-four years, been filled nearly all the time by Southern Presidents, or when not by Southern men, by those possessing the confidence of the South. For a still longer period the controlling influences of the Legislative and Judicial Departments of the government have centered in the same quarter. Of all the offices in the gift of the central power, in every department, far more than her proportionate share has always been enjoyed by the South." It is well to remember so important a fact. Judge Holt, of Kentucky, uses these facts, in his speech made at "Camp Holt," late in July, 1860, with most damaging force against those who make the plea that the South has been denied her rights and just share in the government.

SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1862.

REVIVAL OF THE WAR.—The attack on Gen. Banks' division, his retreat, and the alarm spread through the country,—have shown us two or three things worth knowing.

1. There are no infallible men, generals, secretaries or others; all may blunder;—most of them do, frequently.

2. We had not men enough in the field, where we were told we had too many.

3. We may have as many men as we please, and as quick, too, for short terms; the people are ready; and thousands who wished to go, are disappointed because they are not wanted.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times, in his dispatch of Monday, says:

"The events of the past two days have wonderfully stimulated our government, and there is now 'a movement along the whole line.' On the whole, the martial aspect of affairs is more encouraging since the escapade of Gen. Jackson than before."

The World attributes the blunder and disaster, in the case of Gen. Banks, to the fact that Gen. McDowell was completely "befooled by the enemy," who, he believed, was about to attack Fredericksburg, and hence his clamors for more troops. The War Department believed him, and did not credit Gen. Banks' warnings as to the real point of attack.

A correspondent who was with Gen. Banks' subdivision of an army at Strasburg, writes from that place on the 22d inst., as follows:

"Gen. Banks telegraphed to the War Department that information that could be relied upon had been received of the position of Jackson's and Ewell's forces, and asked permission to combine his own force with Blenker's and Shields's to attack them. He received the reply that they had positive information that Jackson was then with Ewell near Fredericksburg, threatening McDowell."

It might be good policy now to accept 100,000 men, and strengthen every grand division of our army by a generous reinforcement. We believe it would save money, as well as prevent loss of life.

Secretary Stanton's telegrams to Gov. Andrew of Massachusetts, are such as justify the haste of the latter in calling out all his troops.

And the promptness with which the people in that and other States responded to the call from Washington, is evidence of great national strength and union in the free States.

☞ We have quite a batch of New Orleans papers, of May 13, 14, 15, forwarded by Mr. Nelson Goodrich.

Of course they do not give us any later news: but their contents exhibit the poverty and distress of the common people there, the bitterness of feeling among the rebels, and their attachment to their old errors.

The Delta denies that slavery is the cause of the war,—charges that it was made by the abolitionists,—and quotes the Democratic platform of 1860, as proof. It says "slavery has been the chief source of the great prosperity of the United States,"—and while it hates the N. Y. Tribune and the radical abolitionists of the North, it despises the N. Y. World and all the "more moderate of the class who are seeking to destroy and overwhelm the South."

The following items are from the Picayune:—

FEDERAL MILITARY COMMISSION.—On Monday last, Wm. Benzie, alias Bill Teel, for threatening to mob and burn the house of Wm. Meadows and take his life, because he had rented his building to the Federal troops, was sentenced by the Federal Military Commission to be confined, at hard labor, in charge of the guard at Fort Jackson, wearing a ball not less than twelve pounds weight, attached to his leg by a chain not less than four feet long, during the term of his natural life. This sentence, it is announced, has been approved by Gen. Butler.

FEDERAL PROVOST COURT.—We learn that yesterday, Provost Judge Bell fined S. N. Moody, the far-famed "Shirt King," $100 for not opening his store in obedience to the proclamation of the commanding officer; and sentenced the usual number of intoxicated soldiers.

CONGRESS, Thursday.—The memorial of the Legislature of Western Virginia, asking Senators and Representatives to use their influence to secure their admission as a State, was presented. Mr. Sumner's proposed amendment to the tax bill, providing for the taxation of slaves, was rejected. In the House, Mr. Walton of Maine resigned his seat, having accepted the office of Associate Judge of the State Supreme Court. A bill for the more effectual suppression of the slave trade was passed. Both houses adjourned until Monday.

☞ The North Carolina State Convention has voted down, 61 to 31, the proposed measure, punishing severely those presuming to aid any proposition to reinstate the old North State in the Union. The Union members agitate seriously the urging of the federal government to confiscate the estates of the rebels, and the sending of a committee to Washington therefor.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,
Executive Dep't, Concord, May 15.

To the Officers and Soldiers of the Sixth Regiment of New Hampshire Volunteers:

The account of your noble conduct, your courage and energy displayed in the recent struggle at Camden, North Carolina, has been received by your fellow citizens in New Hampshire with great satisfaction.

The noble Sixth has won for herself, her State, and the country imperishable honors. We lament the loss of those noble soldiers who left New Hampshire with you, who have fallen by disease and in battle, and deeply sympathize with their bereaved friends. May this unholy rebellion soon come to an end, and you be permitted to return to your homes enjoying the consciousness of having nobly aided in restoring peace, union, and prosperity to our common country. We will insure to you on such return the heartfelt greetings of a grateful people. NATH'L S. BERRY, Governor.

—— We learn that the Governor and Council, on Thursday, appointed Hon. Joseph A. Gilmore, of Concord, Colonel; Nat Head, of Hooksett, Lieut. Colonel; and Napoleon B. Bryant, formerly of Concord and ex-Speaker of N. H. House of Representatives, Major of the 9th Regiment.—The companies are to be recruited and the regiment to go into camp at Concord immediately.

—— The Claremont Agricultural and Mechanical Association will hold a town cattle show and fair, Sept. 30th. Neighboring towns are invited to contribute. The Association has leased for a term of years, a lot of land in Claremont and has nearly completed a fine half-mile trotting course, the work being done by contributions of teams and hand labor.

—— The following brief epistle was received by Capt. T. A. Barker, at Williamsburg:—

NELSON, May 9, 1862.

Capt. BARKER—Dear Sir:—To-day we received intelligence that my brother, Edward Taft, has been murdered by the rebels. I claim the privilege of occupying his place in your Company. Will you not accept me? Captain, I must go.

Yours, ALBERT TAFT.

—— The annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of N.H., was held in Manchester, commencing on Tuesday last, Bishop Chase presiding.—Nearly all the churches were represented. The new parish at Epping was admitted.—The Convention adjourned on Thursday morning.

—— The yearly meeting of the Freewill Baptists, in this State, will be held at East Andover, commencing on Friday, June 13, and continuing 3 days.

—— The Legislature of this State meets Wednesday, June 4th.

—— The N. H. First Battery is in Gen. McDowell's division, near Fredericksburg.

NAVAL.—The Minnesota started from Fortress Monroe for Norfolk, with flood tide on Thursday morning. She ran aground off Sewall's Point, and although several tugs endeavored to get her off, she still remained there at evening.

The Sec. of the Navy has furnished Congress with the result of the examination of Stevens' battery. The board report that it will require essential modifications, owing to the recent improvements in naval warfare. As the Secretary believes it was the intention of Congress to apply $800,000 heretofore appropriated, upon the battery, according to the original plan, should it have been approved, he does not feel authorized to expend the money to carry out the suggestions of the Board.

Extraordinary efforts are making at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, for fitting out a number of light draft vessels for an expedition to ——. The work on the Roanoke is progressing as rapidly as the nature of the undertaking will allow. It will be some three or four months, however, before she will be ready for sea.

☞ The loss of the Maine regiments, under Gen. Banks, was as follows: 1st Maine Cavalry—Major Cilley, mortally wounded and left at Middleton; Asst. Surgeon Halley, prisoner, left with Maj. Cilley; Asst. Surgeon Howard, prisoner. Rank and file missing 71; killed and wounded unknown. Maine 10th Infantry—killed none; wounded 6; missing 77, which will be reduced. Officers all safe.

☞ The N. Y. Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent states that Col. Hanson (whom it was intended to exchange for Col. Corcoran,) is going to Washington to take the oath of allegiance.

The Times' Washington dispatch states that Gen. Huger's reply to Gen. Wool was that no more exchanges would be made until the privateersmen were delivered up.—They are already at Fortress Monroe, so the release of Corcoran, Wilcox, and others held as hostages, is expected in a few days.

☞ New Orleans correspondence says Gen. Butler has taken the wife of Beauregard under his protection.

Capt. John Clark, formerly of the Boston Courier, is to be conductor of the Delta, assisted by Major Joseph M. Bell and others.

☞ Prize steamer Constitution, alias George Washington, captured by gunboat Victoria off the North Carolina coast, arrived at New York late on Thursday night.—She is supposed to have a valuable cargo.

THE REBELLION.

Beauregard's official report of the battle of Shiloh states their loss in both days' fight at 1728 killed, 8012 wounded, and 959 missing.

By the destruction of bridges, our troops have cut off all communication by railroad between Richmond and Jackson's command. All the rebels' commissary and quartermasters' stores at Ashland, 18 miles from Richmond, were burnt by our troops on Thursday.

The Washington Intelligencer says Gen. McDowell is at Manassas with sufficient force to aid in capturing Jackson's army.

All the fortifications on Elizabeth river are to be destroyed. The work of blowing up the Sewall's Point battery began on Thursday.

Two of our mortar boats opened on Fort Wright on Wednesday afternoon.

Three strong reconnoitering columns under Gens. Thomas, Buell and Pope, advanced towards the rebel works at Corinth, on Wednesday morning, for the purpose of unmasking their batteries. The enemy contested his ground botly at each point but our forces gained and held a strong position. The affair was an entire success. On Thursday morning, Gen. Pope opened fire on a rebel battery, which the rebels returned with 12 pounders. After one hour's shelling, the rebels pulled down the flag over their battery, hauled their guns back, and our forces occupied the position.

A steamer was sent to Columbus, on Thursday, to remove the chains and ordnance stores captured from the rebels.—They are valued at $100,000.

A dispatch from an unofficial source, received at Washington, says the rebels left Corinth on Thursday night, and that Gen. Nelson occupied their entrenchments at 8 o'clock, Friday morning.

A later dispatch, received by the War Department, fully corroborates the evacuation of Corinth by the rebels, and its occupation by our troops. Prisoners say the enemy left for Okolona, 67 miles from Corinth, and 216 miles from Mobile.

It is stated that Jackson's rebel forces still linger near Martinsburg or Harper's Ferry.

Three gunboats have been added to our fleet in James river.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. F. LEAVITT.

FROM ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicines one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

☞ In reply to our friends of the Independent Democrat, who ask:—

"Does the Chronicle wish to be understood as intimating that the force of fifty-two men at Fort Constitution, add anything to the effectiveness of the defences of Portsmouth harbor?"

We will say we think, at any rate, that there should be at least a pretence of defence there, in times like these upon which we have fallen; and there is no better place to educate and drill recruits than that same fort. We will also say that we don't think it adds to anybody's strength or reputation to proclaim their weakness—be it of individuals, or fort, harbor, or what not.—As for those fifty two men, we know nothing of them; but we have heard that they enlisted with the idea of garrisoning that fort only; and it has generally been understood about here, that the company which has just left the service, after being at this fort for months, did so because they would not muster into the general service.

☞ The valuable house, gardens and stable of Mr. J. P. Bartlett, on Court Street, will be sold at auction to-day, at 12 o'clock. If Reuben Shapley, Esq., the former opulent owner of the estate, could revisit the haunts of his mundane life, he would hardly recognize his old domain, for the modern improvements which have been made by the present owner.

☞ Rev. C. C. Everett, of Bangor, Me., will preach at the Unitarian Church, to-morrow.

It will be seen by the advertisement that Mr. Sigston, of Newburyport, who is highly recommended by Rev. Mr. Robie, of Greenland, Rev. Mr. Colby, of Hampton, and others, will lecture on Temperance at the Temple, to-morrow evening.

☞ The worthy tradesman who advertises in another place to "cover and repair umbrellas," &c., wrote his notice that he would "recover umbrellas," &c.; but we thought it hardly fair or safe to announce his business thus—he would be overrun with orders. He also covers sunshades and parasols in a neat and substantial manner, —singularly near to the number of about one hundred and fifty each year.

☞ We are greatly indebted to Mrs. Lowell Jenness, of this city, for a superb Bouquet—comprising among the large variety of flowers a fine dahlia,—the first we have seen—(received May 28th); with verbenas, tulips, roses, &c. The memory of such acceptable gifts, is as sweet as their actual fragrance.

☞ The U. S. steamer Mahaska, which sailed from the Portsmouth Navy Yard on the evening of the 15th inst., arrived at Fortress Monroe after a pleasant passage of five days. Capt. Harrison there assumed the command of the vessel.

☞ Young men, it would benefit as well as interest nearly all of you, to own a share in the Portsmouth Gymnasium. See advertisement on the first page.

☞ Where is the Piscataqua Swimming Bath Company? Is it to die out, because the house was burnt up?

☞ See Auction column, for sales to-day of a great variety of goods.

☞ The Boston Traveller says:—"Rev. Mr. Peabody seems to be generally considered the most eligible candidate for the Presidency of Harvard College. He possesses rare qualifications for the office.—Learned,—without any of that pedantry and pretension which is too often a disagreeable and offensive trait in eminent men, —industrious, clear-headed, affable, genial and kindly in social intercourse, he will be the right man in the right place."

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have had more for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not in excess of any other agency, any of which can be derived from the Testimonials below given. Inventors prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has every reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All inventors need journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

R. H. EDDY.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer, Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Boy Wanted.

A good, smart, intelligent Boy, living in this city, may have opportunity to learn the Printer's trade, at the Chronicle Office.

From the Journal

PORTLAND, SACO & PORTSMOUTH RAILROAD.

The annual meeting takes place at a Hall near the eastern end of Portsmouth Bridge in Kittery, on Monday next. We have seen a copy of the 22d Annual Report then to be presented, which shows the condition of the Road in excellent order and its financial condition under the pressure of the times, as good relatively as that of any of the roads of New England. The report states that the business of the year has not yielded so much as that of former years; but as the gross receipts have fallen off, the expenses have been curtailed so far as could be done with a proper regard to the safety of the Road. The deep snows and frequent storms of the past winter caused constant repairs of engines and other equipment, and the employing of a large force of laborers, which materially increased the running expense. The Road, in all points, was never in a better or a safer condition than at the present time; and as a whole, there is no safer or better conditioned Road in New England, entirely free from debt or any embarrassment.

VERMONT COPPER.—These mines have been worked but a few years. The ore has heretofore been transmitted through Boston to New York for smelting. It is now being sent to Portsmouth by the Concord Railroad for shipment.—About twenty car loads are now in progress for Portsmouth, and if suitable arrangements are made and the cost is found lower than elsewhere, it will in future be sent through this medium, to the amount of 2 or 300 hundred tons per month.

CARGO OF SHIP PORTSMOUTH.—The statement made the other day that her cargo was 6000 tons of salt, was incorrect; it should have been 6000 hhds. Its weight was not far from 1400 tons—which is a pretty good cargo for a ship of not quite a thousand tons measurement. This fine ship sailed again on Tuesday, for New York, under Capt. Herman A. Tarlton.

FRANKLIN HOUSE.—Mr. Converse, the new proprietor, has made thorough repairs of this well known house, and given a very inviting aspect both to the external and internal arrangements. Here the traveller may find a warm welcome, good cheer, and the best accommodations, whether his stay be for a day or for a month.

REFRESHMENT ROOMS.—Mr. H. C. Gerrish, who has been so long on Market street that with his popularity his rent has gradually risen from $100 to $300—has removed his establishment to a more central position, the corner of Market Square and Daniel street, the store recently occupied by Mr. J. H. Clark. Ardent spirits form no part of his stock, but fruit, confectionary, pastry, and beer, of the best quality, are always on hand for the stranger who visits Portsmouth, as well as for our own citizens.

PORTSMOUTH VINEGAR.—There is said to be no more pure and better Vinegar for pickles and family use, than that manufactured at the establishment of Messrs. Weiskopf & Co. in Linden street. They are doing a large business, having more extensive orders from other towns and cities than they can find casks for filling.

FROST.—Sunday morning, May 25th, the ground in many places, in the outskirts of the city, was covered by frost. The air was so cold that ice formed in some places,—but no material damage was done. In Manchester and that vicinity, the cold was more severe—tomatoes, beans and other vegetables were killed. Grape vines also suffered severely.

A child three years old, of Mr. George B. French of this city, was seriously injured on Monday, by a cellar door falling upon it. It is doing well.

NAVY YARD.—There are now 850 names on the pay roll. About 1350 mechanics and laborers have been, in all, discharged.

Joseph Gordon, Benjamin Lake and Morris F. Magraw, of the 2d N. H. Regiment, who were captured by the rebels at the battle of Williamsburg, and taken to Richmond, have been released on parole, and arrived in Portsmouth last Saturday evening.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of City Ordinance No. 4, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

SEC. 3.—All waste water of houses yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of putrefaction, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 11. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. And whenever any person or persons shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

THE POWER OF GOD.

Thou art, O God, the life and light
Of all this wondrous world we see;
Its glow by day, its smile by night,
Are but reflections caught from thee:
Where'er we turn, thy glories shine,
And all things fair and bright are thine.

When day with farewell beam delays,
Among the op'ning clouds of even,
And we can almost think—we gaze
Through golden vistas into heaven,
Those hues that mark the sun's decline
So soft, so radiant, Lord, are thine.

When night, with wings of stormy gloom,
O'ershadows all the earth and skies
Like some dark beauteous bird, whose plume
Is sparkling with a thousand dyes,
That sacred gloom, those fires divine,
So grand, so countless, Lord, are thine.

When youthful spring around us breathes,
Thy Spirit warms her fragrant sigh,
And every flower the summer wreathes,
Is born beneath that kindling eye;
Where'er we turn, thy glories shine,
And all things fair and bright are thine.

A LETTER FROM PROF. SANBORN.—A private letter from Prof. E. D. Sanborn, formerly of Dartmouth college, now of the Missouri State University at St. Louis, is published, in which he gives his views of the condition of things in that and the other Border States. Prof. Sanborn is an anti-slavery man, in full sympathy with the Missouri emancipationists, and he knows how they feel upon the questions connected with the war. He says:—

"The negroes are destined innocently to be the ruin of our country. Their freedom is not worth the price we are paying for it. It will require centuries, not years, to elevate them. They have hitherto disappointed all their friends by not rising to aid our armies in crushing the rebellion.—The inference to my mind is, that a large majority of them are content with their present lot, and it will require the productive energies of the entire North for one generation to set them up in business as freemen. Probably about 40,000 have run away, been carried away, or stolen from Missouri state. Kansas people think it their duty to free the negroes of this State, whether owned by Union men or secessionists. Revenge is the watch word of such men as Jennison; and it will require at least two generations of men to settle the bitter, burning wrongs that they have in their 'hearts' hot cells' shut up. Northern people forget how tenacious our citizens are of State rights and State lines.—This is not a mere southern feeling. Our whole history shows that our warmest patriotism springs from our own State.

"Let a member of Congress now rise and commend the troops of his own State and disparage those of another, and you will find an indignant champion of the censured State on his feet in a moment. It is a deep-seated resistance to foreign interference with State interests, which makes the non-slaveholding population of the border States support the war. They think it patriotic to do so; and we shall never have substantial peace till the Northern States consent to drop the negro question. Slavery must die out soon in the border States; but it must be left to State management. Let the parties fight their political battles on their own ground; any interference from abroad will be repelled with great unanimity. Every day spent by Congress in discussing universal confiscation bills or emancipation bills, costs us many precious lives. It makes the Southerners united and desperate. Let our armies march on to victory; let military governments be set up as we conquer, till the Union spirit revives; let the question of confiscation and emancipation remain to be decided when we have both the master and slaves in our power, and within one year the old constitution will be the supreme law of the land in every State in the Union. Otherwise anarchy and violence will prevail during the whole lifetime of those who originated this war.—There is danger, too, of violent party strifes on these questions in the free States. The Union feeling now obliterates party lines; but history teaches us that conservatives always take the reins of government after a long and exhausting war. Hot-headed men may involve us in strife; the wise, prudent and cool-headed must rescue us from it."

ADVERTISE!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and is distributed only by means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business practice to curtail advertising when their business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when the advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when the men most of the business mea in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The field is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man, firm, or set of firms, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

Portsmouth, Dec. 20, 1861.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
His long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Consumption, Insanity, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y8taw

CAUTION
To Females in Delicate Health.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.
April7, 1862—1y8taw

CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

FRANKLIN HOUSE,
Portsmouth, N. H.
The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house. A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged for gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.
The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.
A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

Advertising.
For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50. one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus secure the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

☞ Riding through Eliot, or Berwick, a day or two since, we noticed a couple of cows yoked to a cart—and although we have always thought, and still think, the plan a good one; and tho' the animals themselves looked well and contented, yet we must confess the sight quite shocked the native gallantry we and, we suppose, almost all men, feel for the softer sex of almost any species—much the same as it also did us to see a woman lustily chopping wood near the same place; or as it doubtless would to see peasant women laboring in the fields in Europe. Strong minded or masculine "females" are sometimes admired in the ideal, but the reality is generally repulsive. X.

☞ The Scientific American in speaking of the recent great fire in Troy, N. Y, says "hardly a safe standing out uninclosed by brick, has passed through the fiery ordeal. The fact is, the safes standing isolated in a building are little protection. The safe makers have departed from the original idea of filling the safe with plaster of Paris, which is the only thing which will answer as protection. The value of this is shown by the fact that you cannot boil water in a tin pan, thinly coated with plaster, over a hot fire."

☞ The Overland Mail Company will resume the transportation of letters in fifteen days. Papers and documents will go via Panama, under an arrangement of the company with Vanderbilt, who is to receive one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year for the service. The Pacific Railroad route, as provided by the House bill now before the Senate, is substantially in the direction of the overland road. It sets out at St. Joseph, Mo., and ends near Placerville, Cal.

ACCIDENT.—A little after five o'clock, on Monday afternoon, as Mr. Benj. Bennett was walking through the ledge, over the Eastern Railroad, in Beverly, Mass., he discovered the body of John W. Moore, a lad of nearly twelve years, son of Mr. John Moore of Beverly, lying prostrate in the middle of the track. He had been to see the military depart and was coming back, when he probably stumbled and fell, breaking the back of his neck.

Barnum has found somewhere in Ohio a remarkable male dwarf, which, although eight months old, weighs but one pound and seven ounces. A man's finger ring will go over its hand to the elbow, or over its foot to the knee. The mother of the child is a healthy woman and has other children of the ordinary size. The new comer will be exhibited at the baby show next week.—Exchange.

☞ A Fortress Monroe letter states that a bark, which has been lying near there for some weeks, put to sea with 272 contrabands on board, for Cuba or the West Indies. The negroes had been smuggled on board. The U. S. steam gunboat Wamsutta has gone in pursuit.

☞ It is ascertained that the cattle disease in Hancock county, Me., bears no resemblance to the Lung Murrain.

We have failed to discover in careful reading of the newspapers, that any northern ship owner has burned his vessels in retaliation for the destruction of cotton by the rebels. The latter will give us credit for forbearance under great aggravation, no doubt.—Belfast Journal.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, JUNE 2, 1862.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— On Thursday morning as Mr. T. McQuinn was crossing the track of the C. & P. Railroad, in Manchester, with a horse and loaded cart, his team got stuck, and the 9 o'clock train happening along just then, his cart got a severe smashing. He saved his horse by detaching him from the cart.

—— Capt. Leavitt, Co. G, 7th N. H. V., has been placed under arrest, on a charge of embezzling the company's funds. The Seventh is at Fort Jefferson, Fla., but there was a report in camp, at the last accounts, that it would be transferred either to Port Royal or Pensacola.

—— Ex-Gov. Colby states that neither he nor his father before him ever bought a barrel of flour for their own consumption. Sufficient wheat has always been raised on their own farm, and there now are one hundred bushels in store.

—— The house of Mr. Daniel M. Piper, of North Sanbornton, was totally consumed by fire on the 20th inst. Most of the furniture was saved. The fire is supposed to have caught from a defect in the chimney.

—— The officers of the N. H. Second Regiment have passed a series of resolutions, expressive of their appreciation of the loss sustained by the regiment in the death of Capt. Leonard Drown of Co. E. and of Capt. A. W. Colby of Co. B.

—— The Boston Traveller says: "The credit of New Hampshire appears to be about the best of any that is quoted on 'Change. This is owing to her being rich and honest, and to the economical character of her government."

—— There is much snow on the White Mountains and in the valleys of the Peabody and Ellis rivers at the present time. Tuckerman's ravine is filled with snow to a great depth, and, unless this summer should be unusually warm, the snow will last until next winter.

—— The carriage road up Mount Washington has not been much injured by the storms of the past winter.

—— Lieut. T. H. Eastman, (son of Lt. Col. Seth Eastman, superintendent of the recruiting service in New Hampshire,) has been ordered to the command of the gun boat Keystone State. He has been in command of the gunboat Yankee, and since the outbreak of the rebellion has participated in six or seven naval engagements.

☞ It is proposed to give, in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, a series of what are termed running races, after the manner of the South and West,—the horses to be brought from Kentucky and Ohio, but chiefly from the former State, and to be of the best blood and under the most complete training. About forty will be brought on. Races of this nature and extent will be a novelty in this part of the country. The expense of the same is estimated at $4,000, to meet which it is proposed to open a subscription list. The race in Boston will take place July 20th.

☞ As Mr. Alfred Willey, of Groveland, Mass., was firing at a crow, on Friday, his gun burst, tearing his left hand so that amputation at the wrist was found necessary. Mr. Willey is a returned sailor from the Cumberland, which was sunk by the Merrimac in Hampton Roads. When the Merrimac struck the Cumberland, he was thrown by the concussion into the water, and escaped by swimming. The guns of the enemy and the disaster to his own vessel, were not destined to do him injury.

A NEW NAME.—On the road between South Berwick and Dover, is a new guide-board, "So Ber Corner," &c. And as there are no periods after the abbreviations as above, and somebody has scratched a connecting mark between the two, it is natural to read it Sober Corner—a name which we think an improvement on the name (or character) which the latter town has heretofore borne.

☞ Gen. Sigel is described by the Pittsburg Chronicle as of medium stature, and light but well-knit frame. He wears a thin mustache and goatee, and his hair, which is rather long, is cut square round. He exhibits not a particle of pretension, and has a very ordinary appearance. The pictures which have been published of him, resemble him about as much as President Lincoln does Julius Caesar.

☞ It is rumored that the authorities at Washington have ordered Gen. McClellan to extend his picket lines until he meets those of Gen. McDowell. This would make a picket line of sixty miles in length!

☞ An army correspondent with the advance of Gen. McClellan's army writes that he is within hearing of the Richmond bells. He adds, however, that the bells have been recast into cannon.

☞ It is said of the celebrated George Canning, that he never omitted a Sunday in writing to his mother, during his life.

THE REBELLION.

The principal capture from Gen. Banks by the rebels was some 800 European rifles left by Gen. Shields.

Large numbers of the people of Norfolk have suddenly become loyal, and extensive preparations are making for a Union demonstration. The oath of allegiance has been administered now to nearly two thousand persons. The citizens voluntarily offer themselves in large numbers daily to take it. The reports from our scouts, who are advanced some miles beyond Suffolk, is that Petersburg, Va., is to be or has been, evacuated by the rebels.

The evacuation of Corinth is officially confirmed. It is thought the evacuation commenced at sundown on Thursday, the enemy retreating in three directions, east, west and south. Cavalry sent by Gen. Pope came upon and dispersed the rebels, 8 miles below Corinth, on the Mobile & Ohio R. R. The rebels' rear-guard destroyed the bridge at that point. A large Union cavalry force had been sent out, on Wednesday morning, by a circuitous route, to destroy a large bridge on the same railroad, forty miles south of Corinth, and probably was successful. It is thought among military men that the destruction of bridges south, the uncomfortable proximity of our shells and the possibility of Federal success on the Mississippi, were the causes of the evacuation.

☞ Gen. Halleck, on Friday, sent the following dispatch to Sec. Stanton:

"The enemy's position and works in front of Corinth were exceedingly strong. He cannot occupy a stronger position in his flight. He destroyed an immense amount of public and private property, stores, provisions, wagons, tents, &c. For miles from the town the roads are filled with arms, haversacks, &c., thrown away by his fleeing troops. A large number of prisoners and deserters have been captured, estimated by Gen. Pope at 2000. Gen. Beauregard evidently distrusts his army or he would have defended so strong a position. His troops generally are much discouraged and demoralized. In all the engagements for the last few days their resistance has been weak."

A dispatch from Gen. Banks states that the 5th N. Y. cavalry entered Martinsburg, Saturday morning, and passed several miles beyond, where they encountered the enemy's cavalry and took several prisoners, and a wagon with ammunition, muskets, and an American flag.

The enemy were driven out of Front Royal on Friday morning. We captured several prisoners, and a large amount of transportation, including two engines and eleven cars, and also recovered 18 of our own men taken at Front Royal a week ago.

[The following is the material portion of the private dispatch received on Sunday noon.]

A refugee from Arkansas says Little Rock, the capital, is fully occupied by our forces. The State Legislature had scattered, and the Governor had fled to Jackson, Miss. Those citizens who remained were decidedly loyal. Vicksburg, Miss., had surrendered to our fleet.

A refugee from Memphis says there is a large rebel garrison at Fort Wright, and that from a scarcity of coal most of the rebel gunboats had been abandoned, their guns being removed to Fulton and Fort Randolph. The rebels had built a bridge in the rear of Fort Wright, to be used in case they were compelled to evacuate the fort.

A portion of Gen. McDowell's corps crossed the Mattapony river, on Wednesday, and went four miles beyond. The rebel Gen. Fields, with 6,000 men and 7 field-pieces, had retreated towards Richmond.

Communication has been had by Gen. McClellan with our gunboats on the James river. The Galena is so much damaged that she must go into dock for repairs. Gen. Nagle, with a brigade, has driven the rebels from a position 9 miles from Richmond, and has advanced beyond it. Our loss was 1 killed and 6 wounded. A deserter says there are 15,000 rebels sick in the hospitals at Richmond.

☞ Steamship Great Eastern was detained at New York, on Saturday, and is in charge of the Marshal. She is attached by Mr. Towle, who claims a hundred thousand dollars salvage, for saving her from wreck by his steering apparatus, a few months since.

☞ "Perley," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal, in a recent letter, gives the following:—

Lieut. Col. John George Reynolds of the Marine Corps has been honorably acquitted of the charges of intoxication and treating his superior officer with contempt, preferred by Col. John Harris, commandant of the corps. His friends declare that these charges were preferred because he had remonstrated against the promotion over him of Major Russell, who had entered the service nineteen years after him, and had only seen two years of sea service. Mr. Weston (the Maine boundary-claim agent) was the Judge Advocate, but he failed to convince the court that Col. Reynolds had committed a crime in remonstrating against this attempt to supersede him by a gentleman who, he declares, was promoted as a political favorite.

"'Tis the curse of the service,
That preferment goes by letter and affection,
Not by the old gradation, where each second Stood heir to the first."

☞ Gen. Ben. Butler's celebrated order concerning women is but the enforcement of a well known local law of the city of New Orleans, which directs that women of the town who are in the streets after dark, or who converse from their windows with persons outside, shall be sent to the calaboose. If a woman maliciously abuses or insults Union soldiers, she goes to the lock-up; which is said, we suppose truly, to be exactly what is meant by treating them like women of the town.

☞ The President has ordered a Military Commission to meet on the second Monday of July, for the trial of editors and correspondents of certain journals which have violated the orders with respect to the publication of matter calculated to give aid and information to the enemy.

☞ The Secretary of the Interior, in response to a resolution of the Senate, states that forty-one persons have been arrested on charges of being engaged in the slave trade. None have been convicted, nor have the bonds of any one of them been forfeited.—Boston Courier.

☞ Serious complaint is made respecting the great number of absentees from the army of the Potomac, many of whom are now in the Northern cities, on pretence of sickness.

☞ The form of a prayer has been changed in the churches of Fredericksburg, Va. Now instead of praying for Jeff Davis, they petition for peace. This is well.

☞ Col. Frederick J. Coffin, of Newburyport, has been commissioned and taken the oath as Colonel of the 8th Mass. regiment.

ONE OF THEM.—William G. Howard is a native of Newburyport. He left there young with a few unpaid bills behind him. He took to preaching as a profession, and some seven years ago a fast preacher he was in the very fast city of Chicago. Either some foolish person conferred upon him the title of Doctor of Divinity, or he stole it. When he had run his course in Chicago and was in debt to everybody who would trust him, he slid to New Orleans, adopting the southwest as his home, and its doctrine of reputation as his own. He figured a time in the Crescent City, his habits being well suited to that latitude. When the rebellion broke out he joined the Secesh army as a chaplain in a Louisiana regiment, and was taken prisoner at Fort Donelson. What should happen to the scamp now but to be sent back to Chicago, and confined in camp Douglas.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

A "WORD" FROM THE FAMOUS

"LANE,"

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

SAMBUCI FOR HEALTH.—All physicians readily admit the excellence of wine in sickness. Were pure wines easily to be procured there would be less fever and disease. Hooper, in his Medical Dictionary, remarks:—"The general effects of wine are to stimulate the stomach, exhilarate the spirits, warm the habit, quicken the circulation, promote perspiration, &c. In many complaints wine is universally admitted to be of important service, especially in convalescency, in which it is found to be a valuable tonic and restorative; and in many cases it proves of more immediate advantage than the Peruvian bark. Delirium, which is the consequence of irritability and a defective state of the nervous energy, is often entirely removed by the use of wine." We have now a pure and excellent native vintage, Speer's Sambuci Wine, made from the grape of the Portugal Sambucus by Mr. A. Speer of New Jersey. It is said to be the most reliable wine in the market, and guaranteed to be exclusively prepared from the Sambucus grape, without admixture of sugar or alcohol. Many physicians prescribe it as superior to port in debility, lingering, and in cases of prostration of strength. It is also an excellent restorative for indigestion. Numerous letters have been written by lawyers, lecturers, and distinguished divines, speaking in high terms of approbation of the healthy and invigorating properties of the Sambuci Wine.—[Republican.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEET'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1853. Dr. Sweet:—Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints.

WM. R. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

Dr. Sweet: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without being natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to get worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest well and be able to do her labor by day. I cheerfully recommend your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Sweet's medicines shall have pay for the same, if do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEET, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may29

Local.

☞ We beg our friends of the Manchester American, not to waste any of their tender sympathies on the Chronicle. We will endeavor to "endure" all the "contortions" the American or its correspondents can "produce," however "painful." "Come on," &c. We shall be happy to meet "our cotemporary at the Franklin House," at any time he may fix.

By the way, speaking of the American's correspondents, reminds us of a complimentary paragraph we cut from "Kineo's" last letter in that paper, from this city:

"Portsmouth is a terrible place in the liquor line. Of course it does not go before Manchester in that honored business, but it treads pretty closely on its heels.—Well, what better can you expect of a city whose big and stately mansions rest on hogsheads of New England rum as foundation stones?"

WHAT WAS IT?—About 3 o'clock on Saturday morning, one of the City Watch, and several persons living near Market Square, heard a noise like a loud, smothered explosion, apparently in a building near, but though examination and inquiry was made, no cause has been discovered. Was it an "airquake?"

☞ No man in this city, for several years past, has worked harder to develop a military spirit and interest among our young men than Capt. Geo. W. Towle—and that, too, when "drilling" was less popular than now. And he is yet ready to "do what he can" for the cause—for as we were passing Jefferson Hall, the other night, we stepped up to learn the cause of the vigorous marching and countermarching we heard; and there was Capt. Towle putting forty or more boys through the paces in good style, and at speed. This, we learned, was a new boys' company, which has been under his instruction for some time, and will soon appear in public. Besides being good exercise, this practice will prevent the little fellows from being so awkward in handling a musket, when they are called on, as were most of their fathers when this war broke out.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—We have noticed in your columns several times, a slight puff on newly-appointed officers to our Navy, they being generally a compliment to strangers in our city. It certainly shows that old "Strawberry Bank" is not "behind the age" in extending courtesies and a good feeling toward all our noble sons who come to the rescue of our country in this trying hour.

In your welcome sheet, last week, I saw the appointment of Capt. Edward Moses to the command of the U. S. bark Fernandina, and as a native of the "Old Granite," I felt proud to find the "Hon. Secretary of the Navy" had made choice of one of my old schoolmates to fill a place where the captain will be in his element. He served the Government two years in the Mexican war, and has been anxious to get once more under the Stars and Stripes, and it is truly gratifying to find the right man in the right place. We feel confident if ever the Captain has an opportunity to spread himself, his friends will hear a good report of him, much to their gratification and the confusion of his pretended friends who so kindly cried "Secesh."

Now, friend Miller, I take the responsibility to vouch for the brave old tar as being as far from 'Secesh' as Jeff. Davis and his infernal associates are from ever overthrowing one of the best governments that ever existed.

By giving these few lines a space in your valuable sheet, you will not only do justice to our fellow-citizen, but gratify many of your constant readers and subscribers.

JUSTICE.

Among the excellent appointments which have been made in the Navy is that of Captain Edward Moses, of Portsmouth, N. H., as Acting Master. Captain Moses has been assigned to the command of the barque Fernandina, for duty on the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron, where he will have an opportunity of displaying his admirable capacity in the service of his country. —Boston Transcript.

☞ The habit which some evil minded boys have manifested recently in this city, of defacing fences, &c., merits the condemnation of every one; and where the offending party is detected, there should be no hesitancy in subjecting him to the severest penalty of the law. It is an offence for which there can be no excuse, and the sooner the nuisance is abated, the better for all concerned.

PERSONAL.—Charles W. Pickering, Esq., of Greenland, a graduate of Dartmouth College, and of the Law School at Cambridge, has opened a law office at Haverhill, Mass.

George E. Hodgdon, A. B., of this city, has charge of the Franklin School, at Christian Shore, during the illness of the teacher, Mr. Shannon.

☞ A Santa Clara nurseryman has recently received a considerable order from Japan for fruit trees of various kinds.—Several cases, containing one hundred varieties of California-grown garden seeds, go forward on the same ship.

WELL PUT.—The Boston Journal hits the head, when it says:

"Not a tenth part of all the local news which transpires in any country town finds its way into the city papers, and he who takes the latter to the exclusion of his own town or county paper does not fulfil his duty as a citizen. Such a person is unworthy to fill a town office, for he most lacks local pride."

☞ We are informed that Mr. Nath'l J. Coffin, of this city, who served with honor through the Mexican war, has been appointed a recruiting officer in the 9th Regt., N. H. V., and has his quarters at Jefferson Hall. Mr. Coffin is an applicant for a commission in this regiment—for which he has many admirable qualifications.

☞ Jas. P. Bartlett, Esq., sold his house and garden, No. 46 Court Street, at auction on Saturday, for $2,500. Mr. Leonard Cotton was the purchaser.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Law of 1861,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Examines made into Anticipations of Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials herewith given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; but SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind can at the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure patents, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on behalf of his clients SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century; and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed-quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that the rolls can be easily come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and to any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded, if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Manures.
J. F. SHORES, JR.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it PAYS WELL, PAYS FIRST RATE ON THE OUTLAY.
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried manures. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We make no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:
NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.
Mr. WM. J. CUTTER, JR.: Louisville, Ky.
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced me to make a trial of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has been used by physicians in use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an agency, with the best quality of PURE Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

Drs. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of June 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of genuine Old Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. J. CUTTER, JR.
We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between Dr. WM. CUTTER, Louisville, and WM. T. NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

EXETER—DOVER—PORTSMOUTH.—In 1629, May 17, John Wheelwright, late of England, a minister of the gospel, Augustin Story, Thomas Wright, William Wentworth, and Thomas Leavitt claimed to have purchased of the Indians "all that part of the main land, bounded by the river Piscataqua and the river Merrimack, that is to say, beginning at Newichewannock falls in Piscataqua river aforesaid, and so down said river to the sea, and so along the sea shore to Merrimack river, and so up along said river to the falls of Pautucket aforesaid, and from said Pautucket falls, upon a northwest line, twenty English miles into the woods, and from thence, to run upon a straight line north east and south west, till it meets with the main rivers that run down to Pautucket falls, and Newichewannock falls, and the said rivers to be bounds of the said lands, from the thwart line, or head line to the aforesaid falls, and the main channel of each river, from Pautucket falls and Newichewannock falls to the main sea, to be the side bounds, and the main sea between Piscataqua river and Merrimack river to be the lower bounds, and the thwart or head line that runs from river to river, to be the upper bounds; together with all islands within said bounds, as also the Isles of Shoals so called."

The principal agents and factors of the company of Laconia were witnesses to the execution of this deed, and of the delivery of quiet and peaceable possession of all the lands therein mentioned, to the grantees.

The land contained within the boundaries mentioned in this deed, includes all the settlements, which had been made by Mason and his associates in the patent of Laconia, which were west of Piscataqua river.

It has of late years been suggested, and is believed by many, that this deed is not genuine. It is granted that Wheelwright and his associates obtained a deed from the Indians, of a tract of land, about Squamscot falls, comprehended in the bounds of Exeter.

NOV. 7, Capt. John Mason procured a new patent from the Council of Plymouth, under their common seal, for a tract of land "from the middle of Piscataqua river, and up the same to the farthest head thereof, and from thence north-westward, until sixty miles from the mouth of the river were finished; also through Merrimack river, to the farthest head thereof, and so forward up into the land westward, until sixty miles were finished; and from thence to cross over land to the end of sixty miles as counted from Piscataqua river; together with all islands within five leagues of the coast."—The land contained within this patent was called New Hampshire. This grant included all the land in Wheelwright's purchase. The grant of Laconia comprehended the whole of New Hampshire; and the grant of Massachusetts was to extend three miles north of Merrimack river. In this manner the grants were continually interfering with each other, and the same lands were frequently conveyed to different proprietors. The boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire was settled by agreement, between Matthew Cradock, the first Governor of Massachusetts, and Capt. John Mason, to be three miles northward of the Merrimack.

The Concil of Plymouth granted to Edward Hilton and his associates, March 12, 1630, "all that part of the river Piscataqua, called or known by the name of Hilton's point, with the south side of said river up to the falls of Squamscot, and three miles into the main land for breadth." Within these limits are contained the towns of Dover, Durham, and Stratham, with part of Newington and Greenland. Captain Thomas Wiggin was appointed agent for the grantees of this patent.

The settlements at Piscataqua did not advance very rapidly, nor were there many buildings erected until the year 1631; they now began to increase. The 3d of November, the Council made a grant to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, Capt. John Mason, John Cotton, Henry Gardner, George Griffith, Edwin Gay, Thomas Warnerton, Thomas Eyre, and Eliezer Eyre, who had already expended three thousand pounds to promote the settlement of that part of the patent of Laconia, on which "the buildings and salt works were erected, situate on both sides the harbor and river of Piscataqua, to the extent of five miles westward by the sea coast, then to cross over towards the other plantation, in the lands of Edward Hilton." These were the original limits of Portsmouth, and within them were included the present towns of Portsmouth, New Castle, and Rye, with part of Newington and Greenland. Capt. Thomas Camocks and Henry Jocelyn were appointed to put the grantees in possession of this tract of land. The grantees appointed Capt. Walter Neal their agent, and he resided at Little Harbor.

☞ Whitney's grain elevator, at Rochester, N. Y., was burned on Thursday afternoon, with 40,000 bushels of wheat and 7000 bushels of corn. Loss $80,000.

A D V E R T I S E!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

L I F E O F T R A D E!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right means for gaining their time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidences between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be well adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried says, "Now, as for me the first two or three advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me at times of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the manner in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down, as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The field is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,

For Physicians' Use.

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

a few well-known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine.

F R A N K L I N H O U S E,

Portsmouth, N. H.

The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

The Chronicle.

NEW GUNBOATS.—The Cincinnati Gazette says the Marine Railway and Dock Company are constructing two new gunboats, of oval deck and iron clad. It is intended to render them invulnerable, all sorts of military projectiles glancing from the sides without producing any effect.

☞ A disastrous fire occurred, Thursday, in East Brooklyn, N. Y., caused by the explosion of a quantity of kerosene or petroleum. An entire block was consumed, and three lives were lost. The property destroyed, including 18,000 barrels of petroleum, is estimated at $300,000.

☞ In 1860, more than fifty thousand postage stamps were found in letter boxes and mail bags in London, rubbed from their proper places on letters and newspapers.

☞ The French war steamer Milan, Com. Cloue, arrived at New York on Thursday, from New Orleans. This is the seventh French man-of-war now in that port.

☞ Col. Thomas A. Scott, Assistant Secretary of War, has tendered his resignation, in pursuance of an intention long since expressed.

☞ A daily direct train service commenced on the 6th of May between Berlin and St. Petersburg. A through train is also about to be established daily between Paris and St. Petersburg.

☞ The idea of amalgamating the Grand Trunk and the Great Western Railways, says the Quebec Chronicle, has been abandoned as dead, with no hopes of resurrection.

☞ The Bridgton Reporter states that a water-spout was seen moving over Crotchet Pond, at Bridgton, Me., during a recent tempest, and the scene was one of sublimity.

☞ Scarlet fever is quite prevalent in Boston. There were ten deaths from this disease in that city last week—an unusually large mortality.

☞ Commodore Foote will soon be the recipient of a splendid sword, voted to him by the City of Brooklyn, and now ready for presentation.

☞ The people at Lewiston, Me., are proposing an advance in civilization by introducing a sprinkler to their dusty streets.

☞ Three young men have been arrested for robbing the South Berwick post office, and have confessed the deed.

☞ A needle with a wedge-shaped eye, which holds the thread securely, is the latest invention.

BOLD RIFLE PRACTICE.—The shores of the James river from Drury's Bluff to City Point, are lined with rifle pits, which the rebels are filling with marksmen as fast as completed, so fatal to their cause do they deem the landing of troops under the cover of our gunboats on the south bank of the James river. On Saturday last the rebels all along the line of pits, opened for target practice on our gunboats, firing volley after volley with all the success they could hope for, the balls rolling off the iron side of our vessels like hail against window panes. A brave colored man, who had often requested permission to go into the maintop lookout to make observations, discovered a position occupied by the enemy in considerable force, and reported the fact to the captain of his vessel, the United States sloop-of-war Wachusett. The fleet moved up and shelled the place where the rebels were encamped, scattering them in every direction. The man in the maintop lookout, the colored seaman above alluded to, made no further report, and upon another man going aloft, he was found dead at his post, pierced by a score of rifle bullets.—Special Cor. of Phila. Press.

TUESDAY, JUNE 3, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. McClellan reports that on Saturday, the enemy, taking advantage of a terrible storm, which had flooded the valley of Chickahominy, attacked our troops on the right flank. Gen. Casey's division, which was in the first line, gave way unaccountably, and disorderly. This caused a confusion, during which the guns and baggage were lost, but Gens. Heintzleman and Kearney most gallantly brought up their troops, and checked the enemy. At the same time, Gen. Sedgwick's and Richardson's divisions drove back the enemy at the point of the bayonet, covering the ground with their dead. On Sunday morning the enemy attempted to renew the conflict, but was everywhere repulsed. We took many prisoners, among them Gen. Pettigrew and Col. Long. Our loss is heavy, but that of the enemy far greater. With the above exception, the men behaved splendidly. Several fine bayonet charges were made.

The steamer Swan, with 1000 bales of cotton and 800 barrels of rosin has arrived at Key West. The evidence against the steamer Circassian is conclusive, and she will be condemned. The prize steamer Patras, of London has arrived at New York. She was captured on the 26th ult., off Charleston Bar, by the steamer Bienville, while attempting to run the blockade. She is an iron steamer, and has on board 1400 kegs of powder, 50 cases of rifles, 800 bags of coffee and a quantity of quinine. The vessel and cargo is valued at $300,000.—She had no papers on board.

Gen. Pope reports the entire success of the expedition sent out to destroy the bridge on the Mobile and Ohio R. R., 40 miles below Corinth. The troops destroyed the track, burned up the depot and locomotives, and a train of 26 cars loaded with supplies of every kind, destroyed ten thousand stand of small arms, three pieces of artillery, and a great quantity of clothing and ammunition and paroled 2000 prisoners. Our cavalry found at the tents of the enemy standing, took hundreds of barrels of beef, and 7000 stands of arms, in a large encampment on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, said to belong to Price and Van Dorn's forces, who left on Thursday night

The N. Y. World states that the government has decided to accept all three months' militia regiments that will offer up to June 10th next. They are to report themselves for duty at Washington, D. C., Columbus, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo.

It is understood that advices received by the War Department from Gen. McClellan on Monday, indicate the speedy occupation of Richmond. Private advices represent the victory on Sunday as complete, the rebels being driven for miles at the point of the bayonet.

The reports of rebel atrocities at Winchester are denied. Neither of the hospitals was burned.

The English iron steamer Cambria, captured off Charleston, has arrived at Philadelphia. She has a cargo of liquor, medicines, Enfield rifles and saltpetre.

The rebels in retreating from Corinth, by mistake burned the wrong bridge, causing the destruction of 7 locomotives and several trains loaded with stores.

☞ In the U.S. Senate, on Saturday, Mr. Wilson called up a bill legalizing the acceptance of volunteers by the President, &c., and offered a substitute limiting the whole number to 700,000 men; also providing a premium of $2 for every soldier enlisted, and for the payment of the first month's pay in advance.

Mr. Wilson said the aggregate number of the army was 617,654, but a large number were off on leave and sick. He supposed we had about half a million effective men in the field.

Mr. Fessenden thought that there was no need of paying premium for volunteers. Mr. Grimes moved to amend the bill so as to make the premium $2 apply only to the regular army. Adopted.

FROM MEXICO.—We have news from the City of Mexico to the 8th inst. On that day the French army commenced retreating from before Puebla towards Amesa. It appears there had previously been fighting. On that morning the Mexicans formed their troops in front of the French camp, but the latter refused to accept the challenge, and retired. A decree has been issued threatening a penalty of death to those who shall give any information or assistance to the French; also advising the residents of Acapulco to retire ten leagues into the interior, thus abandoning the port to the first French man-of-war which may come in. The British squadron, consisting of four men-of-war, was at Acapulco on the 27th inst.

☞ It is expected that the wife of the rebel Gen. Lee will not be released until the rebels fulfil their agreement to give up Col. Corcoran.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——Among the prisoners just released in North Carolina, are the following from the N. H. regiments:—

New Hampshire Second—H. Allen, John H. Barry, J. Barker, T. E. Barker, George H. Clay, L. N. Colbath, J. Davis, Geo. E. Dorr, T. A. Emerson, S. H. Emerson, M. M. Eastman, J. L. Fitz.

New Hampshire Fourth—G. F. Boynton, and Lionel Colbath.

New Hampshire First—G. H. Emerson.

—— The Governor and Council have appointed Sylvester Dana, Esq., Justice of the Police Court, Concord, in the place of David Pillsbury, deceased.

—— The Manchester American says a very valuable cow belonging to Mr Blaisdell, of Goffstown, was run over by the train on the bridge, on Thursday last.—Every bone in her body was broken.

A BALLOON RECONNOISANCE.—During the whole of the battle, on Sunday morning, in the valley of the Chickahominy, Prof. Lowe's balloon was overlooking the terrible scene from an altitude of about 2000 feet. Telegraphic communication from the balloon to Gen. McClellan and in direct connection with the military wires, was successfully maintained.

Every movement of the enemy was obvious and instantly reported. This is believed to be the first time in which a balloon reconnoissance has been successfully made during a battle, and certainly the first time in which a telegraph station has been established in the air to report the movements of the enemy and the progress of the battle.

NAVAL.—The U. S. sloop-of-war Constellation, Commander Thatcher, sailed from Gibraltar on the 6th of May, for Genoa and Spezzia. Commander Thatcher is at present the senior officer of the Mediterranean fleet.

The U. S. steam sloop-of-war Tuscarora, Commander Craven, was at Algeciras on the 8th of May, where she would await the arrival of the Kearsarge, Commander Pickering, daily expected.

ARREST FOR TREASON.—Judge Birch, who has been stumping the State of Missouri as candidate for Governor, for some time past, was arrested at Rolla, on Friday, by order of Col. Boyd, commanding that post, for uttering disloyal sentiments, while making a speech, which were evidently designed to secure Secession votes.

☞ A Cincinnati gentleman, who has just returned from Pittsburg Landing, having spent a week in the camp of Halleck's army, reports the health of the men very greatly improved. There were very few cases of sickness, and the men generally were in very robust condition. They were well clothed, well fed, admirably disciplined, superbly armed, and have an immense and splendid train of artillery. Taken all in all, the latest reports from the army are most favorable.

NEW ORLEANS.—The New York Commercial contains a letter from New Orleans, May 15th, written by a merchant and a large slaveholder, to a business friend in New York. He says:—

"Most of the Unionists and patriots have suffered in property and business, and still more in feeling under the most vindictive persecution. Our city is destitute of everything. It is useless to expect anything like safe business, or personal safety in any part of the slave States unless the whole country is held by the military and by military power. One third of our population must be expelled from the country, and their places supplied by Northern colonists.

"It will take years to subdue the proud despots and overthrow finally the social tyranny which has always ruled absolutely wherever slavery exists. New Orleans will inevitably become a greater centre of business than heretofore. We hope Gen. Butler will compel our banks to resume specie payment soon, and scatter the Confederate trash to the winds. There must be a strict military occupancy of the whole country for years. The population must be changed and slavery abolished before peace and safety can be established in any part of this country."

☞ Steamer Baltic, at New York, brings New Orleans dates to May 22d. General Shepley has assumed the duties of Mayor, Major Bell is Recorder of the city, and Capt. Jonas French has been appointed Chief of Police. These functionaries will discharge the duties of their offices until some loyal citizens are elected to fill them. The Bank of Commerce had re-opened its doors and commenced business, refusing rebel shinplasters.

Numerous letters from New Orleans were received in Boston on Friday by our business men, a large number of them from their partners in trade. The general tone of them is of the most satisfactory character, and abundant proof is furnished of the desire of the people for peace. Many are the instances we have heard of where specie or U. S. demand notes are promised to be sent on immediately for past indebtedness, and inviting a renewal of business relations.—We understand one house in Boston which has over fifty thousand dollars due from New Orleans parties, has received the strongest assurances that interest and principal shall be immediately paid. Most of the business letters received here are of similar purport.—Boston Post.

☞ The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad, was held at Armory Hall, Kittery Foreside, on Monday. Ex-Gov. Goodwin called the meeting to order, and proceeded to fill the chair. The Annual Report of the Directors was then read and voted to be accepted, and a motion was made to proceed to choose Directors. Francis Cogswell, Esq., President of B. & M. R. R., offered a motion that a committee of two be appointed by the chair, such committee, with the chairman to report a list of persons to be voted for. Mr. C. went into the history of the last annual meeting, and complained that the B. & M. road was not fairly represented in the direction, though it appeared that the President of that Road and the President of the Eastern Road were the only Directors of either corporation on the tickets, and the management of the road was left principally with those gentlemen and the President of this corporation.

Mr. C. was followed by Hon. Geo. M. Browne who briefly stated his surprise at the extraordinary proposition of Mr. Cogswell and showed several of the sharp operations of the B. & M. managers in regard to tickets eastward, &c., in violation of existing agreements between the two roads.—Speeches followed speeches till nearly two o'clock, when the motion to proceed to choose Directors was carried, and the chair appointed Messrs. Stephen A. Chase of Salem, John Lowe, Jr., of Salem, and William H. Hackett of Portsmouth, committee to receive, sort and count the votes, who reported that the following gentlemen had received all the votes cast: Ichabod Goodwin, Portsmouth; Geo. M. Browne, Boston; Francis Cogswell, Andover; John Howe, Brookline; Chas. E. Barrett, Portland; Nathaniel Hooper, Boston; George W. Burleigh, Great Falls, who were thereupon declared elected, and the meeting adjourned without day.—The stockholders left this city for the West by an extra train at 3 1-2, P. M.

IGNORANCE OF THE LAW.—All men liable to do military duty, are not aware of a new law of Congress which requires them to serve for eight months instead of three, or for sixty days after the meeting of Congress in December—and a liability then to be detained for an indefinite period by Congress. Of the thousands who assembled at Boston so promptly, leaving their homes and business for a short term, comparatively few were ready to go for a long one.

☞ It gives us great pleasure to contradict the report that Maj. Cilley of the Maine Cavalry was mortally wounded in the battle at Front Royal. A letter to his friends, from a Lieutenant, mentions him as slightly wounded and a prisoner, having had one of his arms bruised and shattered by a piece of shell. His servant remained with him, and is like him a prisoner. Maj. Cilley is the second son of Hon. Jonathan Cilley, the representative from Maine, who was killed in the duel with Graves of Kentucky, and is a nephew of Hon. Joseph Cilley, who was one of the heroes of Lundy's Lane under Gen. Miller, and badly wounded on that occasion, and who has since represented New Hampshire in the United States Senate.—Major Cilley has the characteristics of his family, great personal bravery combined with intelligence and high honor. He is much esteemed as an officer and a gentleman,—having friends wherever he is known.

☞ The libel case of Hamilton E. Towle, civil engineer, against the Great Eastern steamship, was heard in Chambers in New York, by Judge Betts, on Friday, and late the same night he decided to bond the vessel in the sum of $10,000. Messrs. Howland & Aspinwall became the sureties and the vessel was released from the custody of the U. S. Marshal.

☞ The Leavenworth Conservative says the real name of the jayhawker Cleveland is Metz. He used to drive stage out of Cleveland, Ohio, and hence adopted that name.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Samboci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CRESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CRESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay forth, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may29

Local.

☞ Our musical readers will be pleased to learn that Mr. Gottschalk, the great pianist, in combination with the celebrated tenor Brignoli, Mad. De Lussan, Amodio, Susini, and Muzio, will give a grand concert in this city, next Thursday.

☞ The "freedom of the city" that is allowed the cows who roam through our streets, damaging fences and bespoiling yards and walks, seems to be quite contrary to the spirit of the ordinance passed some time ago to restrain cows from running at large. Last Sunday six of these bovine nuisances, accompanied by a dilapidated specimen of horse flesh, were quietly feeding a short distance from the Square.—Are we to suffer this nuisance to exist unheeded by our City Authorities, all summer? Why not increase the salaries of the Mayor, Marshal, Judges of the Police Court, and City Solicitor, and see if an enlarged income will not promote increased zeal in enforcing the city laws which some of them have sworn to see observed? D. BILITY.

☞ The Ocean House, at Rye Beach, well and widely known as one of the largest and most elegant summer hotels and watering places on the Atlantic coast, is advertised to be sold to auction, on the premises, to-day at noon—also several house-lots the vicinity;—and a large amount of furniture, &c., with the horses, carriages and harnesses of the establishment, &c., will also be disposed of by vendue, on Wednesday and Thursday.

☞ June has come, and summer begun, in name at least. All nature is donning its most beautiful attire, and now is the time for all who can, to be enjoying "glorious summer" out of doors. Last Sunday was "white Sunday," according to the almanac, but the trees bloomed so early this year, that on the Sabbath previous they would seem to have been as white (and pink) as possible. The crops of grass and fruit (as well as of flies and mosquitoes) promise to be unusually large this year, from present indications.

☞ We have not found time to go and investigate for ourselves yet—but we are told by others more fortunate, that the Atlantic House, Rye Beach, is now open; and that mine host Philbrick has not forgotten how to cater for visitors so that they will want to go again. And everybody who enjoys going into "the wild old woods," ought to roam over the grounds of "the Atlantic" once.

☞ It will be seen that the original proprietor of the Surf House, at Rye Beach, advertises it for a boarding house only, this season. The location is very pleasant, and the house spacious and inviting, and without doubt will be well kept.

☞ It has been understood and expected, by many, that a gentleman in this city, who has long been active and prominent in military matters, was to be appointed to the Majorship of the Ninth Regiment, New Hampshire Volunteers,—and it is even now reported that he will receive a different but high and honorable commission there, if he will accept.

☞ To-morrow (Wednesday) will be "Election Day" at Concord—when the new State Government will be inaugurated, with the escort of the Horse Guards, &c.—The cars run so as to afford fine opportunity for our citizens to spend an hour or two in Manchester, and a good portion of the day at the State capital, and return home at dark.

—— On Saturday last as a freight train on the Cheshire Railroad, was switching from one track to another at Keene, one of the brakemen, Mr. Francis M. Godbold, 25 years of age, was thrown from the top of the cars, and falling upon the track, the wheels passed over his head and shoulder, killing him instantly. He leaves a wife and two children.

—— An extensive fire occurred in Manchester on Monday forenoon, destroying several old buildings, some of them occupied by Irish families. The fire caught by the boiling over of tar used for covering a roof, and the flames spread rapidly.

☞ It appears that a woman of bad repute, named Belle Boyd, has been the bearer of an extensive correspondence between our lines and the rebels. A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says he has the following statement from an officer who participated in the battle at Front Royal:—

"After you left Front Royal, Belle Boyd made a trip to Winchester, in company with a cavalry officer. While there she was arrested by the military authorities, but, with her usual adroitness and assumed innocence, she got clear of any charge of treachery and returned to Front Royal again. An hour previous to the attack on Col. Kenley, Belle went out on a rise of ground south of the town, and was seen to wave her handkerchief toward the point from which the centre of the attack was made."

We perceive by the proceedings of our anniversary meetings, that Fitts has been placed in the Health Society.—Boston Post.

PRENTICIANA.—The rebel armies can't get a good view of anything, for they are not able to find a stand-point.

If Jeff. Davis and his gang be not hung, our good mother earth will probably refuse in disgust ever to bring forth another crop of hemp.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that "Commodore Porter does not let grass grow under his feet." People who work on the water seldom do.

Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—all legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given are but those of MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office or the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and price, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so gently that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief. Dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer ever invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Manures.
J. F. SHORES, JR.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the LONG MANUFACT'G Co's
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS! Try it on your GRASS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTSIDE.
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merits alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from our deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:
NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to substitute Old Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice, and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, KY., July 31, 1861.
DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of Old Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence,
I remain, very respectfully, your obedt. servt.,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.
We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr. of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Morning Chronicle.

LITERARY CURIOSITY.—The following, written in the time of the Revolution, may be read, 1st—In the order in which it is written; 2d—The lines downward on the left of each comma in every line; 3d—in the same manner on the right of each comma. By the first reading it will be seen that the revolutionary cause is deprecated, and lauded by the others.

Hark! hark! the trumpet sounds, the din of war's alarms,
O'er seas and solid grounds, doth call us all to arms;
Wise for King George doth stand, their honors soon will shine;
Their ruin is at hand, who with the Congress join;
The acts of Parliament, in them I much delight;
I hate their cursed intent, who for the Congress fight,
The Tories of the day, they are my daily toast;
They soon will smoak many, who Independence boast.
Who non-resistance hold, they have my hand and heart,
May they for slaves be sold, who set a whiggish part.
On Mansfield, North and Bute, may daily blessings pour,
Confusion and dispute, on Congress evermore;
To North, that British lord, may honors still be done,
I wish a block and cord, to General Washington.

THE OLD MANSION.

I think of some old country hall,
With carved porch and chimneys tall,
And pleasant windows many a one,
Set deep into the old grey stone,
Hid among trees so large and green
'Tis only dimly to be seen.
I think of its dusk garden-bowers,
Its little plots of curious flowers,
Its casements wreathed with jessamine,
Flung wide to let all odors in,
And all sweet sounds of bird and bee,
And the cool fountain's melody.

—Mary Howitt.

☞ As a Newburyport merchant, a few evenings since, after closing his store for the night, was wending his way homeward, he was suddenly attacked in the rear by an infuriated hog, which made a bold rush between his legs, and landed the gentleman first upon the back of the hog and then upon his own back. The foe followed up the assault by biting his legs and tearing his pantaloons; and even when "flag of truce" was displayed, in the shape of a silk umbrella, which was most vigorously waved by the prostrate human, it was most ruthlessly bitten and destroyed. After floundering for some time upon the side walk, an escape was effected under the impenetrable darkness, and the discomfited victim reached his domicil without further molestation. The gentleman is of the opinion that this must be one of the veritable swine which the devils entered into, in the country of the Gadarenes.

☞ Rebel papers are getting anxious about the crops in the South. Letters say the wheat crop in Northern Texas is likely to be lost for lack of harvesters, and there is a cry for gangs of slaves to be sent from the cotton states to do the work. In Georgia the rust has made its appearance, and great damage is apprehended. Arkansas promises well, but are the rebels quite sure that they are to be the reapers? Perhaps one Gen. Halleck may put in a sickle.

☞ The Kennebec Journal says a large number of eggs are received at the great shipping house of eggs at Gardiner, Me.—The eggs are gathered from all that part of the State, carefully examined, all cracked or broken ones rejected, and the sound eggs securely packed and sent to California. The business has proved profitable.—The cracked eggs are sold in the local market at a low rate.

PEDESTRIANISM.—Mr. Sargent, a member of the senior class of Harvard University, reached New Bedford at ten minutes past ten, Thursday evening, having walked the entire distance, about sixty one and a half miles, from Cambridge, in seventeen hours and ten minutes. This feat was performed upon a wager of $50 that he could walk the entire distance in twenty consecutive hours.

☞ David Fleming, confined in the Irasburgh, (Vt.) jail, awaiting trial for the murder of Stephenson of Craftsbury, has shot himself, placing the muzzle of the gun under his chin and blowing the back of his head completely off. He was allowed to have a gun in the cell to shoot birds from a martin-house opposite the windows!

Spain does not forget to honor Cervantes. A funeral service in his memory is annually performed, at the instance of the Royal Academy, in the church of Nuns of the Trinity, Madrid, where the bones of Cervantes repose. Last month the services took place, and the Bishop of Calahorra delivered the funeral oration. The church was hung in black, and in the centre was a catafalque, on which lay a sword and a copy of "Don Quixote."

"Pat, you have dated your letter a week ahead. It is not so late in the month by one week, you spalpeen."

"Troth, boy, indade, an' it's jist meself what is whanting sweet Kathleen to get it in advance of the mail. Shure I'll not care if she gets it three days afore it is written, me darlint!"

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the place at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great variety of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business often greatly mistake their own interest when they conclude that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to economize, one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, and I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time and they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,
For Physicians' Use.
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.
SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

a few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine.

FRANKLIN HOUSE,

Portsmouth, N. H.

The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

The Chronicle.

NOT SO BAD.—The New York World's correspondent, writing from Banks' division, says in his latest letter:—

"The list of casualities, which it was to have been expected would have decreased considerable, have dwindled down to almost unimportant dimensions. Men counted as lost, and reported killed or captured, have appeared to us safe and unharmed. Our army is not so much disorganized as it seemed to be at first. The men are ready and anxious to fight again, and would do so without a doubt. Both brigades have returned with little loss, the cavalry have come in and are still coming, not a gun has been lost, and the baggage—an emense train—was principally ferried across the Potomac. The retreat seems now to have been performed with wonderful good fortune and great skill.

☞ In the Tulare lakes of California there are great numbers of white swans.—They feed partly on the fresh water muscle or clam which is found in extraordinary abundance in all the Tulare waters, completely paving the bottom, and very dangerous to walk on, as the shells are thin and brittle and cut like glass.

☞ Maj. Gen. Dix has left Baltimore for Fortress Monroe to take command of the Department of Virginia, relieving Gen. Wool, who report says is to be transferred to Baltimore.

☞ The London Times informs the English public that New Orleans was taken by Gen. Grant, who conveyed his troops in transports across Lake Pontchartrain, and thus achieved an easy victory.

☞ Barnum has determined to inaugurate his opening of the Aquarial Gardens in Boston, by a great National Dog Show, on Monday, June 16th.

☞ The King of Madagascar has narrowly escaped assassination from the hands of his cousin, who aspires to the throne.

☞ The N. Y Times thinks that cotton will grow as well under the Union flag as it has heretofore.

☞ The ship John J. Boyd arrived at New York on Sunday morning, from Liverpool, with 700 Mormons.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Fremont, by rapid forced marches, crossed the Shenandoah mountain ranges, and encountered and beat on Sunday afternoon and Monday morning, near Strasburg, a part of Jackson's army, which was in full retreat. Jackson lost six guns.

A portion of Gen. Banks' force, on Saturday, encountered a large force of the enemy, near Winchester, and drove them for some distance. We took 7 prisoners, and one 11-pounder cannon manufactured in Liverpool in 1861.

There was no fighting of consequence, in Gen. McClellan's division, on Monday. Our advance was on that day considerably in front of the position it occupied before the battle of Saturday.

Gen. McClellan's department has been extended so as to include that recently commanded by Gen. Wool, who has been transferred to Baltimore.

Gen. Halleck sent the following dispatch which sets at rest some complaints that have been made, from Corinth on Saturday:

"If Beauregard has been at Richmond, others have forged his signature, as I have received letters from him about exchange of prisoners nearly every day for a fortnight. The evacuation of Corinth commenced on Wednesday and was completed on Thursday night in great haste, as an immense amount of property was destroyed and abandoned. No troops have gone from here to Richmond unless within the last two days.

On the 26th, the Mobile papers had a dispatch from Charleston stating that the Federal fleet had passed two batteries in Stone River, and were within eight miles of the city, where great excitement existed.

Advices from Arkansas say that one rebel gunboat and several steamers are reported at Little Rock. The gunboat shelled the rebel camp under the impression that it was occupied by the Federals, wounding several and scattering the whole garrison.

It is reported that Gen. Sigel takes command of the army at Harper's Ferry under Gen. Banks.

The loss in the two days' engagement on the south side of the Chickahominy, in killed and wounded will amount to three hundred, a great number of missing, who will probably return, having strayed away. All the enemy's killed and most of their wounded fell into our hands. The enemy's dead left on the field amount to over 1200.

The country in which the battle was fought is swampy, with thick underbrush, and most of the fighting was done in the woods. Owing to the nature of the ground very little artillery was used. The railroad was of inestimable service to us, the cars running within a mile and a half of the battle-field, bringing forward ammunition and supplies. Gen. McClellan arrived on the battle-field on Saturday evening, where he remained, directing all the movements in person. His presence among the troops had a most splendid effect. Four separate charges with the bayonet were made during Sunday. In one instance the enemy were driven a mile, during which 173 rebels were killed by the bayonet alone. Lieut. Washington, aid to Gen. Joe Johnson was taken prisoner.

The rebel officers were unable to rally their troops on Monday, and retreated toward Richmond. Our men moved forward to Fair Oak, 5 miles from the city.—Jeff. Davis and Gov. Letcher, it is said, were both at the fight on Sunday.

On Monday Gen. Hooker made a reconnoissance on the Williamsburg turnpike, to within 4 miles of Richmond, without meeting the enemy in force. Their pickets kept in sight, but retreated on his approach. Every one feels sanguine of the fall of the rebel capital when our troops advance for an engagement. The fight on Saturday and Sunday, it is claimed, seals the fate of that city. The rebels threw the main body of their army, composed of their best troops, on our left wing, with a view to crush it. They were defeated after two days' hard fighting, and were forced to retreat.

☞ An Irish jaunting car has been introduced in Toronto. The Colonial Empire regards it with favor and says: "Numbers of persons drive about in it for the curiosity of the thing, and many others with great glee who are accustomed to the jaunting car, but have not ridden one since they left the 'ould sod.'"

☞ The Japanese ambassadors now in Europe have made an arrangement to obtain manufactured metallic objects to the amount of 80,000,000 francs, in return for a similar value in cotton and other textile fabrics.

GOOD FOR OHIO.—A regiment of volunteers was recruited in Columbus, Ohio, within twenty-four hours on one day last week, and men continued to crowd the recruiting office, clamoring for enlistment.

Boston ought to regret the affront of the article on "Historical Trees" in Harper's.—The old elm on the Common is not noticed. Gov. Andrew should see to it.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The New Hampshire Cavalry were in the fight at Front Royal, under Maj. Nelson, and led in driving out the enemy. The report is that eight were killed, five wounded and one missing. Maj. Nelson had four companies, and three of them were probably from this State.

—— Capt. Wm. P. Ainsworth, of Nashua, attached to the New England Cavalry under Maj. D. B. Nelson, is reported killed at Front Royal. Mr. Ainsworth long filled a highly responsible situation in the office of the Nashua and Lowell Railroad. His loss will be keenly felt and deeply regretted.

—— The fire in Manchester, on Monday forenoon, continued about an hour, destroyed about $12,000 worth of property, and turned 15 families out of a home.

—— It is proposed to erect a granite shaft in the burying-ground at Candia, with the names of two young soldiers from that town who recently died, leaving space where others names can be inserted should others fall. This is well. These were common soldiers, privates in the ranks, but their townsmen desire to do their memory honor.

—— Among the released prisoners who have arrived at New York, are the following members of the 2d N. H. Regiment:—

A. L. Hall, J. R. R. Morse, D. Martin, A. T. Kidder, S. M. Heath, W. Holden, G. A. Grout, H. Moore, Jacob Hall, Nelson Hard, D. Jaquette, A. P. Leathers, S. M. Joy, C. L. Jones.

They left Saulsbury, N.C., 26th and 27th of May, but an accident to the first train which nearly terminated in throwing all over the side of a bridge 50 feet high, delayed it in Raleigh. On coming under the cover of our gunboats several American flags of prison manufacture were displayed and cheer after cheer was given for the old flag.

—— The N. H. 5th Regiment is in Gen. Richardson's Division, which performed such good service in the recent fight before Richmond. This and one other division engaged the flower of the rebel army. The fighting was desperate, every foot of ground being hotly contested, but our soldiers were too much for them. The enemy would stand manfully at a distance of 60 yards and be fired at, but they were afraid of the bayonet, and in every instance that our men charged, they were victorious. The enemy's loss was very heavy, many of them being killed by the bayonet.

MAINE DAILY PAPERS.—They have got a new "Daily Kennebec Journal" in Augusta—published each evening, at $5 per year. It talks republican, and publishes telegraphic news.

The Lewiston Daily Herald has been discontinued. The editor is going to the war in the Maine Sixteenth.

The editor of the democratic Bath Times,—who is to be concerned in a new Daily (the fourth) in Portland,—has transferred the Times to the republican weekly Sentinel publisher, who will continue it if the citizens will continue to encourage the enterprise—which they ought to do, for a city as large as Bath ought no more to do without a daily paper than without a school-house,—no matter what its politics, so it be decent and civil.

FOREIGN EXTRACTS IN LONDON.—The census develops the curious fact that there are more Scottish descendants in London than in Edinburg, more Irish than in Dublin, 100,000 more Catholics than in Rome, and more Jews than in Palestine. There are also, in the same metropolis, more than 60,000 Germans, 20,000 French and 6000 Italians, a very large number of Asiatics from all parts of the East, and many who still worship their idols.

☞ A machine for planing and jointing the turret plates of the new Monitors has been made in Newark, New Jersey. It weighs thirty-four thousand pounds and is capable of removing one square inch of wrought iron at one cut, planing both edges of a plate six feet by twelve feet at the same time.

ILLEGITIMACY IN ENGLAND.—During the year 1860 there were 43,693 children born out of wedlock in England, being 6.4 per cent. of the whole number of children born. The Registrar-General believes that the proportion of illegitimate children born in London—4 1-2 per cent. in the tables—is very probably understated, as "there is much greater facility for the suppression of facts in large cities than in smaller towns and villages."

Uncomfortably fat people will rejoice to learn that a French savant professes to have discovered that an "alcoholic extract" of the marine plant known as the fucus vesiculosus is a positive antidote for obesity.—It has no perceptible effect except that of reducing the adipose deposit on the ribs and so on. What a chance to get up a new bitters.

As we go on beating the Confederates in naval fights, they become more and more foolishly boastful. The more Farragut we give them, the more farrago they give us.

Politeness may prevent the want of wit and talents from being observed; but wit and talent cannot prevent the discovery of the want of politeness.

LONG CRUISE IN A BOAT.—The Italian vessel Christina, from Genoa, arrived at Aspinwall on the 19th of May, bringing cargo for Central America and forty passengers.

The passengers, eight in number, of a canoe, which was blown out to sea sixty days ago, astonished us by turning up on the 19th inst. They were forty-five days at sea, living on rice and molasses, and several days at a time without water. They were carried about 300 miles from Panama, landing in the Gulf of Dulce. As they were only about twenty miles from Panama when blown away they were long since given up as lost.

MUTILATED TREASURY NOTES.—Mr. Chase has issued the annexed circular in regard to mutilated Treasury Notes:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, May 18, 1862.

To guard against frauds upon the Government and to secure the just rights of holders, the following rules for the redemption of mutilated United States notes are hereby established:

RULES.

First—Mutilated notes, which have been torn, no matter how much, but of which it is evident that all the fragments are returned; or defaced, no matter how badly, but certainly satisfactorily genuine, will be redeemed at their full face value on presentation.

Second—Fragments of notes will be redeemed in full only accompanied by an affidavit stating the cause and manner of the mutilation, and that the missing part of the note is totally destroyed. The good character of the affiant must, also, be vouched by the officer before whom the affidavit is taken.

Third—In the absence of such affidavit, fragments of notes will not be paid in full, but the parts presented will be redeemed, in their proportion to the whole note; reckoning, as a general rule by twentieths.

Fourth—Less than half of a note will not be redeemed, except by payment of the full value of the note under the second rule; or by payment of the proportioned value of the missing part, when presented under the fifth rule.

Fifth—Fragments of notes, for which less than the full face value has been paid, will be retained for a year, to the end that the owners, who have received less than the value of a full note, may have an opportunity to return the missing part, and receive the amount previously withheld.

Sixth—Until further order, mutilated notes and fragments will be redeemed only, at the Treasury of the United States, at Washington; whither they can be sent, addressed to the "Treasury of the United States," by mail, free of postage. A draft on the Assistant Treasurer at New York, for the amount allowed, will be returned in the same way, to the address of the person remitting the same.

S. P. CHASE,
Sec. of Treasury.

WHEELING, VA., June 2.—During a violent and terrific thunder storm at 10 o'clock this morning, the residence of Joshua Pillsbury was struck by lightning, and Miss Mary E. Pillsbury and Miss Clara Goodwin instantly killed. The latter was to have been married to the former's brother to day. Miss G. only arrived from South Berwick, Me., on Saturday. The house was slightly injured.

Dr. John M. Brodhead, of the District of Columbia, has been appointed by the President, one of the Commissioners, under the act for the emancipation of slaves in the District of Columbia, in place of Mr. Vinton, deceased. Dr. Brodhead is a son of the late Rev. Mr. Brodhead, of New Hampshire, formerly a member of Congress from this State. The Doctor is a gentleman, by ability, intelligence and familiarity with the District, admirably well qualified for the office of Commissioner.—Boston Post.

A TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE MOON, visible throughout the United States, occurs on the night of Wednesday, the 11th instant. The duration of the whole eclipse will be three hours and seventeen minutes, and during sixty-two minutes the moon will be wholly immersed in the shadow of the earth.

☞ The Mobile Register says that the Cotton State rebels "can, if necessary, change the character of their industry."—But, the Boston Post asks, can they change the character of their laziness?

☞ Parson Brownlow is evidently "making the most of" (not to say out of) the rebellion and his sufferings by it. So many folks rushed to hear him in Portland, that he had to talk twice there.

☞ A Trieste journal maintains that Garibaldi was killed in the battle of Volturno, and the present Garibaldi, now receiving popular ovations in Italy, is an impostor—an impudent and successful pretender.

☞ A Baltimore paper says there is well authenticated information in that city that the rebel loss in the battle of Hanover Court House was 1000 killed, 3000 wounded and 1200 taken prisoners.

☞ General Butler is engaged in feeding the poor of New Orleans. The Louisville Democrat says they may object to martial law, but they like its "provisions."

THE KING OF DAHOMEY.—This monster lately attacked a neighboring power, beheaded about one thousand of the inhabitants and took the remainder prisoners.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

THE TEMPLE.

GOTTSCHALK & BRIGNOLI'S
OPERA AND CONCERT COMPANY.

L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

The public is respectfully informed that the eminent Piano-forte Virtuoso and Composer, L. M. GOTTSCHALK, whose successes in the principal cities of Europe, in the West Indies, and more recently in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all the Western cities, have been unparalleled in the history of American Art, will give in Portsmouth, in combination with

SIGNOR BRIGNOLI,
The great Tenor, ONLY ONE

Grand Concert,

On THURSDAY EVENING, June 5th.

The extraordinary executive power and striking originality of Mr. Gottschalk as a Pianist and Composer, place him indisputably in the foremost rank of living Artists. The ablest critics of Europe and America have freely acknowledged his extraordinary claims, and an audience of his countrymen has never been wanting to confirm the highest encomiums that have been passed upon his genius. The following eminent artists will appear:

MADAME DE LUSSAN, the celebrated Dramatic Prima Donna, from the Grand Opera, Paris, and Academies of Music, New York and Boston.
SIGNOR AMODIO, the eminent Baritone, brother of the late lamented great Amodio.
SIGNOR SUSINI, the famous Basso.
BRIGNOLI and GOTTSCHALK.
Musical Director and Conductor, Signor MUZIO, Chef de Orchestra of New York Academy of Music.

Admission to all parts of the Hall, 50 cents. Reserved seats, 25 cents extra, which can be secured on Wednesday, at 10 A.M., at Music Store of S. F. Cobb, 3½ Pleasant, and Drug Store of Wm. H. Preston, 15 Congress St.

The Pianos used by Mr GOTTSCHALK, are from the celebrated manufactory of Chickering & Son, Boston.

The Yacht Sibyl

Will commence her trips for the season between PORTSMOUTH and the ISLES OF SHOALS, June 20th.

Leaving PIER WHARF, Portsmouth, on the arrival of the morning trains from Boston, Manchester and Concord, the SYBIL will touch first at Appledore and then at Star Island, and will return to Portsmouth in season for the afternoon trains.

The new, fast sailing, and beautiful Pilot Boat ONWARD, built in 1862 by George B. Preble, and now being rigged and fitted for the business, will be ready at all times to accommodate large or small parties in special trips to and from the Shoals, or in fishing excursions on the Pilot's cruising ground. For further particulars inquire at the Chronicle Office, or of

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for 6 number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

☞ To those who are not acquainted with Mr. Gottschalk's wonderful performances, we give an idea by copying the following critic from the St. Louis Republican:

"Gottschalk is the Monte Christo of piano players; the diamonds and pearls which flow from his fairy fingers are numerous beyond conception. In the "Last Hope and Murmurs Æolians," the gradual rise of the zephyr was expressed by a fine crescendo movement, until the full power of the instrument was brought into requisition, when, by a diminuendo movement, it was reduced to the finest pianissimo.

And what we most admired was the facility with which he produced the swell, a quality of tone hitherto denied the piano, but which he imparts to it by the skillful use of the pedal. For the encore piece, he gave a paraphrase on National Melodies, on which he produced an extraordinary imitation of the drum—an effect the cause of which we can hardly venture to guess. In this brilliant performance he maintained the thread of the national melodies at the same time. In exactitude, clearness, rapidity, sonority, power of sweep over the keys, of thrilling and iterating notes,—human fingers cannot surpass his."

☞ At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen held on Monday evening, several petitions to relay sidewalks were granted, in accordance with the recommendation of the committee.

The resignation of William Conn, Esq., as Assistant Marshal, was received and accepted.

A complaint that a well in Sheafe street was rendered dangerous to those passing through the street, by being left open, was referred to the committee on the Fire Department.

A petition that the name of Ann street be changed to Langdon street, was referred to the committee on streets, roads and bridges.

☞ It can never truly be said of Mr. Joseph Henderson, the well-known carver and gilder of this city, that "Dying, he made no Sign"—for he is continually turning out very handsome signs, of various styles, from his establishment on Church Hill. The "Chronicle" and The "Gazette" signs, among numerous others about, are good specimens of his sunken carved lettering; and a day or two since, we noticed him putting up a long and elegant sign, stretching almost entirely across the broad front of Capt. Towle's new auction and commission store,—black sanded, with raised gilt lettering, "George W. Towle's Salesroom." We believe in advertising of all sorts, and among other things, by a good sign—and should as soon think of being proud of any other rags and dirt, as of an old dilapidated sign, which some folks pretend to so highly regard.

Mr. Henderson is by no means the only man in town who makes a good sign, but we believe he is about the only one who carves many. As our advertising columns continually show,—Mr. Tripp or Mr. Scriggins will do you as neat a job in the painting, sanding and gilding line, as need be. And Mr. Coffin, too, has done some exceedingly creditable fancy work in this line—as for instance the landscape signs of Mr. Nathan Jones and Mr. Blaisdell, &c., but we regret that his undisputed taste and talent as a fancy painter and letterer have so early become exhausted by being overtaxed,—which we judge must be the case, from the fact that we have been so long waiting for him to paint a sign for the outer arm of a certain sign-post, in which we and many "enquiring friends" are interested.

☞ Brig Sabao, of Providence, which sailed from this port and was captured by the rebels on the 11th of April last, while at anchor near Newport News, and taken to Norfolk, was destroyed by fire, (together with her spars, sails, &c., which were on board sloop-of-war Plymouth) at the time of the evacuation of that city. The other vessels that were captured at the same time suffered a similar fate.

☞ The Ocean House, at Rye Beach, was sold at auction, on Tuesday, by Mr. S. A. Walker, of Boston, for $6,900. Messrs. Israel Marden, Jr., of this city, and Stephen Scammon, of Stratham, were the purchasers.

☞ As everybody knows, the first Thursday in June, (to-morrow) is the appointed day for "Governor Election," or rather inauguration, at Concord—and not Wednesday as stated, which is merely the day for preparation and organization.

☞ Lieut. Wilson McGunnegle, U. S. N. commanding, who was transferred from the command of the Sebago, at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, a month or two ago, is now in command of the celebrated gunboat St. Louis, of the Mississippi flotilla.

Dr. Gleason's description of a spittoon, in a fashionable drawing room, was one of the richest things we ever witnessed—it was richer, infinitely richer, than a pig-pen! He thought it taking the one step which separates the sublime from the ridiculous, when a young bride, before whom a young man has just been upon his knees, stoops to the filthy work of cleaning out his spitbox.—Bath Times.

The Sun of the Rebellion is no longer in the sign of the Ram

To Anxious Shepherds.—In reply to the numerous applicants who enquire of us where the Rams intended for the rebuilding of Rebellion are to be seen, we say, once for all, that they are to be seen in the Folds of the Anacondas.

The new style of ladies' bonnets is adverse to propulsion against high winds. A Lewiston man saw a lady who was obliged to hold on her "hat" with both hands, to the entire neglect of the crinoline.

The Smell of Burning Cotton.—Is it not with a view to their last bolt that the Rebels are now engaged in destroying their great staple?

A matter of sincere regret is, that old Hollins wasn't mounted on the back of his ram when that river-sheep went under.

Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but enjoys the following advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below will prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber—and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibres; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-FOURTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your Fruit Trees, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
Try it ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried stuff. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:
NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in hospital and private practice, and, since the latter has come into general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this made supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, your obedt. servts.

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, WILLARD PARKER & others:
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements for the supply and reliability with a pure article of copper-distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.
We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. BARRETT, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with the arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

SONNET.

There are no shadows where there is no sun;
There is no beauty where there is no shade;
And all things in two lines of beauty run,
Darkness and light, ebon and gold inlaid.
God comes among us through the shrouds of air,
And his dimmed track is like the silvery wake
Left by yon pinnace on the mountain lake,
Fading and reappearing, here and there.
The lamps and veils thro' heaven and earth tha move
Go in and out, as jealous of their light,
Like silvery stars upon a misty night.
Death is the shade of coming life, and Love
Yearns for her dear one in the holy tomb,
Because bright things are better seen in gloom.

ARTICLES

FOUND IN A KITCHEN TABLE DRAWER.

Three aprons, two dusters, the face of a pig,
A dirty jack towel, a dish clout and wig,
The foot of a stocking, three caps and a frill,
A busk and six buttons, a mouse trap and quill;
A comb and a thimble, with Madonna bands,
A box of spectacle, for cheps on the hands;
Some mace and cloves tied up in a rag,
An empty thread paper, and blue in a bag;
Some pieces of ribbon, both greasy and black,
A grater and nutmeg, the key of a jack;
An inch of wax candle, a steel and a flint;
A bundle of matches, a parcel of mint;
A lump of old suet, a crimp for the paste,
A pair of red garters, a belt for the waist;
A leg for the pudding, a wheatstone and string,
A penny cross bun and a new curtain ring;
Two teaspoons of lead, a large lump of rosin,
The feet of a hare, and corks by the dozen,
A card to tell fortunes, a sponge and a can,
A pen without ink, and a small petty pan;
A rolling pin pasted, and a common prayer-book,
Were the things that I found in the drawer of a cook.

Gen. Harney is living very quiet and retired, having recently bought a fine house in the "additioh," and comes into the city occasionally, attracting a good deal of attention by his fine soldierly bearing, yet devoid of all military trappings, his dress being a plain suit of black.—*St. Louis cor. WANTED, BEAUREGARD'S COUSIN.—It was mentioned, on the 15th, at the meeting of the Manchester Board of Guardians, that a warrant was being sought for the apprehension of an artist, named Andre Beauregard, who has left his wife chargeable to the township, and who claims to be a cousin of the hero of Bull Run.—English paper.

An Irish volunteer, whose life is insured for a few thousand dollars, went into the office in State street, Boston, a few days ago, and very innocently said: "Gintlemen, will ye be plaxed to give me a little o' that money in advance, as I'm going to the wars, and the Lord only knows if ever I'll live to come back agin." After a general roar of laughter, the company made him up a purse.

A "WORD" FROM THE FAMOUS

"LANE,"

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combining with great durability.

3d. We always keep very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper, it is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when not in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the place at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great variety of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business man greatly neglects their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to withdraw it, and we have tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me as much now, perhaps I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking the times are to be hard."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be treated from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,

For Physicians' Use,

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific. Highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

a few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine.

FRANKLIN HOUSE,

Portsmouth, N. H.

The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at hi, office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the world with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Inveterate, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Gravel, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements; are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases, and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Advices from the Valley of the Shenandoah indicate a race, in which, so far, Jackson has the lead. Gen. Fremont's army remained at Strasburg on Sunday night. At 6 o'clock Monday morning, the pursuit of the retreating enemy was resumed and vigorously conducted during the day. Gen. McDowell's advance reached Strasburg on Wednesday morning and was ordered forthwith to join in the pursuit. The cavalry and artillery of the enemy, to retard pursuit, endeavored to make a stand in three strong positions, but were driven rapidly and with loss from each. The roads and woods were strewn with arms, stores and clothing. A large number of prisoners have been taken. Our loss is one killed and several wounded. Gen. Fremont's rapid march, combined with Gen. McDowell's movement, has wholly relieved the Shenandoah valley and Northern Virginia.

It is stated that on Thursday last Gen. Stoneman broke up his camp and marched around Richmond, towards Petersburg.—He had with him a force of 25,000 men.

CONGRESS, Tuesday.—In the Senate, the bill against polygamy in the Territories was passed, 37 to 2.

In the House, a memorial that Western Virginia be admitted into the Union was referred. A bill passed, 86 against 37, recognizing the independence of Hayti and Liberia, and providing for diplomatic relations. Mr. Maynard of Tenn. spoke in favor of the bill, and Mr. Crittenden of Ky. opposed it. A consul general will be sent to each country. The bill had passed the Senate, previously, and only lacks the President's signature.

☞ Gov. Stanley, the new ruler of North Carolina, appointed by the President, has signalized his administration at the outset, by closing the schools for instructing negroes. He states that he is directed by the President to govern according to the laws of North Carolina,—and that one of her statutes makes it a crime to teach a negro or colored person to read: for this crime the penalty is death! Of course he decided against the schools. Our New England volunteers, who are down that way, must be delighted with the beauties of that system which makes it necessary to have such severe laws: but the "Southern heart" will despise all such base offerings, and spurn those who offer them.

INUNDATION IN ENGLAND.—The great plain in the Eastern part of England, known as the Fens, has been overflowed by the tide breaking through the barriers erected against it. That section, watered by the Ouse, the Neve and other rivers, comprises over one thousand square miles as level and low as Holland. By the bursting of a sluice near Lynn the sea rushed in over the country, laying, fifteen thousand acres under water the first tide. It was expected that on the next visitation one hundred and forty thousand acres would be inundated to the depth of several feet. Men and animals were driven from their dwellings, and produce was floating about or being destroyed. It was feared that the total loss will amount to more than one million sterling.

INDIAN INSURRECTION IN CALIFORNIA. The California papers relate that a formidable insurrection of Indians has broken out in the Owens river valley, in the southeastern part of that State. In two fights they are reported to have defeated the force of regular troops sent against them, numbering one hundred, besides seventy-five volunteers. An express was sent to Los Angeles for aid from Gen. Wright, who despatched prompt assistance. The old dispute about cattle stealing, encroachments, &c., is at the bottom.

BANKS' LOSS.—Official accounts give Banks' loss by his retreat from Strasburg as 65 killed, 144 wounded, 1042 missing.—When he was at Harrisonburg he had 20,000 men. Shields' division, 13,000, and Blenker's, 12,000, were taken from him, and he was left with only one-sixth of his original force, viz., 5000.

The rebels claim that Jackson, in his late movements, captured 4000 prisoners; i. e., about four times as many as Banks lost in the first place, many of whom have since returned, and many more been recaptured.

☞ The President has approved the act punishing frauds by officers making contracts. It requires officers making contracts to swear that they have concluded the same without any benefit or advantage to themselves. The penalty is not less than $100 and imprisonment.

☞ The official report of the Sec. of the Treasury states that the public debt on the 29th of May, was $491,445,984, at the average rate of interest.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

PHENIX HOTEL,
CONCORD, June 4, 1861.

Dear Chronicle:—This afternoon, when there was to have been a drill of the Horse Guards, is better occupied with a delightful "summer-rain,"—and so, as there is to be no training,—while the sabre remains in scabbard, I will do the next best thing, and handle the "mightier" weapon for a little. Concord is full of people, as usual at "Election" time, and all hope for a fair day and a good time on Thursday.

The Great and General Court, now improperly called the Legislature, has been organized this morning by the election of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, of Portsmouth, as President of the Senate,—with Messrs. Preston and Bartlett, the Clerks of last year, re-elected. Hon. E. H. Rollins, of Somersworth, is also re-elected Speaker of the House, and on taking his seat, made a very neat, brief, and telling speech. Sam'l D. Lord, of Manchester, is chosen Clerk, and Benj. Gerrish, Jr., of Dover, Assistant Clerk.

The Governor will be inaugurated on Thursday, of course, and I will send you his Address in season for Friday morning. It is reported to be patriotic and anti-slavery, (whether the two be incompatible or synonymous, each will judge for himself,) to the back-bone, and will be found interesting to all who regard "New Hampshire Items."

Yours ever,
IND.

☞ The steamer Elizabeth, of Nassau, valued at $500,000, was captured, May 26, off Charleston, S. C., by the blockading fleet.

MARYLAND.—The Baltimore American, an able and loyal paper, contains the following remarks, on the condition and prospects of the State of Maryland, and the duties which her citizens owe to themselves:

"Let it be impressed upon all here, that as the merest measure of prudence, of self-defence—to say nothing of the nobler instincts of patriotism—we must conclude to absolutely cut loose from all entangling alliances on the subject of slavery. Circumstances beyond our control have, in a manner, isolated us on this question, and it is a fact we must recognize. Virginia, to day, is no more to us on this question than South Carolina, and we must disregard the counsels or dictation or views of one just as absolutely as the other, if we would be true to ourselves after what has occurred. Neither, in this case, has any more claim to our consideration than Texas or New Mexico when the question is up to settle upon a policy for ourselves. What the Constitution prescribes, and what it permits us to do, that let us do, so that it is in accordance with our duty to ourselves.

We insist upon this, because it is apparent that many among us are yet looking back over their shoulders at the Rebel States, with a purpose that comes of habit to postpone action to a future consultation with them. It is too late. A stronger power is in the field to pronounce upon their destinies, and they must abide the consequences of their action in the best manner they can. Determined at present to force us away from the shelter of the Constitution to a position in their accursed Confederacy, our people are butchered after they have ceased to resist, as an evidence that the rebels are in earnest; and it is time, therefore, in simple justice to ourselves, to prove that we also are in earnest, and that, too, by any and every means in our power.

Maryland must realize at last that the time for idle trifling is past—that, as one of the most important States in the Union, she must no longer consent quietly to rest at anchor under the lee of Virginia, or of any, or all, of the rebel States, waiting to see what one or the other will do, but she must originate a policy of her own in relation to that interest of slavery the rebel States have placed in jeopardy. With regard to this matter, let the State recognize its absolute 'sovereignty,' that term which, however abused to mischievous purposes on other points, means all that it suggests in this case, and which that noble Constitution madmen would destroy recognizes in the fullest manner. Have we not the manliness here in Maryland to take such a stand? We shall see."

☞ The Federal loss in killed and wounded at the battles near Richmond on Saturday and Sunday is reported to be 3000, (not 300, as telegraphed to the evening papers of Tuesday.)

☞ Gen. Sigel has assumed command of the post at Harper's Ferry, relieving Gen. Saxton. Brig. Gen. Carl Schurz has been assigned to the Mountain Department of Gen. Fremont.

☞ A letter in the New York Post says Government has lately made several arrests at Washington, some of whom were women. Spies have abounded for the last two weeks. It is now considered certain by the War Department that a Southern rebel officer spent several days in Washington week before last, and visited the fortifications around the city, afterward retiring to Dixie. Every movement of our troops is instantly known in Richmond, and by all the leading rebel generals in all parts of the South.

☞ Somebody suggested to Gen. Ben. Butler, that assassins might take him off if he rode around New Orleans carelessly.—Perhaps so, was his answer; and then Gen. Phelps will be in command,—if they like that any better. Phelps is the general who issued the proclamation of freedom at Ship Island.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A correspondent of the Newbury port Herald thus mentions Exeter:—

Exeter is the handsomest, cleanest, quietest and most aristocratic little place in democratic New Hampshire. The streets are almost as broad as the avenues of Washington, and look as if they were swept every morning before sunrise. They are invariably lined with shade trees of every description, while nearly every house—the invariable white house with green blinds—has a spacious front yard planted with flowers and shrubbery. The town is built round the falls of Exeter river, at the head of tide water, navigable for vessels of 200 tons, and there is a current superstition that the water is improved by sundry paper, powder and cotton mills, machine shops, &c., though judging from the Sunday-like quiet that pervades the place, and the elegant leisure in which all the inhabitants seem to indulge, they are not particularly driven with business. We believe the truth is that the people here are all in tolerably easy circumstances, and therefore under no immediate necessity of breaking their necks in any new enterprise.

—— The Patriot states that it is understood that Col. Gilmore proposed Nat Head, of Hooksett, for Lt. Col. of the 9th Regiment, and N. B. Bryant, now residing in Massachusetts, for Major; but the Governor and Council, last week, manifested a very decided disinclination to confirm these selections, objecting particularly to the latter. The matter was "laid over," and is to be decided this week.

—— The Eighth N. H. Regiment left Ship Island on the 19th ult., for New Orleans, rejoiced to leave the sand banks where they had been located.

—— The Manchester Mirror says the Eighth Regiment have been gone five months and have not yet received a dollar. There is not a copper in the whole regiment for spending money.

GOTTSCHALK'S CONCERT.—Surely no urging is necessary to induce all true lovers of music, among our citizens, to attend the Concert to be given at the Temple this (Thursday) evening. The name of Gottschalk alone is sufficient to attract all who can appreciate the exquisite touch and brilliant execution which have rendered his name famous, while the attractions offered by the addition of those who are associated with him, seem to forbid the possibility of this concert proving other than one of the most successful and most pleasing ever given in our city. Indeed, it is not often that our citizens are favored with an entertainment which combines at once so great attractions and is given by such eminent performers, and we trust that they will manifest, by a large attendance, their appreciation of fine music accurately rendered.

The Providence Post thus refers to the concert given in that city on Monday last:—

Gottschalk's Concert last evening was, for the celebrated pianist, a complete ovation from beginning to end. The house was crowded, and since the days of Sontag and Thalberg, we do not remember having seen in any hall in our city so fashionable and appreciative an audience. Gottschalk, of course, was the attraction of the evening. The great pianist played the transcription of Miserere of Trovatore, in superb style. His trills are wonderful; the clearness, simplicity, and dazzling rapidity of his most complicated "arpeggios" are unparalleled. The quality of tone he draws from the piano is entirely new at times, imitating the organ and the human voice. His Murmur's Eolians and Last Hope are two little poems full of tenderness and pathos. The Fantasia on Favorita and the Banjo, were magnificent displays of all Gottschalk's peculiarities of style and of execution. Of course the young and celebrated pianist was re-called each time by his enthusiastic audience, and had to play several additional pieces in order to satisfy the wish of his innumerable hearers. What we like in Gottschalk is not only his genius and wonderful performances; it is the perfect simplicity and gentlemanly ease with which he receives the unequivocal marks of general admiration.—He is a distinguished man as much as a great artist, and we understand that he is about to publish a book of travels and studies on the æsthetic of art.

Madame de Lussan has a powerful Soprano voice. She sings with great taste, and her style is of the purest school. Her rendering of Meyerbeer's "Grace" was most effective.

Brignoli sang charmingly. He was encored in a romanza composed by Gottschalk, which he interpreted with exquisite taste.

Susini's magnificent voice sounded as well as ever; and Amodio won, by his intelligent rendering of Ernani's Romanza, the favor of the public.

POLICE COURT, Tuesday.—Daniel Cotton, for drunkenness, was fined $3 and costs, taxed at $3.86. Committed.

Frank Brown was complained of for riding through the streets in the compact part of the town at a faster rate than five miles an hour: fined $3 and costs, taxed at $4.80.

Wednesday.—A boy, about twelve years of age, for throwing stones, was fined $1, and costs taxed at $3.86.

George Kimball, for stealing three silver forks from W. Freeman's Oyster Saloon, was sentenced to pay a fine of $3 and costs, and three times the value of the property stolen,—amounting in all to $19.80

☞ Dr. A. P. Stevens, who is already known to many of our citizens, has taken rooms No. 5 Daniel street, for the practice of dentistry. He has heretofore practiced his profession principally in Dover, but was for a time associated with Dr. N. L. Folsom in this city.

☞ C. P. Walcott, of Ohio, has been appointed Asst. Secretary of War, in place of Col. Scott, resigned.

☞ A rebel flag, taken by the Mass. 9th Regt. at Hanover Court House, on the 27th of May, has been presented to the city of Boston.

☞ No three months' men will be called for in Massachusetts, under any orders now received from the War Department.

A NOBLE PURPOSE AND THE GLORIOUS RESULT.—There are as many roads to fame and fortune as there were gateways to ancient Thebes. Your ambitious warrior is for carving his way with the sabre—Your aspiring politician for manœuvring his way by subtlety and consummate art; but there is one broad grand path to the goal, along which nothing base can travel. It is the path set apart for the march of talent, energy, and noble purpose, and though full of obstacles, it contains none which a great man cannot surmount.—This fact has been exemplified in innumerable instances, but in few more forcibly than in the career of Dr HOLLOWAY, of London. For twenty-five years he may be said to have been climbing scattering blessings at every step. He appears to have reached the summit at last. The staff upon which he has leaned in his ascent has been ADVERTISING, and by its aid he has not only realized a world-wide celebrity and a splendid fortune, but has been enabled to familiarize millions of the sick with the healing properties of his pills and ointment, who would never otherwise have been benefited thereby. The victims of dyspepsia in this country, and unfortunately their name is legion, have good cause to rejoice that so wide a publicity has been given to the virtues of his pills through the columns of the American press; for, if we are rightly informed, they have cured and are now curing more cases of it is distressing complaint than all other medicines combined. We hear, too, of many cures of scrofula and other external disorders by the ointment, which if they were not vouched for by the best authority, we should pronounce incredible. These medicines seem to do what no other advertised medicines have ever done before—FULFIL THE PROMISES OF THE ADVERTISEMENT.—[N. Y. Police "Gazette."

"The steep
Where Fame's proud temple shines afar,"

RESTORATION OF DISABLED SOLDIERS.—Quite a number of the officers and soldiers who lost their legs at Bull Run and Ball's Bluff, have visited Boston, and been so perfectly restored by Palmer and Co. of that city, that their loss is not observable, and in several instances they have returned to the army. The great value of the "Palmer Artificial Leg" is now being understood. 1t

THIS EVENING.

THE TEMPLE.

GOTTSCHALK & BRIGNOLI'S

OPERA AND CONCERT COMPANY.

L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

The public is respectfully informed that the emineut Pianiste-Virtuoso and Composer, L. M. GOTTSCHALK, whose successes in the principal cities of Europe, in the West Indies, and more recently in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all the Western cities, have been unparalleled in the history of American Art, will give in Portsmouth, in combination with

SIGNOR BRIGNOLI,

The great Tenor, ONLY ONE

Grand Concert,

On THURSDAY EVENING, June 5th.

The extraordinary executive power and striking originality of Mr. Gottschalk as a Pianist and Composer, place him indisputably in the foremost rank of living Artists. The ablest critics of Europe and America have freely acknowledged his extraordinary claims, and an audience of his countrymen has never been wanting to confirm the highest encomiums that have been passed upon his genius. The following eminent artists will appear:

MADAME DE LUSSAN, the celebrated Dramatic Prima Donna, from the Grand Opera, Paris, and Academies of Music, New York and Boston.

SIGNOR AMODIO, the eminent Baritone, brother of the late lamented great Amodio.

SIGNOR SUSINI, the famous Basso.

BRIGNOLI and GOTTSCHALK.

Musical Director and Conductor, Signor MUZIO, Chef de Orchestra of New York Academy of Music.

Admission to all parts of the Hall, 50 cents. Reserved seats, 25 cents extra, which can be secured on Wednesday, at 10 A.M., at Music Store of S. F. Cobb, 3½ Pleasant street, and Drug Store of Wm. R. Preston, 15 Congress St.

The Piano used by Mr GOTTSCHALK, are from the celebrated manufactory of Chickering & Son, Boston.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomiting all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which totally cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines will have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26tp

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least, and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a bed-quilt or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and every purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Manures.

J. F. SHORES, Jr.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, POTATOES. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS.

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with pure article of Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the Boston Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

THE MORNING SONG.

I.

Oh, come! for the lily
Is white on the lea;
Oh, come! for the wood-doves
Are pair'd on the tree;
The lark sings with dew
On her wings and her feet;
The thrush pours its ditty,
Long, varied, and sweet:
We will go where the twin hares
Midst fragrance have been,
And with flowers I will weave thee
A crown like a queen.

II.

Oh, come! hear the throstle
Invites you aloud;
And soft comes the plover's cry
Down from the cloud:
The stream lifts its voice,
And yon lily's begun
To open its lips
And drink dew in the sun:
The sky laughs in light,
Earth rejoices in green—
Oh, come, and I'll crown thee
With flowers like a queen!

III.

Oh, haste! for the shepherd
Hath waken'd his pipe,
And led out his lambs
Where the blackberry's ripe:
The bright sun is fasting
The dew on the thyme;
The gay maiden's lilting
An old bridal-rhyme:
There is joy in the heaven
And gladness on earth—
So, come to the sunshine,
And mix in the mirth.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"L A N E'S?"

There are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "ready cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

A D V E R T I S E!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

L I F E O F T R A D E!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men, greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most active. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers are in it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time, after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a household want, its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,

For Physicians' Use,

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the Juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

a few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine:

LETTER FROM TENNESSEE.

CALYOKEE, Tenn., May 27, 1862.

Friend M.:—Since I got your letter at Nashville, I have rejoined the bridge-building gang and am at work at this place,—about 60 miles south of Nashville, on the railroad leading to Decatur, Ala. Our progress has been rather slow, for the rebels had destroyed all the bridges of any length on the road. But this week we have plenty of help, soldiers having been detached to assist us.

The people around here, though they all incline to secession sympathy, are very civil to us. They know it is useless for them to offer resistance or indignity, and self interest makes them conduct themselves properly. Last Sunday, I, with three others, went on an exploring expedition through the country. We went twelve or fifteen miles, and were entirely unarmed. Many of the farms are in the hands of the negroes solely. We visited several and got plenty of strawberries and cream. One house at which we stopped, was occupied by a woman and her four children. Her husband, she stated, was in the rebel army against his will. He tried hard not to go, but they told him if he did not volunteer he would be drafted and would fare much worse.—They promised to provide for his family while he was gone, but, she stated, she had never had anything yet except a little corn meal occasionally. We asked her to get us some dinner, and she killed and boiled a chicken, and baked a corn dodger; she did not wish to receive any pay, but we each gave her 25 cents, for which she appeared very grateful.

All the negroes were pleased to see the Yankees. We were the first that they had seen—that is most of them, as the army had marched on the other road. They wanted to know if we really were Yankees, saying they "didn't like to call gemmens out of their names," &c. In fact, the negroes enjoy the state of the country very much, and welcome the invaders with broad grins and pleasant words. They are always willing to tell what they know, but that isn't much.

We also attended a meeting at a little log meeting-house, about five miles from our encampment. I expected to hear a good rebel sermon, but was mistaken.—There was not even a prayer offered for the Southern Confederacy, or the success of the Southern arms,—the nearest approach to anything political being a prayer that peace might be restored and good well throughout the land. Yours, N. S. P

WHICH REMINDS US OF A LITTLE STORY.—The Mayor of New Orleans in surrendering that thrifty municipality to Commodore Farragut, intimates that the act is wholly due to compulsion—in fact, not to put too fine a point on it, he surrenders the city because he can't help himself. He adds that his people are "sensitive," and gives us to understand that although conquered, they still repudiate the Star Spangled Banner. This reminds us of the perverse inebriate, who having fallen under the festive board at a disgracefully early hour, was strongly urged by his friends to go out and take the air. "Never," he said—"a billion times never!" But they nevertheless took him quietly up and set him out on the door-stone. "I'm out here," he said, "by Brute force. Thaz way (hic) I'm out here; but 'f yer shink I'm goin' (hic) to take er air, yer very much 'staken!"—Fanity Fair.

PROSPECTS.—There is good promise of an excellent harvest throughout the North and West, and the yield will be as abundant as that of last year, if storms and droughs do not interpose. From the Gulf States we learn that the wheat fields are pretty generally blighted. This appears to be the case in Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, and the probability is that the cotton States, so far from having an abundant crop of grain this year, are likely enough to be ravaged by a famine, more or less severe, according to the proximity of places to the rebel camps. As the border States will hardly be able to supply their own wants, an immense demand for produce from the Northwest must spring up everywhere in the South, as the tide of war recedes towards the Gulf.—Bost. Cour.

SUICIDE.—Thomas G. Dickson, an Irishman about 65 years of age, committed suicide by hanging himself in the cellar of his house, in Portland, on Tuesday. His first wife was killed just one year ago, by being run over by a market wagon, and on Tuesday morning he remarked to his present wife and others, that he should not live the day out.

☞ It is estimated that at least 60,000 militia can be brought into service before the 10th inst., thus setting free for active duty the very large force now engaged in guarding cities, forts and railroads.

THE REBELLION.

A letter from Gen. Hunter's department announces the capture of the rebel fortifications at Stono Inlet, and the occupation of the rear approaches to Charleston by the Union gunboats.

1600 federal prisoners of Gen. Prentiss's division, taken at Pittsburg Landing, have been paroled, the rebels being unable to feed them.

Jackson's advance guard was at New Market, Va., on Monday night, his whole army being still on the retreat.

On Wednesday Gen. Pope with 40,000 men was thirty miles south of Corinth.—He had already captured 10,000 prisoners and deserters, fifteen thousand stand of arms, 9 locomotives and a number of cars. Beauregard himself was badly frightened when he heard that our troops had cut the railroad on the line of retreat, and, it is said, told his men to save themselves the best way they could.

Pensacola is still occupied by our troops, who are fortifying the place. The Navy Yard was completely destroyed, and about 6000 tons of coal are still burning. Rebel deserters are constantly coming in. Gen. Arnold is feeding the poor, who are very destitute.

A dispatch from Gen. Halleck's headquarters, says a man who left Grand Junction on Wednesday morning, states that Memphis and Fort Pillow surrendered to our forces Friday night.

The Fortress Monroe correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says Government has suppressed much news concerning the recent fighting near Richmond, and not an item can be obtained by telegraph, even by Congressmen.

EXCITEMENT AT NEWBERN, N. C.—Advices from Newbern show considerable excitement existing there, owing to Gov. Stanley returning a slave to his owner, and his subsequent rescue by Massachusetts soldiers, who in the heat of anger, set his house on fire. The Times' Washington, N. C., correspondent states that an order has been issued to search every steamer and vessel leaving that port, for the purpose of stopping any colored people found on board with a design of going to the North. Certain captains of vessels, he states, will be subject to arrest on their arrival in New York, on charges of carrying away black persons from the State.

The same correspondent states that a perfect panic prevails among the fugitives in our lines. Many have fled, and it is thought that some will go to the rebel lines, and in order to make friends with them reveal important facts touching the condition of affairs in that Department. The slaves express the greatest horror at the prospect of being sent back.

☞ A petition was in circulation at the Capitol on Monday, and was signed by many Senators and Representatives, praying for the promotion of Gen. Heintzleman to a Major Generalship, in recognition of his gallant and meritorious conduct at Williamsburg and on the Chickahominy, in both of which actions, according to the accounts so far received, the brunt of the conflict fell upon him.

☞ Mr. Nath'l S. Grant, engineer of a train from Portland on Wednesday, heard a rattling under the engine, while crossing Back Cove bridge, and leaning out of the cab to see what caused it, was struck by one of the rods of the draw and precipitated overboard. The train was immediately stopped and a brakeman, Mr. Partridge, descended on one of the piles of the pier attached to the draw, and caught Mr. Grant by the hair as he was floating past. He had sunk twice previously, and had he been one foot further off he could not have been reached. His right side was paralyzed by the blow. Mr. Partridge kept his head up until ropes were placed around his body and he was taken ashore.

☞ A German lady, highly educated in her own language, but innocent of English, entered an intelligence office in Philadelphia the other day, with an inquiry for a "German Biddy." The inquiry caused a smile upon the faces of several ladies whose presence there was owing to a similar errand. The lady of the first party took for granted that the word Biddy was the translation of the German word for "domestic help." The intelligence office man was too shrewd to cachinate over the mistake, and at once trotted out the article in question—"a German Biddy."

☞ The Syracuse Standard has heard of a case that it thinks ought to be published. A bare-footed boy in that city found a note for $250, in favor of an opulent citizen, and took great pains to find the owner of the note and hand it to him. The "poor but honest" boy was rewarded for his trouble with a bright ten cent piece.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In entering for a second term on the duties of Chief Executive Magistrate of New Hampshire, I desire to express my thanks for the renewed confidence reposed in me.

In the troublesome times through which we have passed, and are passing, I have felt deeply the responsibility of my position, and enter anew on its duties with much hesitation. I believe, however, that the spirit of the people is equal to any emergency necessary to sustain the institutions secured to us by the blood and patriotism of our fathers, and that, in times like the present, forgetting past dissensions, the great mass of our people will rally unitedly to the support of all just measures to maintain the cause of the country.—Experience has shown us that, under the guidance of a Divine Providence, we must rely upon ourselves; that our national greatness, though it has always been exercised with great forbearance to all other nations, has excited merely their envy, and a desire has been openly expressed, by their prominent leaders, that our nation may be crippled and shorn of its strength. The injustice thus manifested should teach us our true danger, and that our strength lies in union. No people have ever before raised a volunteer force of such magnitude, so thoroughly armed and equipped, and so well provided with all the necessaries and comforts of soldiers in arms, as the loyal masses of the Union have sent into the rebel cause; and, if needed to quell the rebellion, or to meet foreign enemies, this number could be readily doubled.

There can be but one result to the struggle in which we are engaged—submission to the first principles of government inaugurated and established by our fathers. The inheritance we have received from them, we are sacred to our posterity. Foreign thrones and dynasties may change, but the institutions of FREEDOM, as established and administered here by WASHINGTON, and those of his successors who have been actuated by a like spirit, were designed for all time. Whatever in them was partable or temporary, owing to the ill-judged wrongs of the mother country, time, they felt assured, would heal, and ultimately relieve us from. It was designed that this country should expand in the spirit of liberty; that this spirit should grow with its growth and strengthen with its strength, and everything alien to it should die out, and gradually pass away; yet, so cautiously guarded against by the great power of freedom, of which our flag was to be the chosen symbol, wherever it might wave. A base, rebellious spirit has, however, attempted to reverse this order of things, and make an institution national, fundamental, and permanent, which was originally only sectional, conditional, and temporary. This bane, which once extended largely over the whole Union, it was supposed the increase of just sentiments of moral and religious obligation, would gradually limit and terminate. The progress of the age, and regard to the true honor and permanent prosperity of our nation, demanded this result.—Higher motives than these demand it. We may well tremble in view of this national sin, when, like Jefferson, "we reflect that God is just." The people of this country have determined that this alarming evil shall not pass beyond the original bounds prescribed to it; that it shall not master, control, and turn to its own selfish purposes, the constitution and government of the country. They have determined to crush back the hydra to his den, and let it die out as our fathers designed it should die, under the progress of enlightened wisdom, and that philanthropy and charity which, in its distinct march, in time bring good will to all men. The fearful lesson we have had in the conflict with slavery; its disasters to all its promoters; its evident weakness in its death struggle with freedom—a portend a change in the estimation in which this great evil will hereafter be held, and foretell, in legible characters, written in view of all the nations, that its days are numbered.

With these views, I most fully concur in the late Message of the patriotic Chief Magistrate of the nation, in which he regards it as the duty of the National Government to contribute, by its means, in aid of any State that shall desire to remove this national evil. I also rejoice with you that, under the order of things now existing, the curse of slavery has been removed from our National Capital—Its toleration there has been a reproach to our nation, and productive of much evil. But a new era has arrived, the progress of which will not be backward. The prohibition of slavery in the Territories by Congress will also meet the hearty approval of our people. The several movements to this extent, I regard as clearly within the limits of the Constitution. Beyond this lies the principle that each State, submitting to the provisions of the Constitution, should control its own local institutions; but such submission should be regarded as a prerequisite to the enjoyment of the benefits of that instrument. The support of the Constitution and the Union should be our watchword. All should unite on this ground, and there is no other certain way to final triumph over the internal and external enemies of our country.

In my message of last June, I called the attention of the Legislature to the importance of a well-organized militia as "the proper, natural, and sure defense of a State." The necessity of such an organization has been seen and felt by many of our citizens for years, and especially during the year past. Had such an organization existed in this State when the Rebellion commenced, and the requisition was made by the President for aid in its suppression, troops could have been recruited, officered, equipped, and prepared for service, with far greater facility and much less expense to the State, than was in our power under the nominal system then existing. At the last session of the Legislature a militia law was passed, but no general organization has been made under it. Its provisions may not be in all respects what is wanted at the present time, and I respectfully suggest, for your consideration, the propriety of revising the militia law that was in force twenty-five or thirty years ago, with such few alterations as may be considered necessary and proper to adapt it to the circumstances of the present time. I consider it far preferable to any law or system since adopted, and more efficient and economical. Patriotism and love of country, and desire for the maintenance and enjoyment of our free institutions, should be a sufficient inducement for doing military duty two or three days in a year, as was required by the law alluded to. Such service should never be considered an unreasonable burden. A military department in our college, academies, and even in some of our common schools, may be a subject worthy of your consideration. During the many years of peace and quiet in our country, the keeping up an efficient organization of the militia has been considered by many an unnecessary and unreasonable burden. A different lesson has now been taught us, and I trust it will not soon be forgotten.

The State Treasurer's Report shows the ordinary finances of the State to be in a satisfactory condition. The details of receipts and disbursements will be before you. The State debt, above assets on hand, was, on the 1st day of June, 1861, $31,668.93. The indebtedness has been reduced the past year $26,005.90, leaving the ordinary debt of the State, June 1, 1862, $5,663.03.

In pursuance of the law of the last session of the Legislature, appropriating one million of dollars for recruiting, arming, and equipping troops for the service of the United States for suppressing the Rebellion and sustaining the supremacy of the government, eight regiments have been raised and sent into the United States service. One, for three months, mustered into service on the 7th of May, 1861; which returned, and was mustered out of the service on the 9th of August, 1861. Seven regiments raised for three years or during the war; one battery of artillery, three companies of sharpshooters, and four companies of cavalry, which are now in the service. The whole number of enlistments, since the first requisition by the President, amounts to 9,197 men, and we believe a more intelligent and patriotic body of men have never been enrolled in the United States service. The sums paid for recruiting and equipping the several regiments and companies amount to eight hundred and ninety-three thousand three hundred and thirty-three dollars and twenty-six cents; the details of which will be found in the State Treasurer's Report.

The Board of Trustees and the Superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane will duly present their reports for your consideration, which I trust will meet your entire approbation. That humane and highly beneficial institution has done far more than fulfilled the most sanguine expectation of its founders and friends, and it will, no doubt, continue to receive the fostering care of the State.

The House of Reformation for Juvenile and Female Offenders is an institution second only in importance to the Asylum for the Insane. It should engage the interest, and pity, and liberal patronage of the Legislature. There were reported in the institution, April 30, 1861, 53 boys and 8 girls; total, 61.

The Report of the Board of Trustees and Superintendent, giving in detail the management and administration of the institution for the past year, will be submitted to you. The great increase of inmates, and, consequently, the increase of expenditures for bedding, furniture, &c., has caused the trustees to ask for a liberal appropriation, which, I hope, may receive your early attention and approval.

The State Prison continues to be self-sustaining. The Report of the Warden shows the income above expenditures for eleven months ending the 30th day of April, to be $1,195.40. Notwithstanding the depression in business from the effects of the war, its affairs appear to have been successfully managed, and the condition and discipline of the prison has been satisfactory. A strict supervision, however, should be kept over it by the State, to insure the best and permanent welfare of the institution.

The Bank Commissioners were directed by me to make a full and thorough examination of the affairs and condition of each bank, which duty I believe they have faithfully performed. They report the banks to be in a sound and prosperous condition. The whole amount of banking capital, as reported by the Bank Commissioners of 1861, was $5,131,000. During the year the State Capital, as of record, has reduced its capital stock $30,000; the Mechanics and Traders Bank at Portsmouth, $42,800; the Indian Head Bank, at Nashua, $30,000; amounting in all to $102,800. The stockholders of the Bank of New Hampshire, at Portsmouth, have voted to reduce their capital stock $60,000. The Pawtuckaway Bank, at Epping, have voted to close up the concerns of that bank. These reductions will still further diminish the banking capital of the State $110,000.

The whole number of Saving institutions in the State is twenty-seven, with an aggregate of assets of $5,960,229.26; the amount due depositors $5,658,686.46; the amount of surplus, $206,943.79. The amount due depositors, as appears by the Bank Commissioners' Report of last year, was $5,590,652-18, showing an increase during the year of $62,933.28. The Dartmouth Savings Bank has been organized and gone into operation during the past year.

No department of the State Government is more important than the Judiciary. That department, under the present organization, has been so well administered that no radical change is called for at present. If we are careful to make good laws, we may be confident they will be impartially administered by the court as now instituted. Frequent changes should not be made in this department, unless necessity clearly demands it.

The cause of education demands the encouragement and support of careful and judicious legislation. No other function of the civil authority affects more directly and powerfully the prosperity and happiness of the whole population; and I would especially commend to the fostering care and watchful attention of the Legislature, the common schools of the State, with such provision for their regular examination and supervision, by persons duly appointed for this purpose by the State, as shall tend most to promote their usefulness.

I have received the following communication from the U. S. Treasury Department:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
November 29, 1861.

"SIR—I have the honor to call your attention to the act of August 5, 1861, levying a direct tax, and apportioning it among the several States.—The amount apportioned to New Hampshire is $215,506 62. The fifth section of the act provides, that any State or territory, and the District of Columbia, may lawfully assume, assess, collect and pay into the treasury of the United States, the direct tax, or its quota thereof, imposed by this act upon the state, territory or the District of Columbia, in its own way and manner, by and through its own officers, assessors and collectors; and any such state, territory or district which shall give notice by the governor, or other proper officer thereof, to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, on or before the second Tuesday of February next, of its intention to assume and pay, or to assess, collect and pay into the treasury of the United States the direct tax imposed by this act, shall be entitled to a deduction of fifteen per cent. on the quota of direct tax apportioned to such state: Provided, that the deduction shall only be made to apply to such part or parts of the same as shall have been actually paid into the treasury of the United States, on or before the last day of June, in the year to which such payment relates.

"Will you inform me, at the earliest practicable period, whether the authorities of New-Hampshire will assume and pay the amount of direct tax apportioned to that state by the existing law; and also whether, in case of any change in the law by which a different and perhaps larger amount shall be apportioned to the State, the authorities will probably assume and pay it.

I am, very respectfully,
S. P. CHASE.
Secretary of the Treasury.

To His Excellency, NATHANIEL S. BERRY, Governor of the State of New Hampshire."

To which communication I returned the following answer:

"STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,
Executive Department,
Concord, Dec. 12, 1862.

HON. SALMON P. CHASE, Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.:

SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 29th ultimo, calling my attention to the act of Congress, August 5, 1861, laying a direct tax and apportioning it among the several States; that the amount apportioned to this State is $215,506,62; and after reciting at length the 53th section of said act, you ask, "Will you inform me at the earliest practicable period, whether the authorities of New Hampshire will assume and pay the direct tax apportioned to that state by the existing law? and also whether, in case of any change in the law by which a different and perhaps larger amount shall be apportioned to the State, the authorities will probably assume and pay it?"

In answer, I would say that, in order that our State may avail itself of the advantages of said act, you are hereby notified and assured that it is the intention of the authorities of this state to assume and pay such direct tax into the treasury of the United States, agreeably to the provisions of said act. And, in case of any change in the law, which even a larger amount shall be apportioned to this State it will probably be assumed and paid, as aforesaid.

I respectfully suggest that it may be the wish of our State, if agreeable to the Department, to allow, in the form of a just and reasonable set-off against said direct tax, such just debts and claims as may be due and owing from the General Government to the Treasurer of this State, lawfully created and allowed, to furnish troops, agreeably to the acts of Congress on that subject. We also with pleasure assure you that New Hampshire will pay her men and money, furnish her full proportion of the means requisite to crush out this unholy rebellion, at such times and occasions as the General Government shall demand.

Very respectfully,
NATHANIEL S. BERRY,
Governor of New-Hampshire."

I have been informed by the Secretary of the Treasury that the set-off can be made as suggested in the foregoing communication.—The Legislature will take such measures in relation to said tax as to them may seem proper. The accounts of expenditures by the State for raising and equipping troops for the service, &c., amounting to $879,483.71, have been forwarded to the Treasury Department to be by them audited.

I received an order from the Secretary of War, dated May 20, 1862, to raise one Regiment of Infantry immediately, and to do every thing in my power to urge enlistments.—I at once called the Council together, and made arrangements for recruiting and organizing the regiment without any delay, agreeably to said order, and the regiment is now being recruited. I trust it will have the encouragement and influence of all the citizens of the State.

I cannot close without expressing the heartfelt desire that in this great crisis of our country we may exert, in our several spheres of duty, every effort in our power to sustain and transmit unimpaired to posterity the great and glorious government bequeathed to us by our ancestors.

NATHANIEL S. BERRY.

CONGRESS, Wednesday.—In the Senate, the resolution allowing a premium for recruits, and advance, was passed; also a bill suspending further payments for the Department of the West. The tax bill was considered.

In the House the vote rejecting the bill freeing the slaves of rebels, was reconsidered, and one or two amendments offered.

BEAR-BAITING IN VERMONT.—A young Vermonter, who owned a pet black bear, was bantered recently by a couple of young sportsmen from Boston, who had gone up to the wilds of the Green Mountain State for a hunt, to let them try their dogs (three rather powerful creatures) upon his pet, he (the bear) to be chained to a post about 12 feet long. The Vermont boy, unable to resist the appeal of five new and bright half dollars, and having faith in his pet, agreed to the trial. The result was three dead dogs, two mortified Bostonians, one triumphant bear and a jubilant Vermont juvenile.

☞ A merchant ship was rescued from Chinese pirates recently and taken into Amoy by H. M. gunboat Cockchafer, together with a large piratical junk, mounting fourteen guns. Forty-seven prisoners were also taken, fourteen of whom were beheaded.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so far I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1863. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure in my case; and would add, that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT:—Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle of Dr. SWETT'S medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

☞ We see by our exchanges that many of the cities and towns in this portion of the country, are making arrangements for the public celebration of the approaching 4th of July. We know not that any steps have yet been taken in this city to secure a public celebration here, but it has been suggested that a regatta upon the Piscataqua might easily be made an interesting feature of the day. There are at the present time a large number of fast boats on the river, manned by stalwart crews; and, we doubt not, should those who have proposed to undertake the matter, carry it through successfully, it would prove of considerable interest to our citizens, and add not a little to the pleasure of the day. And if we are not misinformed, a great amount of labor is hardly necessary to ensure a regatta in which an unusually large number of boats will participate.

AID TO SOLDIERS' FAMILIES.—The Relief Committee, of this city, have extended aid to the families of ninety-five volunteers, and the whole amount paid out by them, up to May 24, was $6940.19. Of this, the State will pay back $4633.15, in accordance with the provisions of the act passed by the State Legislature in July last. The whole number of persons aided by the Committee is 193. The provision made by our city government for the relief of the families of the soldiers, has been unusually liberal.

☞ Mr. Joseph W. Rogers, a member of Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment, arrived at home on Thursday, having received his discharge on account of sickness. He had been in the hospital for some time.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— In Manchester, the Amoskeag corporation pays a tax of $20,469.27. The Stark pays $7,968.52. The Manchester pays $11,425.51. The Langdon pays $1284.48. The largest individual tax is that of S. N. Bell, Esq., who pays $841.65. There are about one hundred and forty residents, corporations, individuals and companies, who pay $50 and upward; and about fourteen non-residents.

—— The Stereoscopton was exhibited in Great Falls the other evening. It was announced that the first view would be Great Falls, and when, after a moment of breathless expectation, the Great Falls—of Niagara!—appeared on the screen, some ill-mannered folks laughed right out in meeting.

—— On Sunday evening last, Captain Benjamin Wiggin, one of the oldest and most respectable citizens of Dover, while returning from an evening meeting, was assaulted on Franklin Square in that city by a gang of drunken rowdies, severely bruised and knocked into the river, where he lay until some one who was passing helped him up and accompanied him home. He is yet confined from the injuries he received. On Monday George Guppy, for making the assault, was arrested and committed to jail.

—— A runaway horse at Hanover sprang upon the sidewalk, and broke the jaw of President Lord's wife and the ankle of Dr. Crosby's wife, who were promenading there.

—— Wm. L. Foster, Esq., is to deliver the annual address before the N. H. Historical Society, at Concord, on Wednesday evening, June 11th.

—— The Mirror states that the city of Manchester has, thus far, paid to the families of soldiers, $37,314.15. The number of persons helped by the city is 1374. In Dover, about 200 volunteers' families have been assisted, $9444.07 being paid out, which the State is expected to refund. The amount paid out by the city for war purposes, everything included, is $11,429.40.

—— The Supreme Judicial Court, at Dover, rose on Thursday, having less than a two days' session. Only one case (a flowage case) was before the jury, and that was disposed of and withdrawn Thursday. Over 175 cases, old and new docket, were called and considered, and not one found for the jury with the exception of the above, which is quite remarkable for the old Strafford bar.

☞ A lad of fifteen years of age, belonging to the 5th Wisconsin, whose name is Douglas, and resides at Beaver Dam, was in the battle of Williamsburg, and got his gun wet so that it would not fire. During the hottest of the fight, and while the regiment was falling back, he deliberately sat down, took out his screw driver, unscrewed the tube from his gun, dried it out, put it back, capped it, got up and put into the field as if nothing unusual was going on.

THE ADIRONDACKS ON FIRE.—The Troy Times learns that the woods on the Adirondack mountains in the vicinity of Clinton Prison and Northern New York, in fact are on fire and burning rapidly. The prison was saved only by a change in the wind—the walls of the institution being a one time exceedingly heated from the near approach of the flames.

☞ Shipbuilding on the Merrimac begins to revive a little; several vessels are now in process of construction.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

CONCORD, (Phenix Hotel,) June 5.

Dear Chronicle:—The weather is lovely, and the city full of people to witness the inauguration of Governor Berry. The procession formed at an early hour, (after a dress parade of the Horse Guards, at the City Hall,) and receiving His Excellency Gov. Berry and suite, (consisting of Adj. Gen. Colby, Sec. of State Tenney, State Treasurer Sanborn, President Hackett of the Senate, and Speaker Rollins, of the House, and perhaps others—all mounted on horseback in the centre,) made the tour of the principal streets of the city, to the music of Hall's mounted Band—escorting the Governor elect to the State House, where he was formally re-inducted into office, and delivered his Annual Address,—which you will of course give in another place.

Lt. Col. Bellows was in command of the Horse Guards to-day, with Maj. Kent as Lt. Col. The corps made a creditable appearance, and drilled much better than ever before. After dismounting, Col. Bellows received the battalion at his room at the Eagle Hotel, where refreshments were served. Co. A, (of Concord,) afterward invited Co. B (of Nashua,) and Co. C (of Portsmouth, Great Falls, &c.) to meet at their armory, where a bounteous collation was served. And here notice was read from Gen. Stark, that Capt. Wm. P. Ainsworth, (a member of the Horse Guards, and also Captain in the N. H. Cavalry,—at the head of his Company of which he was shot in a late battle,) would be buried in Nashua with military and masonic honors, on Friday—and the three Companies of Horse Guards at once voted to attend, in undress. The dinner of the Guards and numerous guests is about ready at Phenix Hall. So good bye for now. Yours, IND.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child, twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c.; as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the small pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-FOURTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that it can be easily carried from room to room, with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after getting the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

1900 BARRELS of the LODY MANUFACT'G Co's

Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!

Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS.

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it PAYS WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quality,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO

—and—

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merits alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious to root, in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when applied to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil, but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this article supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply the medical fraternity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanks to you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of MR. WM. T. CUTTER, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Morning Chronicle.

All sorts of ingenious methods have been resorted to, for the purpose of putting a stop to the unfeminine insults offered by the ladies of Secessia to the Union soldiers.—Punishment at all, in such a case, seems rather a small business, but if some means must be used to put a stop to the bitterness of their tongues, Governor Johnson's way of referring it to the acidity of their stomachs, and putting them under medical treatment, seems the best and most effective. A single dose of rhubarb is said to be sufficient in mild cases, but even the most obstinate yield to three and a powerful emetic. Andy Johnson will undoubtedly put out his shingle as an M. D. when the war is over. —Boston Post.

LONG SERVICE.—Mr. George W. Hale, who has been chorister at the Unitarian church for twenty-two years, has retired from the "singing seats." He has been one of the best choristers in town, and few persons who were in the church choirs when he commenced, remained so long. He sang three years in another church before engaging at the Unitarian; and in the whole twenty-five years was absent from his choir, when in town, only one Sunday, and then on account of sickness. This shows good health and a faithful discharge of duty.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ Some of the California papers are becoming alarmed by the renewal of a heavy immigration from China since the commencement of the present year. The tables show an increase of arrivals over departures of 57,020, and as something like a dozen vessels were on the berth in Chinese ports at last accounts, there will soon be still larger acquisitions of this class of population.

☞ Jenny Lind is giving Charity Oratorios in London to immense houses, at a guinea a ticket. To be able to draw from $10,000 to $15,000 from the pockets of the rich, and to put its equivalent in bread into the mouths of the poor, by an hour's bird-like warbling, is certainly a gift to be most devoutly thankful for. Jenny Lind must be a very happy woman.

☞ The contractor to build rebel gunboats at New Orleans was driven from that city, because he failed to complete them in time, and was hung on a hotel piazza at Natchez. He is reported to have defrauded the Confederates of some $600,000, which he invested in French and English funds.

☞ A German named John G. Meschendorf, residing in New York, committed suicide by hanging a few nights since.—Cause—he could not prevail upon the Corporation of Trinity Church to give him the renewal of the lease of a lot upon which he had built a house.

☞ A miraculous winking picture has lately been exciting the people of Malta.

ADVERTISE!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all classes, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.
Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.
To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right channel, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidences between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.
Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the diversified wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to advertise only when their business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.
There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand-fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

A "WORD" FROM THE FAMOUS
"LANE,"
WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE
READY-MADE CLOTHING
ASTONISH THE WORLD!
Why is it that Lane is so popular?
WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT
"LANE'S?"
These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.
1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.
2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.
3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.
4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.
5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

FRANKLIN HOUSE,
Portsmouth, N. H.
The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.
A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added; and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Congress Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and retired apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent staircase.
The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.
A good STABLE is connected with the house, where persons visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

The Chronicle.

A FUGITIVE PIECE.—A letter in the New York Evening Post, describing Fort St. Philip, below New Orleans, says that the lines which we print below were "found near" a large mortar, which had been rendered useless by its own recoil:

"O mortar, you hadn't orter
Smash your bed, kick heels over head,
And then cease to speak—
But should have been awake
And made the earth quake
With a bursting shell to send him to hell,
The lying Yankee sneak."

A SWARM OF BEES ON A MAN'S HEAD. A most singular incident occurred in Bridgewater, Mass., a few days since, illustrating the peculiar habits of bees. Mr. A. P. Benson, noticing an unusual stir among his hives, proceeded to examine into the cause, whereupon an entire swarm withdrew from their old hive, and settled upon his head and shoulders. Mr. B., without any serious inconvenience, succeeded in transferring the swarm safely to a new hive.

☞ The latest official returns, as read in the Senate by General Wilson, show that we have 75 cavalry regiments, containing 71,536 men; 17 artillery regiments, 19,477 men; 604 infantry regiments, 508,745 men. They make, in the aggregate, 696 regiments and 599,758 men. We also have batteries and some other companies amounting to 168 companies of 17,896 men, which aggregate together 617,654 men.

☞ Rev. Dr. Tyng of New York, and other gentlemen, called on Sec. Stanton at Washington, Tuesday, when Sec. S. expressed his disapproval of Gov. Stanley's course at Newburn, N. C., and read his visitors the letter which he had just written that functionary after consultation with the President, in which he was directed to revoke the obnoxious order, and allow the schools to go on, as heretofore.

☞ A late resolution of Congress contemplates the keeping at the Census Office, of a registry of all heads of families in the United States. It is through the Census Office that the residences, &c., of great numbers of persons are found, who, from misfortune, become temporarily lost to their relatives and friends.

Hon. James M. Usher, who is also Rev. James M., is to be appointed Col. James M., to have command of the 33d Massachusetts. Here is the civil, clerical, and military combined; and the man is up to it. He can make a stump speech, preach a sermon; or drill soldiers, as all acquainted with him know, with accuracy and dispatch; and one who has put himself through as has James M. Usher, in the midst of battle would roar like a lion.—Newburyport Her.

☞ Gen. Dix has in a great measure removed the restrictions on trade at Norfolk and Portsmouth, thus affording great relief to the loyal inhabitants. He has also stopped the examination of drop letters in the post-offices of those two cities.

☞ The instructions given to Gov. Stanley, in his commission, give him power to establish all necessary offices and tribunals, and to suspend the habeas corpus during the pleasure of the President, or until a loyal State government shall be established.

——Rev. Geo. D. Blodgett was installed pastor of the congregational church in Newmarket, May 21. His father, Rev. Constantine Blodgett, D. D., of Pawtucket, R. I., formerly pastor of the church in Newmarket, preached the Installation Sermon.

—— Rev. H. O. Howland was dismissed from his pastoral charge of the Congregational church in Chester, on the 21st ult.

☞ Rev. John P. Cleveland, D. D., recently of Lowell, has resigned the chaplaincy of the 30th Mass. Regt., and returned home on account of ill health.

☞ The coronation of the King of Prussia cost the civil list eight hundred thousand thalers, some over a million of dollars.

☞ At Philadelphia a woman named Caroline Lamden has been indicted under the treason act for displaying a small secession flag.

☞ The citizens of Ellsworth, Me., not catholics, have given the handsome sum of $200 to Rev. James Madden, the local catholic priest. This may atone for the acts of some of the Ellsworth citizens a few years ago.

The Charleston Mercury states that a "Beauregard hat" is all the rage in that city. At the rate the war is progressing the same General will furnish a model neck-tie, that will yet be extensively used at the South.—N. Y. World.

☞ An English mission to Madagascar has been well received by the king, who evinces considerable familiarity with English politics.

☞ A Portland paper speaks of "Johny Crappo."

SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1862.

EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

AT HOME, June 6th.

Dear Chronicle.—I wrote you from Concord, that the Horse Guards, with numerous distinguished guests, were just going into dinner at Phenix Hall, as I closed my letter, Thursday. The three companies formed on foot in full dress in front of the State House, and at the close of Gov. Berry's Address, escorted the Governor and suite to the dinner table, where all, after due ceremony, speedily "fell to",—but we believe none "fell out" during the round trip. Of course the dinner was provided by mine host Dumas, he being Commissary of the Guards; and, also of course, it was a sumptuous and superb entertainment. Here is the bill of fare:—

Boiled Salmon, with Green Peas. Roast Chickens, Pig, Lamb. Potted Pigeons, hot. Lobster Salad. Potatoes. Asparagus.—Green Peas. Rhubarb, Apple, Custard, and Washington Pies. Strawberries and Cream, Ice Cream, Oranges, Pine Apples, Raisins, Nuts. Tea and Coffee.

The tables were decorated with elegant bouquets, and fuller on top than at the sides,—as we enjoy seeing them. The Guards mustered somewhat more than a hundred sabres on parade, and there were probably nearer two hundred persons at the dinner. The Governor and other State Officers, with the regimental officers of the corps, occupied the platform; while the gallery was devoted to the ladies—but we thought it would have been more chivalrous to have had them provided for below too, somehow.

We did make out to stay long enough to get pretty well through with that tempting bill of fare, but our time called us away just as "the feast of reason," &c., was coming on. So we must borrow somebody's else account of the toasts, &c., if we give any. Major Kent was announced as toastmaster.

Co. C had voted to attend Capt. Ainsworth's funeral, at Nashua, Friday; but business called several of the Portsmouth members home—who intended to return to Manchester, and go to Nashua, next morning; but most of them were unable to do so, as they afterwards ascertained that they would be obliged to remain there over night again.

The ride home from Concord, Thursday afternoon, was charming. The route is for miles along the Merrimack, with its picturesque scenery, little falls, &c., and in sight of numerous large ponds, including the beautiful blue Massabesic, near the banks of which stands the inviting-looking "Massabesic House," the inside of which we shall improve our first opportunity to see.

We were fortunate enough to secure one of the fine large bouquets from our table, at the dinner, and deposited the flowers in a box which stands in a corner of the baggage-car, for safe-keeping. But alas! when we arrived in Portsmouth, the bouquet was gone—somebody else had stolen it, too. We were very sorry, for we had intended it for—Br. Whittem, perhaps. Bad luck to the chap who hooked it. May ten thorns to one flower grow in his path, till he repents his mean theft.

All hands arrived home just in season for the grand Gottschalk concert—though the performers themselves were not on hand in so good time, being nearly half an hour behindhand. But no matter—their entertainment was splendid indeed, when it did come. We neither pretend, intend, nor desire to criticize their performance. All we went for, was to enjoy it—and we hardly expect to enjoy any concert more. The audience was fair at the price—and the price was not a whit more than fair, for such an entertainment. Let those who please, (like the leading New York musical paper) sneer at Gottschalk's piano-playing, growl at (Count?) Brignoli's indifferent manner, (nobody ever could object to his singing,) find fault with Susini's tremendous shouting,—but as for us, all was good enough; and on the whole, we call it an "immense" concert for this ilk. Mdme Lussan (she wouldn' appear half so famous without her foreign title) appeared and sang well, but "was in rather too good company"; and little Amodio, the new baritone, stood a far better hand with Susini's terrific bass, than his appearance would warrant. Gottschalk "did just as he had a mind to" with the fine Chickering grand piano,—making a full band of music, a drum, a banjo, or what not, of it, at pleasure; in fact, performed a series of miracles on the instrument—tortured and soothed it, rattled and banged, thundered and lightened over and through it, till everybody (we should think,) must have been electrified. Some folks seem to think "the handsome tenor" and the majestic base, are not so well up in their lessons in good manners,—politeness to an audience—as in musical excellence; but certainly no such complaint can be made of Gottschalk, for including his numerous encores, he played enough for two concerts. And such playing, too! Do come and see us again, but don't look so troubled and careworn. A man who can confer such pleasure on others, ought to be happy himself, and look so.

Yours, IND.

THE REBELLION.

Severe rain storms have delayed Gen. McClellan's operations. On Thursday morning the rebels opened with artillery from five different points opposite New Bridge to prevent its reconstruction. Three of our batteries opened on them, causing them to retreat, after a hot fire of two hours. Our loss was one killed and two wounded.

Gen. McClellan has issued an address to his army, in which he says:—

Soldiers of the Army of the Potomac: I have fulfilled at least a part of my promise to you. You are now face to face with the rebels, who are held at bay in front of their Capitol. The final and decisive battle is at hand. Unless you belie your past history, the result cannot for a moment be doubtful. The events of every day prove your superiority. Wherever you have met the enemy you have beaten him. Whenever you have used the bayonet he has given way in panic and disorder. I ask of you one last crowning effort. The enemy has staked his all on the issue of the coming battle.—Let us meet him and crush him here in the very centre of rebellion.

Cairo dispatches state that a steamer had arrived from the fleet. At the time she left, flames were breaking out in the barracks at Fort Pillow, and the gunboats had dropped down the river.

Newport News has been abandoned as a military post, and the ordnance stores are being removed to Fortress Monroe.

The dispatches on Friday morning did not confirm the reported capture of Memphis and Fort Wright. Nor is Vicksburg yet in our possession. The dispatches state that the bombardment of Fort Wright was recommenced by our troops on the 3d. A dispatch from Cairo on Friday, however, says Fort Wright has been evacuated, and our troops are now in possession. The flotilla had passed down to Fort Randolph, on route for Memphis.

The 5th N. H. Regiment lost in the battle before Richmond 186 killed, wounded and missing, and this total is incomplete.—The 15th Mass. Regt. lost 18 killed and wounded, and 20th Mass. 75 killed and wounded.

☞ The army correspondent of the N. Y. Post writes that Gen. McClellan personally thanked Gen. Porter for his brilliant success in destroying the two railroad bridges over the South Anna river, thus effectually breaking the communication between Richmond and the rebel forces before Fredericksburg and under Jackson's command in the Shenandoah Valley. The movement was executed rapidly and safely, and is regarded as very important. Gen. McClellan on Thursday rode over the field where the battle of Hanover occurred, and was greeted with tremendous enthusiasm by the thousands of brave hearts who had participated in the engagement. Later in the day Gen. Porter was the recipient of a similar greeting.

☞ The Vicksburg, Miss., Citizen of May 23, says "the vandals have come off in their boats and battered down and utterly destroyed the residence of Jeff. Davis, and also that of Joe Davis. Their acts of destruction and vandalism in that neighborhood were complete, leaving nothing but a bleak and desolated track behind them."

☞ The Maine Republican State Convention was held at Portland, on Thursday. 258 towns were represented by 692 delegates. The whole number of votes for a candidate for Governor, was 658; necessary to a choice, 330: Abner Coburn, of Skowhegan, had 330, J. J. Perry 176, J. H. Williams 88, N. A. Farwell 58, scattering 6.

The resolutions are brief, and invite a union of the people on the simple basis of a generous support of the policy and principles that characterize the administration of Abraham Lincoln.

☞ We have received a letter from a gentleman in Manchester, interested in sporting and the protection of birds, etc., commendatory of the movement originated in this city, to secure the passage of a bird-law. He also suggests that the bill include protection to brook and lake trout, a suggestion which, we doubt not, will commend itself to the immediate attention of those who are desirous of making this move in the right direction.

☞ For pure and invigorating atmosphere, romantic and beautiful scenery, and comfortable and home-like accommodation, no place surpasses MOOSEHEAD LAKE, Me. The Mt. Kineo House, kept by Mr. Crocker, commanding a charming view of mountain and lake, is an excellent resort for fishing or hunting parties, or persons simply requiring quiet and repose. For $7 50 you can travel from Boston to the lake through a delightful country, and gain in vigor and cheerfulness more than ten times the sum could secure in the streets of a city during the "heated season." See advertisement.

☞ The U. S. frigate Potomac has arrived at Key West, from Vera Cruz, with information of the defeat of the French army in Mexico, and their retreat to Vera Cruz.

☞ The U. S. steamer Rhode Island will sail from Boston on Tuesday the 10th inst., taking the mail for Port Royal and both Gulf squadrons.

From the New York Tribune.

ASTONISHING PERFORMANCE OF THE "LEDGER" TEAM—FASTEST TIME ON RECORD.—Mr. Robert Bonner has frequently astonished the sporting world and the owners of fast horses by the surprising performance of his celebrated teams in the way of fast time. Only a few weeks ago he electrified all the old turfites and trainers by driving his mares, Lady Palmer and the Flatbush Maid, two miles to wagon, in the unprecedented time of 5 min. 1 3-4 sec.—On Tuesday last, on the Fashion Course, after another public race was decided and the assemblage dispersed, Mr. Bonner, having attached to his heavy four-seated road wagon the Flatbush Maid and Lantern, and carrying with him three other gentlemen, drove the first half-mile of the track in the unprecedented time of 1 min. 7 sec. Lantern broke and ran the whole of the distance, being urged by the whip to the top of his speed, while the Flatbush mare, trotting squarely and steadily, never breaking or skipping, kept up closely with him. The performance of Ethan Allen and his running mate Socks, precisely similar to the above team in style of going, sinks into insignificance compared with this wonderful achievement, especially when the weight carried (the gentlemen exceeding 600 pounds) is considered.

Mr. Bonner, who is proprietor of the New York Ledger, is distancing the entire trotting world as far as he has done the weekly newspapers. That Flatbush Maid (who by the way is no flat, and "needs no bush,") is a beautiful, thorough bred mare, and after this performance, (which perhaps beats even Queen Flora Temple herself, though the pet has never gone in that rig.) is worth more than Mr. Bonner gave for his team of four trotters, although that was the sum of $25,000 or more—Lantern alone taking his check for $10,000. But "Lantern" can't show or "light the way" for such trotting as that,—far down below the twenties—though he did assist materially in doing it. Bonner don't allow his horses to "go for money," or to trot what is called a "race"—but he says that if any gentleman's road team will beat their time, he will give the owner a cool ten thousand! Oh! Vanderbilt! Look out that Bonner don't take to steamboating. It don't seem to be any use trying to get by the Ledger man, any way.

And, speaking of the Ledger, reminds us that we have been, for years, in receipt, regularly, of a complimentary copy of that paper, from the publisher; and we take pleasure in saying that it is one of the best family papers in the land, and eminently deserves the unexampled success the dauntless publisher has won. And we know whereof we speak, and testify to that we have seen, for of all our large and excellent exchange list, there is hardly a paper which we receive more gladly or read with greater pleasure and interest.

☞ The Boston Post says, "Messrs. Allen & Paine, 160 Devonshire street, have cloaks enough to cover all the piety, as well as all the iniquity, in the 'female form divine.' One would think from seeing their great stock, it would answer the wants of the market for a year; but so well adapted are these goods to the present demands of the community, that all on hand will be called for in the course of a few weeks."

☞ Gov. Stanley, of North Carolina, who is now occasioning some noise about the contrabands, is said to be the same Stanley who led an attack on Rev. T. Starr King in California, for presuming to deliver a Union Address to a Sunday School on the Fourth of July. Mr. Stanley did not achieve much of a victory.

☞ The Navy Department has issued proposals for the construction and complete equipment of fifteen gunboats of a speed not less than thirteen knots. They are to be delivered in four months. Also, in connection with the War Department, proposals are invited for heavy guns for both these branches for the public service.

☞ Gen. McClellan's army, on the Chickahominy, is said to have been in line six miles, in the late battle, though only the left, about two and a half miles, was engaged.

FOUND DEAD.—David L. Stevens of Castine, Me., a well-known ship master, was found dead under a wharf, at that place, on Tuesday morning last. His age was about 55.

Prentice says two great geographical discoveries are yet to be made—the source of the Niger, and "the last ditch."

☞ Mr. Colyer, late Superintendent of the Poor at Newbern, N. C., is in Washington, asking for authority to reopen the schools he established for instructing negroes there.

☞ This sonnet, very far beyond the range of most modern poetry, is from a little volume of poems by Miss Rosetti, lately published in London.

AFTER DEATH.

The curtains were half drawn; the floor was swept
And strewn with rushes; rosemary and may
Lay thick upon the bed on which I lay,
Where through the lattice ivy shadows crept.
He leaned above me, thinking that I slept
And could not hear him; but I heard him say:
"Poor child, poor child;" and as he turned away,
Came a deep silence, and I knew he wept.

He did not touch the shroud, or raise the fold
That hid my face, or take my hand in his,
Or ruffle the smooth pillows for my head:
He did not love me living; but once dead
He pitied me; and very sweet it is
To know he still is warm though I am cold.

RECONSIDERATION.—It is remembered that the Emancipation bill as applied to slaves of rebels, was defeated in the U. S. House of Representatives, several days ago, by a small majority, 3 or 4. A reconsideration was moved, and assigned to Wednesday, when three votes were taken. First, Mr. Vallandigham moved to table the motion to reconsider: this motion was negatived, 65 to 86. Secondly, Mr. Porter's motion to reconsider was affirmed, 84 to 65. And thirdly, Mr. Porter's motion to recommit the bill, with a substitute offered by him, was agreed to, 84 to 65. Thus, 65 appears to be the maximum strength of the anti-confiscation party.

☞ A terrible freshet prevails in the Delaware and Lehigh rivers. Bridges, houses, cattle, etc., have been swept away and several persons drowned. It is reported that one house, containing a family of seven persons, was carried away and broken to pieces against a bridge. The town of Glendon, a mile above Easton, Pa., is wholly inundated, the water reaching nearly to the second stories.

It will take ten days to repair the damage to the Lehigh Valley Railroad,—two months for the Canal and ten days for the Lehigh Canal. The mines generally are flooded.

CONGRESS, Thursday.—The tax bill was considered in the Senate.

In the House a bill was passed changing the port of entry from Darien to Brunswick, Ga. The bill appointing a fortification board, to provide sea coast and other defences, was rejected.

☞ Among the regular army nominations pending in the Senate, is one promoting Major Robert Anderson to Brevet Lt. Colonel for his evacuation of Fort Moultrie and removal to Fort Sumter, and Brevet Colonel for his gallant defence of the latter Fort.

☞ Ladies are most respectfully invited to attend.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEETS PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Sweet:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me, and I would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWEET: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined the greater portion of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Sweet's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEET, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Local.

"WHAT A STENCH!" was the exclamation of at least a thousand people who walked down Auburn street last Sunday.—The detestable slaughter house odor comes to our olfactories with renewed force this summer, and we presume that, as far as our city authorities are concerned, we must bear the infliction. There ought to be an anti-slaughter-nuisance party at the next election.—Ballot.

The city, a few years ago, spent a several hundred dollars in legal efforts to abate this nuisance; but were checkmated by some pretty tall swearing and utter forgetfulness on the part of witnesses living near the premises. So we shall have to pass that way "with bated breath," and hold our noses, if not our tongues, for the present.—"How long, oh, how long?"

☞ Won't "our genial friend" of the Ballot please quote us correctly, if at all—or can't he do anything correctly? We never called him "sallow-visaged"—it was jaundiced-visaged. Now although there may not be so much difference, yet many people seem to hold others blameable for being "jaundiced" or having the gout, while sallowness is merely pitied, we believe.

☞ The friends of Capt. Edward Moses, of this city, who has recently received the appointment of Acting Master in the Navy, presented him with an elegant dress sword and belt, some days since. The presentation speech was made by Maj. William H. Hackett, and responded to by the gallant recipient.

☞ We suppose that Ballot man did enjoy some school advantages, notwithstanding his ignorance and obtuseness—though public schools are not so "common" in his country as with us; but he blunders over a sentence which any of our grammar scholars can readily handle. We spoke of our receipt of a charming bouquet, containing dahlia, verbenas, roses, &c., and added (in another sentence,) that the memory of such gifts [as said bouquet, of course,] is sweet as their actual fragrance. If the "genial" can't parse that, he may pass it—but so far as we can see, it is correct, as also was Pres. Taylor's, "We are at peace with all the world: we maintain our relations of amity with the rest of mankind," about which such a silly fuss was kicked up, for buncombe.

Speaking of roses and fragrance, perhaps "a rose by any other name would smell as sweet," but those "roses, &c.,"—that bouquet—certainly did smell delightfully, or we are no judges. But the whole trouble is, that it was not sent to our inland cotemporary, who instead of flowers, only keeps a bunch, of nettles to sting himself with.—Won't somebody send him a bouquet, too?

☞ Schr. Garnet, Spear, of and from Rockland, Me., for New York with a cargo of 680 casks of lime, was at anchor off the Ocean House, Rye Beach, on Friday afternoon, just outside the breakers. It was nearly high tide at the time our informant left, and the wind was blowing directly on to the shore and it was thought the vessel would strike on the beach shortly. A lady passenger was taken off by a boat, and kindly cared for by Messrs. Jenness & Son at the Ocean House.

☞ The body of Mr. John H. Ferguson, of Eliot, who was drowned by walking off the Navy Yard bridge in the night, several weeks ago,—was found near Badger's Island, but a short distance from where he fell in, on Friday.

☞ The great, successful advertisers, avail themselves of all means,—even the humblest circulating mediums—for reaching the people. And so we will try to be thankful even for the smallest celebrity or notoriety, "if any," given to The Chronicle by our esteemed friend of the bawl at, through his cavillings. St. Paul "rejoiced, and would rejoice," that Christ was preached, at any rate, although "some" did that work 'even of envy and strife."

☞ Auctioneer Wendell advertises a sale of Furniture, Carriages, Harnesses, &c., this morning; and Mr. Adams continues his sale of Clothing and Dry Goods this day and evening—and will also sell a lot of oakum shakings, &c., at the Navy Yard at noon.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Amoskeag brewery and lumber mills adjoining, in Manchester, owned by Haines & Wallace, were entirely consumed by fire late on Thursday afternoon. The brewery was a new and very fine one; the mills were full of lumber, and the machinery was excellent. Loss about $12,000; insured for $8000. The buildings were very extensive. The bridge across the Piscataquog River was also burnt. The fire caught in the engine room and spread rapidly.

—— Among the wounded in the battle before Richmond, is D. G. Dearborn, of the 5th N. H. Regiment.

—— A Mr. Calef, of Salisbury, 29 years of age, was run over and killed by one of the northern trains in Concord, on Thursday evening. He was intoxicated.

Special Notices.

THE NEW-HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE and Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, published Thursday, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room. Price 3 cents. Only $1 per year, in advance.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, in LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!

Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE ON THE OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO

—and—

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meat. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medical purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this article selected, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, your obedt. servts.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received; in accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, your obedt. servt.

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY for Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement has been said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

IMMORTELLES.

APPROACH OF EVENING.

Night's wing is on the east—the clouds repose
Like weary armies of the firmament,
Encamp'd beneath their vanes of pearl and rose,
Till the wind's sudden trumpet thro' them sent
Shakes their pavilions and their pomps unbent
In rich confusion. Now the air is filled
With thousand odors, sigh'd by blossoms bent
In closing beauty, where the dew distilled
From Evening's airy urns their purple lips has chill'd.

Twilight has come in saffron mist embower'd,
For the broad sun on the Atlantic surge,
Now sparkling in the fiery flashes shower'd
From his swift wheels—the forest vapours urge
Their solemn wings above—while stars emerge
From the dark east, like offrd spirits the glare
Touch'd by the light upon the horizon's verge;
Just rising from her sleep, the young Moon shows
Supine upon the clouds, her cheeks suffused with rose.

This is the loveliest hour of all that Day
Calls upwards through its kingdoms of the air.
The sights and sounds of earth have died away;
Above, the clouds are in the sunset glare
Of the red west—high volum'd waves, that war
Against a diamond promontory's side,
Crowd with one accord to the Sun's throne,
That like a watch-fire trembles o'er the tide,
Bright'ning with every shade that on its surge doth ride. —Crely.

Thurlow Weed breakfasted with John Taylor in London recently, and was assured that before the close of the present year the world would know who wrote the Junius letters. We shall be glad to have the question who was Junius? definitely settled. It will not effect the war, the prices of stocks or the crops; but it will save an immense amount of good ink and paper. Let it be answered beyond cavil this time.

☞ Hon. George T. Curtis will deliver the oration in Boston on the 4th of July. Portland has appropriated $1500 for the celebration of the day.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made eleven rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

ADVERTISE!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men generally make their best purchases when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand-fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The change may be so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more business like, and the best results follow as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE
PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,
For Physicians' Use.
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.
SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints
Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medicinal properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

A "WORD" FROM THE FAMOUS

"LANE,"

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "ready cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The enemy burnt everything at Fort Wright, previous to his evacuation. A number of guns were found. The large mortar had been destroyed. The gunboats passed Fort Randolph on Friday.

Two deserters state (and it is said other information received goes to corroborate the statement,) that the rebel Commander-in-Chief in the recent battle near Richmond, Gen. Joseph Johnston, was seriously if not mortally wounded in the groin by a Minie ball. They say the rebel loss is estimated at 10,000 in killed and wounded and missing.

Colonels White and Vausling, of the rebel army, and James Massey, Secretary of State under Claib Jackson, with about 20 ordinary rebels, were captured at Cassville, Mo, a few days since.

On the 29th of May, our gunboats were within four miles of Charleston, by way of Stono Inlet, and expected soon to attack it.

The N. Y. Tribune editorially says:—"We learn through a private channel, in which we confide, that the Unionists of Texas will soon be heard from. We understand that their arrangements for restoring their State to the Union have been quietly matured, and that they have ere this thrown the old flag to the breeze, under the lead of Gen. Sam Houston."

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says Col. Geo. T. Shepley of Maine, who is at present the Military commandant at New Orleans, has, upon recommendation of Gen. Butler, been appointed Military Governor of Louisiana.

The N. Y. Times' correspondent states that John Washington, an aid on Gen. Johnston's staff, was captured while carrying a message through the woods, he having unconsciously ridden within our lines. On his person was found a book containing a complete list of our army divisions, corps, regiments and officers, together with the disposition before Richmond; and also a full and complete statement of the rebel force now under Gen. Johnston, and its disposition. If this statement is correct, it is evident there is at least one traitor in Gen. McClellan's camp.

All was quiet in the vicinity of Gen. McClellan's headquarters, at noon on Saturday.

A gunboat from Fort Royal, 2d, has arrived at Philadelphia. The President's revocal of Gen. Hunter's proclamation was well received. "Gen. Hunter had organized a negro brigade, and assigned them to the work of building entrenchments and fortifications. A sharp engagement had occurred with the rebel batteries at Stono, and the Union soldiers were virtually investing Charleston.

BY TELEGRAPH.

[We are indebted for the following dispatch, received Sunday noon, to Messrs. Hutchings, Isley, and others.]

The Fortress Monroe correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says:

From City Point I learn that our war vessels in the James River above City Point have run by the rebel batteries at Drury's Bluff, and it is rumored that the Monitor has passed the obstructions, sinking all the rebel gunboats about Richmond. If this be true, the Monitor by this time is at the Rockets. A number of powerful Union gunboats have gone up the river, during the past two or three days, and our fleet before Richmond is now quite formidable, consisting of at least 20 war vessels, armed with the very best of naval ordnance.

Deserters report to Gen. Halleck that Forts Pillow and Randolph were evacuated on the 21st ult. and that Com'r Davis, with the Union flotilla, reached Memphis June 1st. The city was nearly abandoned and the main buildings were destroyed.

The rebels, in evacuating Fort Pillow, burnt all their barracks, buildings and forage; they left about a dozen of their heavy guns spiked.

A steamer at Cairo, direct from Memphis, reports our forces in undisputed possession of the city. The city surrendered to our flotilla without resistance. Beauregard has forbidden all newspaper and other correspondents within 25 miles of his lines.

Gen. Mitchell sent out an expedition from Huntsville, Ala., on the 5th, under Gen. Negley, who drove the rebels from Winchester through Jasper to Chattanooga, capturing all their baggage wagons, munitions and supplies; still more important results may be expected to follow this movement.

☞ The steamer Daniel Webster arrived at Boston on Saturday with 240 wounded men from the recent battle near Richmond. We do not find the names of any belonging to N. H. Regiments.

☞ There was a destructive fire in Quebec, on Saturday morning. One hundred and twenty houses, mostly wooden buildings, and occupied by mechanics, were burnt.

☞ T. B. Satterthwaite, President of the New York Board of Underwriters, died in that city Friday morning.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Claremont Eagle calls the attention of the Legislature to one matter in which it manifests considerable interest, to wit, the Bob-Sled question. And it asks, —Cannot something be done to prevent our roads in winter from becoming impassable by reason of pitch holes?

—— Petitions are in circulation in various parts of the State, praying for a tax on dogs. Everybody signs it.

—— The Catholics contemplate building a new and spacious church in Claremont.

—— The Supreme Court on Wednesday decreed fifteen divorces, eleven to parties residing in Hillsborough, three in Merrimac, and one in Belknap County.

—— They have a new steamer in the Lake, and have named it "Dollie Dutton." She made her trial trip a few days ago. Before she left her moorings, the engineer, deemed it necessary to blow off a little steam, and a gentleman standing rather near the valve had his hat blown off, where at there was a general stampede among the passengers, several leaping into the lake. The water, however, was shoal, and no other damage was done than usually results from an unpremeditated bath.

—— At East Lebanon, on Saturday morning last, Almira Sargent, a maiden lady 53 years of age, was found dead in bed. She was a woman of strong constitution, and apparently in sound health when she retired the night before. Her mother was in bed with her, but knew nothing of the change till long after daylight.

—— The Lowell Courier copies the following death from an exchange, showing what name was given to a child born in this State last August: At London, April 3d, Jefferson Davis, son of Joseph C. and Deborah Harper, aged 7 months and 21 days.

—— The receipts of the N. H. Bible Society from all sources, since Aug. 15, 1861, about nine months and a half, were $1,991.48. The donations are $118 13 in advance of those for the corresponding time last year, and the receipts for books are $122.78 more. The disbursements have been $1,988.10.

—— An incendiary burnt the house and barn of Ezekiel Collins, in Gilford, on Wednesday morning, with all his household furniture, horse, wagon, and farming utensils.

—— The house and barn of Mr. Jonas Hastings, of Grantham, were burnt on Saturday, with all their contents. No insurance. The local paper says this loss leaves Mr. Hastings a fitting subject for charity.

—— The funeral of Capt. Wm. P. Ainsworth, who fell at the battle of Front Royal while gallantly leading his company, took place at Nashua on Friday. Many of the buildings were draped in mourning, and business was generally suspended. The Governor's Horse Guards, the Granite State Cadets of Nashua, and the Rising Sun Lodge of Free Masons, State and city authorities, and a large number of citizens united in the solemn ties.

—— In the N. H. Senate and House of Representatives, on Friday, the Standing Committees were announced. In Convention, Ethan Colby was elected Councillor from District No. 5, receiving 160 votes, to 111 for Levi Parker. In the House, Mr. Hilliard of Exeter gave notice that he should hereafter present a bill entitled an Act in addition to an Act to incorporate the Rockingham Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

—— Three fatal casualties have occurred in Keene during the past week. John D. Munn was endeavoring to hold a fractious horse he was driving, when one of the reins broke, and he was thrown from the wagon. He was so much injured that he died in about twenty-four hours. He was 46 years old, and leaves a wife and three children. Francis M. Godbold was run over by the cars on Saturday, and instantly killed. On Sunday Mr. George Buffum was fishing with a seine, and when in the stream about up to his waist, suddenly fell back into the water, in a fit it is supposed, and immediately expired. Mr. Buffum has left a wife and three children, and was not far from forty years old.

—— It is understood that most of the mills at Manchester will suspend operations for a few weeks after the 1st of July next. The Amoskeag Company is about ready to commence the manufacture of 10,000 Springfield muskets under a government contract.

☞ A man giving his name as Norman F. Edgerly, from New York, was arrested in Newburyport on Friday, for having in his possession a quantity of counterfeit coin, with intention to pass the same as genuine.

☞ A private letter from an officer on board the U. S. steamer Kearsarge, at Cadiz, April 5, reports the Sumter as still at Gibralter, "nearly deserted and unfit for further service."

☞ Benjamin Whiddan of New Hampshire has been nominated for Minister to Hayti; Gustavus Koerner for Minister to Spain, and E. D. Culver of Brooklyn, N.Y., for Minister to Venezuela.

THE EVERLASTING NEGRO.

From the Newburyport Herald.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK IN BOSTON.

Most of the resolutions, reports and speeches of the meetings have been about the inextinguishable negro. The ebony idol is the grand spiritual centre of all religious and benevolent ideas to shoot at, in this era. It was the negro in Canada, the negro in Africa, the negro in Jamaica, the negro in Hayti, the negro in slavery, the negro as a contraband, the negro at Fortress Monroe, the negro in the District of Columbia, the negro at Port Royal, the negro as liberated by Hunter, the negro on the underground railroad, the negro as seen by "Old Abe," the negro as he was, the negro as he is, the negro as he should be, and the negro in heaven.

It reminds us of life as we witnessed it at the Isles of Shoals. First, in the morning take a boat and catch fish, but lest you should be hungry before returning, take dried halibut for luncheon; next dress fish; third, breakfast on hashed fish with fried fish for variety, then take a bite of salt fish dried at 11 o'clock. For dinner fish chowder, with fish balls warmed up for dessert. At 4 P. M., herrings smoked. For supper, codfish boiled, with haddock and mackerel fried. Before going to bed, cured pollock with fricasseed cunners. The next day it was the same course reversed, beginning on cunners and leaving off with dried halibut. The third day it was cod chowder for breakfast, boiled halibut for dinner, and broiled corned fish for supper. The fourth day lobster came in for breakfast; sardines at dinner, as a luxury; flounders for supper, with fried eels cold at 10 o'clock in the evening.

And so it was changed round from day to day, but all resolved itself into this process—catch fish, preserve fish, eat fish, and finally be fish. We noticed that the boats were shaped like fishes; the houses smelled of fish, the vane on the church was the figure of a fish; the church record said the custom had been to pay the minister in fish—for that was the currency of the islands; and at the conference meeting, one good man urging sinners to repent, said—"religion was liked baked salmon, the more a man had the more he wanted." It might be our eyes deceived us, but some of the men looked scaly, like fishes; the women made the sleeves of their dresses to represent fish fins and had bonnet trimmings of stuff like fish gills, while the children wore sections of fish spines strung, like beads, about their necks, and collected sea-weeds for flowers. We heard one visitor say that in the shad and herring seasons they could not change their clothes, there were so many small bones coming through the flesh and pinning the clothes to the body, like nails in a shingled roof.

The negro at the anniversary meetings is quite as prominent and as important as fish at the Isles of Shoals. The Bible, Tract, Missionary, Education and all the other Moral Reform societies had the African flavor. Sambo crept into the Unitarian festival, at Music Hall; into the Trinitarian prayer meeting, at Warren Chapel; into the Universalist Unity, on School street; occupied half the space at the meeting of the Kansas Aid Society, in Keenan Hall; and filled the Tremont Temple Union gathering, held for the benefit of Parson Grimes' church. Once, at a missionary meeting, the Sandwich Islands were mentioned, but it was to tell what deep interest the natives felt for the 'contrabands;" and once Siam was pronounced by mistake, it is presumed, for Sambo. Mention was made in one meeting of the Ojibway and Ottowa Indians, but it was only to tell of the destructive vices and corrupting agencies of a pro-slavery government that would not remember the African as "a man and a brother," and one gentleman speaking of the Cuba slave trade, referred to the Minister at Madrid, when he was interrupted by a black-coated man from the country who inquired if he did not mean the Mendi mission.

All through the week, it was declared out of order to speak of anything but the colored gentleman, unless by way of illustration. On Washington street one lady from Lynn was overheard to ask another from Worcester, if she did not think it was wicked to have "so many rude and drunken soldiers in Boston on anniversary week?" "She should," she said, "but they were going down South to liberate their colored sisters." "Oh, is that the object?" was the response; "well, I thought they were well-behaved and pious-looking young men.—How I sympathize with them. I have been thinking of going to Port Royal myself, as a teacher, but I have forgotten so much of botany, and it would cost me so much to have my telescope carried there to teach astronomy, that I think I shall not go. But how my heart bleeds for the poor creatures, who cannot appreciate the beauties of nature as seen in the early flowers, or read the character of their maker in the celestial skies and twinkling stars!!" Here our reporter left, and it is a chance if ever he goes to Boston again on anniversary week.

☞ A few mornings since, a countryman in Skowhegan, Me., hitched his horse to a freight car, to eat a batting of hay. In a short time the fireman of the engine began to make up his freight train, and the owner of the horse saw his animal going off at unusual speed. A few hasty calls stopped the train, and the animal was released. That man won't hitch his horse again to a railroad car.

☞ A lumber dealer in Gardiner, Me., fell into the river and was in danger of drowning. Efforts were immediately made to rescue him by floating boards from his own pile on the wharf, when the drowning man cried out to the men to pick for the wane edge pieces.

☞ A clergyman in Augusta, Me., stated recently in an earnest and pointed address to his church to labor unitedly in the cause of religion, that he hoped the cold and shivering would have zeal enough to get warm without sending to another town to get some one to kindle a fire.

CONGRESS, Friday.—In the Senate, a resolution, offered by Powell, inquiring about negro soldiers, and one by Sumner, on Gov. Stanley, were both laid over. The consideration of the tax-bill was resumed. The amendment imposing a tax of $2 per head on slaves was reconsidered by a vote of 22 to 18. The amendment was then rejected, 17 to 28. Clark and Sumner voted for the amendment—Hale and Wilson against it. The tax-bill was finally passed, by a vote of 37 to 1—Mr. Powell of Ky. voting in the negative.

The House was engaged upon private bills. Both Houses adjourned to Monday.

☞ The London Daily News has an editorial on the financial position of the United States, and says it furnishes a striking proof of the constancy of a free people, and the true wisdom of their rulers in relying on that constancy. It defends the public credit of America from the calumnies which have been directed against it.

☞ The value of prize vessels and cargoes actually condemned and sold, up to this time, exceeds five millions of dollars, No officer or sailor has yet received a copper of shares in prize money. Only forty thousand dollars of the proceeds of sales have ever reached the treasury: The money is in the hands of the United States district attorneys, says the correspondent of the Baltimore Sun.

☞ William Hadley, forty years of age, robbed his brother, Benjamin Hadley, of Somerville, Mass., on Tuesday, of $150.—On being arrested, he acknowledged the offence and made restitution of $117 72 of the stolen money. He must be a very mean sort of brother.

☞ Jeremiah Cashman was before the Police Court, Newburyport, on Friday, for a violation of the Dog Law, and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs—taxed at $16.25. The Herald says prosecutions will daily continue until the law is complied with.

☞ In the Common Pleas, in New York city, on Thursday, it was decided that personal guaranty for another without consideration, was good for nothing. The case was that of a clerk who told his employer that if certain persons bought hats, and did not pay for them, he (the clerk) would pay.—The employer sued him, and the Court decided as above.

BERWICK SPONGE CAKE.—3 eggs, beat 2 minutes, add 1 1-2 cup of sugar, beat 5 minutes, add one cup of flour, 1 teaspoonful cream tartar, and beat 2 minutes, add half cup of cold water, half teaspoonful of soda, beat one minute, a cup of flour, a little salt, rose or lemon.

☞ Gov. Rector of Arkansas has called upon the editor of The Little Rock Democrat to fight him in a duel for charging him with running away and leaving the State without a Government.

☞ At the battle of Waterloo alone, the loss on the side of the victors, in killed and wounded, was nearly four thousand more than our entire loss thus far in the present war.

ANECDOTE OF RICHELIEU.—One day the poet Desmarets, who was then very young, succeeded in obtaining an audience of the cardinal. When the poet was ushered into the presence of the Minister, and when the latter, with his usual courtesy, had inquired to what cause he owed the pleasure of this visit:

"Monseigneur," said the poet, "I have come to solicit from your Eminence the appointment of Controller General."

Astounded at the boldness as well as at the magnitude of this request, the Cardinal frowned, and fixing his eyes sternly on the young petitioner, said:

"And what had you hoped for, young man, in making such an ardacious request?"

"I had hoped," replied the poet modestly, "for something that your Eminence will, perhaps graciously deign to grant me—I had hoped for the pleasure of a refusal. They say your Eminence refuses so well."

"I am so used to it," observed Richelieu, flattered by the compliment—a compliment by no means misplaced, as the sequel proved; for from that day the Cardinal took Desmarets into favor, and later gave him in reality the very appointment which the poet had solicited in jest.—Sixpenny Magazine.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and MORE'S PILLS. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26q

Local.

☞ The Boys' new military Company, which Capt. G. W. Towle has kindly and patriotically been drilling, of late, appeared very creditably in street drill, Saturday afternoon, with full ranks, carrying lances, as the lads are rather small to shoulder a musket yet—though some "croakers" think they will be big enough for that ere this war be ended. Capt. Towle is sparing no pains to teach the young idea how to "train," if not how to shoot—a very desirable acquirement in youth, with the present ideas of the world.

"A Joy Forever."—One of the largest and most elegant bouquets of wild flowers we ever saw, was courteously left at our counting room on Saturday, by Miss Abby Berry of Rye—for which favor she will please accept our sincerest thanks.—The flowers were all picked in the fields and woods, and comprise many varieties of shape and shade, intermixed with the lovely spring tints of the hemlock, and the finest wood colored spruce-cones imaginable—the whole arranged and combined with exquisite taste,—"a thing of beauty" indeed.

"Don't Kill the Birds".—Messrs Editors:—I have seen with pleasure the movement among the pupils of our schools, to procure the enactment of a law for the protection of birds. It indicates an increased desire in our youth to cherish those annual visitors whose beauty, melody and services are alike a benefit and a pleasure to us.—But are we aware of what a destructive enemy they have in their midst, that will be exempt from any fine? Some persons entertain the opinion that the benefits conferred by the crow compensate the injuries committed by him; that, because he is fond of flesh, he must destroy a great number of grubs and insects; but the farmer who has opportunities for observing his habits, knows that he does not affect newly ploughed fields, and, that he will hardly stoop to grubs and worms when the eggs and young of birds are plenty. It is on such delicacies as these, sandwiched with some seed from a cornfield, and relished with a shellfish at low water, that he feasts at this season. He may be observed at early morning, silent and alone, on a predatory excursion to the apple orchard, or the shade trees in the vicinity of the farm-house, in search of the nests of birds. Then woe to the eggs or callow young of the robin which his eager gaze may discover; he scrutinizes each tree, hopping from branch to branch—circles ever round it and enters it in different directions successively until the flight of the bird or the exposed nest reveals the prize.

Then the distressed robin gives the alarm in notes so thrilling and passionate that all her feathered neighbors rush to her relief, while he makes his hasty meal and sudden flight amid a tumult of excited and angry notes from the throats of various sweet singers, which make you think how imprecations would sound from the lips of excited ladies.

I remember, in my boyhood, with what mingled sorrow and anger I often discovered the robbery of the treasures of my pet robins; and with wat exultation and delight I tumbled a crow from the pendant bough of a large elm within gunshot of the house, just as he balanced himself to thrust his rapacious beak into a beautiful goldfinch's nest. Don't spare the crows. W. C. D.

Portsmouth, June 7.

An Incident of the Battle at the Forts.—Captain Boggs, of the Varuna, tells a story of a brave boy who was on board his vessel during the bombardment of the forts on the Mississippi river. The lad, who answers to the name of Oscar, is but thirteen years of age, but he has an old head on his shoulders, and is alert and energetic. During the hottest of the fire he was busily engaged in passing ammunition to the gunners, and narrowly escaped death when one of the terrific broadsides of the Varuna's rebel antagonist was poured in. Covered with dirt and begrimed with powder, he was met by Captain Boggs, who asked him "where he was going in such a hurry?" "To get a passing-box, sir; the other one was smashed by a ball."

And so throughout the fight the brave lad held his place and did his duty.

When the Varuna went down, Captain Boggs missed his boy, and thought he was among the victims of the battle. But a few minutes afterwards he saw the lad gallantly swimming towards the wreck. Clambering on board of Captain Boggs' boat, he threw his hand up to his forehead, giving the usual salute, and uttering only the words, "All right, sir! I report myself on board," passed coolly to his station. So, young a lad so brave and cool in danger will make himself known as years go over his head.

☞ The Board of Aldermen of New York city has passed an ordinance for issuing bonds to the amount of $80,000, for a soldiers' hospital, to be under the direction of the Sisters of Charity.

☞ It is probable that a new and extensive camp of instruction will soon be established in the immediate vicinity of Annapolis, under the superintendence of Gen. Wool.

☞ Santa Anna is once more on the track for Mexico. He has suddenly left his retirement at St. Thomas, as if to take an active part in the Mexican imbroglio.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century: and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in full confidence perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, thyer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no attention to wringer and handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wrought iron, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Try it ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will and that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO

—and—

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A Caution has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

Directions.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

New York May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in procuring a pure article, supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

Louisville, Ky., July 31, 1861.

Drs. Valentine Mott, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to procure a pure article of Whiskey, with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your Committee, and I thank you for your kind expressions of confidence. &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of L. A. Cameron, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

From the Journal

GOV. PERRY'S MESSAGE.—This is a sensible and clear document, not too long for any one to read. It breathes the spirit of patriotism—not only of the executive, but also of the State of New Hampshire—manifesting that she is doing her share in quelling the wicked rebellion which has been ragging in our land for a year and a half past. His views on slavery are sound. Where is the state to be found whose ordinary debt is less than $6000? The fact that in these times the deposits in our Savings Banks have increased about $63,000 in the past year, speaks volumes on the resources of our State. The arrangement with the general government for our own State to collect the Direct Tax imposed by the war, thus saving not only 15 per cent. but also cutting off a host of collectors to be appointed by the national government, must be very satisfactory to every citizen. The message is a good document.

Some papers seem to regard the meeting of the Legislature a secondary thing—an appendage to the annual meeting of the Horse Guards. One writer speaks of the pomp with which his Excellency was ushered into the capitol—as little short in grandeur and splendor to that of a Roman triumph! All right, no doubt: "Honor to whom honor."

DESTRUCTION OF SMALL BIRDS CAUSING ALARM.—For several seasons, and particularly the last, there was found to be a scarcity of Breadstuffs in France. This state of things caused great alarm, and memorials were presented from some of the departments to the Minister of Agriculture, the Legislative Chamber and the Emperor. An elaborate report has been made on the subject, in which the destruction of small birds is charged with being one of the leading causes of deficient crops. The destruction of small birds has gone on increasing, and in a corresponding ratio has proceeded the increase of those insects and reptiles which prey on the crops of grain and all kinds of vegetable food; and on these insect tribes the small birds live. To that degree of alarm has the public mind been brought that inquiry and investigation have been instituted, and have demonstrated the fact that the destruction of the beautiful feathered songsters may, if continued, lead to something like positive famine. This document has been translated and is being circulated in England, to aid in arresting the wanton destruction of birds in that country. It was the subject of a paper recently read before the National History Society of Rogate, from which we cut the following:—"Although the sparrows levy a small contribution on the farmer's grain, yet the far greater portion of their food is from injurious insects, and the whole of the food they give to their young is from the tribe of insects. At the beginning of the world man would have succumbed in the unequal struggle if God had not given in the bird a powerful auxiliary—a faithful ally—who wonderfully accomplishes the task which man is incapable of performing—in fact against his enemies of the insect world man would be powerless without the bird."—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of City Ordinance No. 4, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

SEC. 3.—All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their own proper expense to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 11. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. And whenever any person or persons shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the articles of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way to get their time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. The advertiser who uses PAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when in the proper disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence of all others in favor of the articles at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy in business to exercise shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd, when they have tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it and I care not how hard the times may be, I have one at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their boats out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in ridiculous advertising by a business man, invariably yields him less profit sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it a waste of money to continue advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a business man ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertiser, is a matter of every day wondering. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

MOOSEHEAD LAKE!

The Most Popular and Delightful Summer Resort in Maine!

The MT. KINEO HOUSE,

J. E. CROCKER, Superintendent, is located at Mt. Kineo, near the middle of the Lake, and is the central point for Trout Fishing and Moose Hunting Parties. The House, which commands a most delightful and picturesque view of the Lake and adjacent Forests, has been thoroughly refitted and refurnished throughout. On the premises is a Billiard Hall, furnished with improved tables, a Bowling Alley, new and beautiful Sail and Fishing Boats and Birch Canoes.

☞ Experienced and Reputed Guides are engaged at the Mt. Kineo House, and will at all times be at the service of its guests.

Parties wishing to visit the Lake can purchase Through Tickets from Boston to Mt. Kineo House, via Boston and Maine and Androscoggin and Kennebec Railroads, to Maine, thence by stages to Greenville, (foot of the Lake,) thence by the elegant little steamer, FAIRY OF THE LAKE, Capt. Thos. Rogers, to the Mt. Kineo House.

FARE THROUGH $7.50, and passengers have the privilege of stopping over at Portland or Kineo.

☞ Tickets for sale at the Boston and Maine Railroad Stations in Boston and Lawrence. Returning leave by Capt. Robinson, in the Steamer Fairy of the Lake, every Thursday.

Passengers by this route will find excellent accommodations at the following Hotels:

SHAW HOUSE, Newport, S. B. Brown, Prop.
NEWPORT HOUSE, Newport, C. B. Pratt.
EVERETT HOUSE, Greenville, J. Robinson.
SEBOOMOOK HOUSE, Greenville, J. Kineo.

Passengers by the Morning Trains per Boston and Maine or Eastern Railroads, via Portland, will arrive at the Mt. Kineo House the same DAILY via NEWPORT, or on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, via Skowhegan and Bangor; or on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, via Bangor, per Steamer M. SANFORD.

☞ Coaches from either of the above places pass through the picturesque towns of Wild and Romantic Scenery, and connect at Greenville (foot of the Lake) with the steamer FAIRY OF THE LAKE, Capt. Thos. Rogers, which runs daily Sundays excepted, to the Mt. Kineo House, and on Wednesdays to the head of the Lake.

Portsmouth, Dec. 30, 1861.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Stricture, Seminal Weakness, Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those who have contracted a secret, and solitary habit, which robs the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Among the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dyspepsia, Confusion of ideas, Wakefulness, Depression, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The certain effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges made moderate.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt his greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superiors in the United States.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

The undersigned having assumed the management of this well known public house, and having made extensive improvements therein, solicits a continuance of the patronage of the travelling public that has so long been extended to the house.

A new parlor and an extensive suite of commodious and well-ventilated sleeping apartments have been added, and a separate Ladies' Entrance from Pleasant Street, arranged. Gentlemen with their families, or ladies unattended, will now find quiet and refined apartments connected with the street and dining hall by an independent entrance.

The house will be kept as a first class hotel in every respect, and the proprietors will spare no pains to merit the patronage of those visiting this section of the State.

A good STABLE is connected with the house, where passengers visiting Portsmouth with teams, will be promptly and carefully waited upon.

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE
READY-MADE CLOTHING
ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT
"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "cent cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, JUNE 10, 1862.

THE TAX BILL PASSED.—The Tribune roughly estimates that the Senate has stricken off about one-third of the taxation imposed by the House bill, and that this will yield about one hundred millions per annum, or with the Tariff one hundred and fifty millions. A good many petty items, which were calculated to produce more annoyance than revenue, were stricken out entirely. Some imports are reduced one-half. The only new item of much account is cotton, which is taxed half a cent per pound. Should the country hereafter grow two and a half millions of bales of four hundred pounds each, this tax will yield five millions of dollars. Among the articles which the Senate refused to tax are watches, plate and dogs. The main reason for this is the large expense of collecting and the poke-nose scrutiny involved in levying such taxes. Slaves, the Senate like the House, ultimately refused to tax.—Should the House concur thoroughly, the bill will probably be a law within three days. Should a conference be required, it will involve delay.

☞ Steamship North American, off Cape Race Saturday noon, brings one day's later news. Notice had been given in the House of Commons of a resolution of inquiry concerning the relations between Great Britain and our government. The Daily News defends Gen. Butler's course in New Orleans as warranted by the state of affairs there. The subject of iron-cased vessels remains under serious consideration. The British Defence Commission deem fortifications still the chief means of coast defence. Spain is about to build seven iron-cased frigates.

☞ The Boston Courier mentions the Emancipation League just formed in New York, and says, "We have always been the true friends of the colored race, and would do anything in reason to make their natural condition as little irksome to them as possible"! It also says, very significantly, "It is only too apparent, that the mind of this great nation is in danger of becoming confused about the objects and means of the terrible conflict by which it is convulsed."

☞ Three immense mortars, manufactured at Fort Pitt, Pa., expressly for the navy, arrived at the Brooklyn Yard, Wednesday, and are destined, it is said, for a boat now rapidly fitting out. The weight of these mortars is enormous. One of them alone weighs 17,202 pounds, and the others nearly as much. The pyramids of shot and shell that are worked off in a little time could not be conceived without a personal examination.

NAVAL.—Lieut. James Forney of the Marine Corps, who, though a very young man, was, by the resignation of Capt. Buchanan and Col. Farret, left in temporary charge of the Washington Navy Yard in the dark days of July last, has again signalized his courage. Capt. Cravens, in his report to the Navy Department, states that he assigned him two guns at the passage of the Mississippi, and that he fought them most gallantly.

The U. S. corps of Marines is almost filled up to the required strength, and in a few weeks all recruiting, save for its current wants, will be discontinued. Two thousand five hundred men have been obtained out of the 3000 voted by Congress.

All the new steam gunboats preparing for sea at the different Navy Yards are to be completed as soon as possible. There is a rumor of another large naval expedition composed of the regular navy vessels heavily armed, and accompanied by the iron-plated boat Naugatuck and others. We have now, in such a state that they could be commissioned in five weeks, fifteen large and small men-of-war, without detaching any of the officers or men on board the ships on actual service.

☞ Judge Joshua W. Hathaway died at his residence in Bangor, Me., on Friday morning, at the age of 64 years. Judge H. was a native of Conway, N. H. He was educated at Dartmouth, and at Bowdoin in the same class with Judge Appleton, of Maine, and other distinguished men. He practiced law first in Hancock county, Me., from whence he removed to Bangor, where he became prominent at the bar. In 1845 he was appointed to a seat on the bench of the District Court in that State, and on the abolition of that court to the Supreme bench.

☞ At the dinner of the Horse Guards at Concord, last week, the Manchester American says, "Secretary of State Tenny made a little response to the last (but not least,) regular sentiment, "The women of New Hampshire." Being himself a bachelor, he spoke feelingly on the subject. He thought the sentiment was the most important one which had been given, and his remarks were evidently well received by the gallery full of ladies who graced the occasion and smiled as he spoke."

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Capt. E. W. Farr, of the Second Regiment, who lost his right arm at the battle of Williamsburg, was in Concord last week, cheerful in spirits, and determined soon to return to his regiment. Mr. Charles S. Cooper, of the Goodwin Rifles, a Bull Run prisoner, was also there, together with others, who have for nearly a year been in southern captivity. Cooper was one of those selected to be hung if our government executed the captured privateersmen. He was in Charleston jail at the time of the great fire.

—— George E. Belknap, of Newport, is First Lieutenant of the gunboat Huron, which captured the English steamship Cambria, off Charleston. The prize was brought into Philadelphia under his command.

—— An engine company in Manchester, publishes a card of thanks for refreshments furnished them at the recent fire in that city. The card closes with the following acknowledgment, intended solely for the benefit of a landlord who evidently doesn't "know how to keep a hotel":—

Also to the popular Landlord on the south side of the river, who was more anxious for the five cents for the glass of beer, than he was for the protection of his house and property.

—— E. P. Liscomb, Esq., one of the allotment commissioners for this State, has returned from his second visit to our regiments near Richmond, considerably out of health, having contracted the same "swamp fever" which has prevailed among the troops on the Peninsula. The fifth Regiment is in better condition than when he first visited them, being generally in good health. The Second has not yet fully recovered from the effects of the Williamsburg battle, in which it bore so conspicuous a part, and suffered so severely.

—— Benjamin F. Whidden, who has been appointed by the President Minister to Hayti, belongs in Lancaster and is a lawyer of some talent. Has held office in the County, graduated at Dartmouth in 1840—and is now about 45 years of age.

—— Robert N. Colley of Manchester, a member of the Eighth N. H. Regiment, and engaged in the Hospital Department, died at Ship Island on the 18th ult., after a short illness of rheumatic fever. He was 27 years of age.

—— Steamer Louisiana has arrived at Fortress Monroe from White House, with wounded soldiers, among whom are the following belonging to the 5th N. H. Regiment:—

Capt. J. Murray, Co. D, Lieut. Bohannen and J. A. Reed, A. Allen, William Weston, P. Roan, E. Malley, E. H. Smart, W. Kimball, T. Galragen, E. Baker, P. Braman, J. Myermack, C. A. Hart, G. H. Hackett, W. C. Sullivan, C. E. Severance, S. Donaldson, G. H. Fifield, E. A. Dickinson, G. W. Thurston, C. C. Willey, N. E. Wood, O. F. Hinton, H. Welch, E. S. Nourse.

—— Mr. Jona P. Holman, from Raymond, a member of the band of the 5th Regiment, died of fever at Yorktown, early in May. His age was 23.

—— Forty volunteers have gone from the town of Raymond.

——We are indebted to John Foss, Esq., Warden of the N. H. State Prison, for a copy of his annual report, embracing eleven months only, the last Legislature having passed an act requiring the books to be closed on the 30th of April instead of May 31. As heretofore, the affairs of the institution have been managed with great success; and notwithstanding the depression of business, there has resulted a gain to the State of $1705.40. All debts contracted for the prison since Mr. Foss's election as Warden, have been paid. There were 119 convicts in the prison, June 1, and 31 were received during the year. Of these, 33 have been discharged, and 5 have died.

—— The Governor's Horse Guards, who took part in the ceremonies at Capt. Ainsworth's funeral, at Nashua, were very handsomely entertained at the Pearl Street House, at the expense of the Nashua City government. The corps was commanded by Capt. John H. George of Concord, Co. A.

—— Among nearly 500 sick (not wounded) soldiers who arrived at Yorktown, Va., on Thursday, from Gen. McClellan's army, are the following belonging to N. H. regiments:—

Second Regiment—Sergeant T. Lees, Newmarket, Co. B; Corp. G. Hadley, Manchester, Co. C; Allen P. Bell, Portsmouth, Co. K; M. McManus, Fitzwilliam, Co. A; I. Rollins, Alton, Co. F; W. H. Staples, Stratford, Co. F.

Fifth Regiment—Thomas C. Blanchard, Sandwich, Co. H; I. Doyle, Wakefield, Co. H; H. G. Crosbie, Elizabeth, Co. C.

—— Among the wounded soldiers from McClellan's army who arrived at Fortress Monroe on Friday afternoon, were:—

5th N. H. Regt.—Col. Edward E. Cross, Major W. W. Cook; Lieut. J. C. Reed; Michael Cassidy, Co. B; James H. Carlton, Co. C; Lucius Way, Co. I.

☞ It is stated confidently, says a Washington dispatch, that Gov. Stanley will resign or be recalled in ten days; also that an order has been sent suspending Gen. Hunter.

"Breeches of trust"—Trowsers procured on credit.

THE REBELLION.

Capt. Davis' official report shows that the battle above Memphis between his fleet, aided by Col. Ellett's ram flotilla, and the rebel fleet of eight gunboats and rams, resulted in the capture or destruction of seven of the rebel boats,—one escaping by superior speed. Two rams were sent in pursuit of her. The engagement continued from 51-2 to 7 o'clock, A. M. At its close the Mayor of Memphis surrendered the city, and it was at once placed under military authority. Col. Ellett, who was seriously though not dangerously wounded, is highly spoken of for his gallantry. Our rams were manned by sharpshooters, who did good execution in picking off the rebel gunners at every opportunity. The enemy's loss in killed, wounded and prisoners is heavy, but not yet fully ascertained.—We captured five large steamers, which were moored at the levee. The rebels burned a new gunboat, which was nearly ready to be launched.

The following is Gen. McClellan's statement of the killed, wounded and missing of the 31st of May and June 1st, in front of Richmond:—

Gen. Sumner's Corps, 2d—183 killed, 894 wounded, 146 missing.

Gen. Heintzelman's Corps, [in which is the N. H. 5th Regiment,] 3d—259 killed, 980 wounded, 155 missing.

Gen. Keyes' Corps, 4th—448 killed, 1753 wounded, 921 missing.

Total—890 killed, 3627 wounded, 1222 missing. Total killed, wounded and missing, 5739.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 5th, states that the rebel loss in the late battle at Fair Oaks was 8000 men, including 5 Generals, 23 Colonels, 10 Majors, and 57 Captains.—The Dispatch complains that the Federals can at any time cut off the retreat of the Confederates by seizing the railroads at Petersburg, and intimates that a retreat to Lynchburg and the mountains would be the only one left them.

A thousand rebels were routed on the Pocotaligo, above Beaufort, S. C., a short time since. Our forces destroyed the Savannah and Charleston railroad for some distance, and then retired to Beaufort. The enemy is reported to be ten thousand strong near Charleston, and a battle is imminent. Dispatches from Flag Officer Dupont state that the gunboats have possession of Stono, near Charleston. The capture was made in consequence of information from Robert Small, the contraband who ran away with a steamer. The negro brigade has been

Gen. Jackson's army, at last accounts closely pursued by Gen. Fremont, had been reduced to about five thousand men, the rest having fled to the mountains for safety.

Gen. Wool has arrived at Baltimore and established his headquarters.

Southern papers, received in Baltimore, give important news from Charleston. Our gunboats on the 3d were moving up as if to engage the rebel batteries, and consequently great excitement prevailed in the city.—The rebel papers state Gen. Gist captured 100 Union prisoners on the 3d, and that on the 4th our troops to the number of 2000 landed on James' Island, opposite the city; that a battle took place and our troops were repulsed, with a loss of twenty men, taken prisoners by the forces of Gen. Gist.

A letter from aboard the gunboat Alabama, off Charleston, 27th ult., says the rebel steamer Catawba was chased ashore by the Alabama and Pocahontas, riddled with shot, and sunk to her guards. On the 27th the woods and hills on Sullivan's Island were shelled.

[A letter from Hilton Head to a gentleman in Boston, says:—"A movement of magnitude has at last commenced against Charleston, and I hope it will be ours not long after this letter reaches you." Sullivan's Island is about three miles in length; Fort Moultrie is situated upon the end nearest the city, and is about four miles distant. James Island is separated from the main land, on which Charleston is situated, by the Ashley river,—about half a mile wide. The troops repulsed by the rebels, probably, were merely a reconnoitering party sent out by our forces.]

The Petersburg Express of the 4th inst., states that a dispatch from Mobile informs them that the Union fleet had attacked Fort Morgan, having passed the lower batteries.

A dispatch to the N. Y. Post says Col. Polk, of Tennessee, declares that the flower of Beauregard's army is at Richmond.

☞ Private letters from Baltimore state that Jeff. Davis has issued an address to the rebel army, in which he designates the battle at Fair Oaks as a glorious rebel victory. He also tells them that they took 8000 prisoners, 70 guns and a large quantity of provisions and munitions of war.

It is said that "the evil that men do, lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones." If this be true, we fear Jeff. Davis, when he meets his deserts, will be buried alone.

☞ Intelligence, official and unofficial, does not confirm the reports that the State of North Carolina is upon the point of returning to her loyalty. Gen. Burnside is far from desiring any portion of his forces withdrawn.

☞ A few days since a number of prisoners of war, who had been released on parole, passed over the P. S. & P. Railroad, on their way to their homes. Among the number was a blue eyed, pale-faced boy, of not more than seventeen, whose shoulders seemed hardly equal to carrying a forty-pound knapsack. For some time he had been looking intently out of the car window, and suddenly, when the train was approaching Biddeford, he jumped up and with face all aglow and eyes sparkling with delight, exclaimed—"Boys, there's my father's chimney." As if by a simultaneous inspiration, the soldiers all arose and sang Sweet Home with the effect that is sometimes produced by those simple notes and simple lines. More than one bearded man looked out of the window as an excuse to conceal his tears.

☞ A young lady named Chamberlain, a teacher in Templeton, Mass., one night recently, got up in her sleep, dressed herself carefully, and left the house without arousing the other inmates. Some time during the latter part of the night the young lady's father was awakened by some one rapping at the door. He got up, and on opening the door found his daughter upon the step. As she entered she asked for a glass of water, and having drank, went directly up to the chamber she had been accustomed to occupy, and commenced preparations to retire to her bed, when she awoke and was astonished to find herself at her father's house instead of her boarding place, eleven miles distant.

BOSTON MASONS IN PORTLAND.—The De Molay Encampment of Knight Templars, in Boston, have accepted an invitation to visit Portland on the 24th inst., on the occasion of the centennial anniversary of the introduction of Masonry into Maine. There will be a great turn-out of the Masons from various parts of New England on the occasion.

COLLEGE REGATTAS.—The students of Harvard have accepted a challenge from the students of Yale College, for a boat race to come off on the Fourth of July, between picked crews of the two Colleges.—It is to take place on any waters this side of New Haven, the choice to be left to Yale. Worcester is now thought of as the probable scene of the contest.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dittress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1863. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1861.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our town in the spring of 1860, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

DIED, in this city, on Monday evening, June 9, AUGUSTUS JENKINS, Esq., in the 59th year of his age. He had held several municipal offices, and was Collector of Customs at this port, under Mr. Buchanan's administration,—and also in that of Pres. Polk.

☞ Schooner Garnet, Spear master, from Rockland for New York, with lime, before reported in danger at Rye Beach, went ashore not far from the Ocean House, on Saturday; and water coming to the lime, vessel and cargo were burnt. But 25 bbls. lime was saved. The crew came to shore safely.

THE BEST BEER we have had sent us this year, was from the manufactory of the Messrs. Foster, in High Street. They call it "small," but there is nothing small about it—so it won't do to send Whittem a case of it, as we were going to recommend. It is more like soda, or the California beer-seed beer, than ordinary pop. Try it.

☞ Carpenter Samuel N. Whitehouse, of Portsmouth, has been ordered to report for duty, on board the U. S. steamer Canandaigua, Capt. Green, at Charlestown.

☞ Thanks for those loveliest of rosebuds, from C., on Monday. May such ever surround you. F.

A CARD.—At a special meeting of Lafocnia Engine Company No. 2, held this, Monday afternoon, the following resolutions were adopted:—

Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Ruler to remove from our midst our brother fireman Mr. ANDREW J. LEACH, in the prime of life and in the midst of his usefulness,

Resolved, that it is with profound sorrow that we bow submissively to this act of an all-wise Providence.

Resolved, that we cherish with grateful recollections his many virtues, and promptness to obey the call of duty.

Resolved, that we find in the character of our departed brother, all the essentials of a true man and a kind friend.

Resolved, that we extend to the bereaved family our warmest sympathies in this their hour of sore affliction, for the loss of a loving son and brother, hoping that our loss is his gain. HIRAM C. LOCKE,
WILLIAM W. COTTON,
Committee.

Portsmouth, June 9, 1862.

☞ One is almost tempted to think that Newburyport is known among a certain class as a capital place of refuge for "queer cases," and that they flock thither as to an asylum. The Herald has given full accounts of many of them, and here is its latest:—

"A case has presented itself to the city committee entrusted with the duty of aiding families of persons in the service of the United States. A woman had been drawing twelve dollars a month for herself and children, as the wife of a volunteer. Upon being visited it was ascertained that she had four children, for two of which she could not give the name of the father; and her husbands were in this way;—Her first husband had died. Then she married a man who already had one wife living. He is now in the army, and on his account she was drawing money from the relief fund. Upon being questioned if the youngest children were his, she pointed to one little fellow about two years old, and said he belonged to another man who was in the navy, and from whose wages she received fifteen dollars a month. It happened, she said, that her husband was gone a long time, and she supposing him to be dead, received attentions from her admirer and lover of the navy; but just as she would marry him her husband turned up, placing her in this queer predicament. Upon the whole, she said, she would not press her claims for relief from the State, as the family had been so mixed that she did not know on whose account she was entitled to draw, and it might lead to too much enquiry."

☞ The N. Y. Times editorially says that Rev. Dr. Styles, (whose ministration at the Mercer street Church in that city is well remembered, and who has resided in Richmond for the last year,) states in a private letter recently received by a friend in New Haven, that the rebel army there numbers two hundred thousand men, and that it is well disciplined and determined to make a desperate fight in defence of the city.

☞ The N. Y. Times' Washington dispatch says the Sec. of the Treasury intends to ask Congress to authorize a further issue of $150,000,000 demand Treasury notes.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, when passed, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief dryer than it can possibly be done by rope, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement is this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meat. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:
NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
Mr. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty we experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this city to substitute Old Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey, and your high rank as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we do not hesitate to address you, and will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.
DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper-distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, your obt. servt.
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

THE BLACKBIRD.—When a blackbird once learns a tune, he never forgets it nor any part of it. I once knew a bird that could whistle "Polly Hopkins" with wonderful accuracy. His owner sold him, at the same time making the purchaser acquainted with the bird's favorate tune. As soon as the gentleman got him home, he at once hung up the blackbird, and going to the piano, struck up "Polly Hopkins." The bird's new master, however introduced parts into the tune that he had never heard before, so, after listening awhile, he began hissing, fluttering his wings, and otherwise signifying his distaste of the whole performance. Much surprised, the gentleman left off playing, and then the blackbird opened his throat, and favored his new master with his version of "Polly Hopkins" nor would he ever listen with any patience to any other version. This same blackbird, after staying in the service of the above mentioned gentleman for two years, was adopted by a serious family, where "Polly Hopkins" and all such profanity were scrupulously avoided. Whenever poor "Joe" (the blackbird's name) attempted to strike up the old tune, a cloth was thrown over his cage, and he was silenced. The family consisted of an old lady and two daughters, and every night, at 7 o'clock, prayers were read, and the "Evening Hymn" sung; and Joe, who was an obedient bird, and anxious to conform to the habits of the house, speedily learned the tune, and regularly whistled it while the old lady and her daughters sang it. This went on for six or seven years, when the mother died, and the daughters separated, and Joe, now an aged blackbird, fell into new hands; but to his dying day he never gave up the "Evening Hymn." Punctually as the clock struck 7 he tuned up, and went straight through with the gravity of a parish clerk.—Beeton's Home Pets.

Astounding as seems the immensity of the armies, both North and South, now engaged in the civil strife, it is not so much so, as is the incredible short time in which these forces have been thrown into the field, and the malignity and hatred with which the combatants rush to battle. The recommendations for a peaceful solution of our difficulties, though coming from the wise and good of the land, were treated with contempt and at a given signal, a whole nation flies to arms.—California Citizen.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL IN THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse"

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which terminated in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all and it is for the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men are very mistaken their interests, when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most active. By many it is considered, that every time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time when they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a popular, and the usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who neglectsates to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

Portsmouth, Dec. 30, 1861.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLCITED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate victims of secret ills that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Gravel, Rheumatism, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and fearful effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful results of the mind are seen and to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, love of solitude, are among the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consult a physicians of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr1—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted persons soon rejoice in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

PERRY & CO.'S PATENT
Royal Aromatic Elastic Bands.
These Bands are not only perfectly free from the unpleasant smell of sulphur, which detracted so much from the value of the old Bands, but have on the contrary a very agreeable perfume. They are equal in Elasticity and Strength to the original, somewhat softer, not liable to be affected by the Climate; and are superior in every respect to anything yet introduced for placing round and securing Papers and Parcels of every description.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

It is reported that 20,000 rebels have deserted from Beauregard's army since the evacuation of Corinth. The people of the country, through which the rebels are retreating, are in a sad state of destitution.

Gen. Fremont's force reached Harrisonburg on Friday, driving Jackson's rear guard from the town. Severe skirmishing continued during the day, the enemy's rear being closely pressed by our advance. A portion of N. J. Cavalry fell into an ambuscade in the woods, in which their Colonel was killed and considerable other loss sustained. Jackson is thought to have left the main road, and has either halted the main column for battle or greatly strengthened his rear guard, and posted his trains which are in confusion on the road.

The excitement at Memphis is subsiding. A rebel steamer, which was concealed from our fleet above the city on Friday, has been captured. About 2000 bales of cotton were burnt.

The official report of Gen. Banks, concerning his late retreat from the valley of the Shenandoah, gives the following estimate of his loss: Killed, 38; wounded, 155; missing, 712; total, 905. Gen. Banks believes that many of the missing will yet return, and the entire loss ultimately not exceed 700. He succeeded in saving all his artillery, and out of a train of 500 wagons, only fifty-five were lost, and of those the majority were burned to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy.

The rebel papers admit that Gen. Jos. E. Johnston was wounded in the battle at Fair Oaks, and say that Gen. Lee is in command of the rebel army at Richmond.

Rebel dispatches from Jackson, Miss., claim that on the 31st, Capt. Haskins' battery opened on our transports at Grand Gulf, causing them to retreat. Capt. Haskins reports that he sunk one Federal transport and crippled another. On Sunday our forces landed troops at Grand Gulf and marched through Port Gibson, but it is alleged that the rebels drove them back, killing and wounding about one hundred.

A dispatch from Baton Rouge, La., 27th says the Federals attempted to land troops there on the day previous, and, on being fired upon, without giving timely notice commenced throwing shot and shell into the town. Many houses were struck, and the women and children fled from the town, in all directions. Our forces were landing troops, and a battle was expected, as there were rebel troops near the city.

The Mobile Advertiser has a private letter from Fort Gaines, dated 30th ult., which says that eighteen Federal vessels had passed the fort, and two or three were firing at Fort Morgan.

Gen. Burnside and staff arrived at Fortress Monroe on Monday, via the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal, which is open its entire length, all the obstructions having been removed by Gen. Burnside. His object was to have important communication with the Government.

The Federal party which raised the stars and stripes on the Post-office in. Memphis, was fired upon several times and stoned by the mob below. Yet Col. Ellett reports that many evidences of an extended Union sentiment reached him, particularly among the men of standing in the city.

Gen. Halleck reports on the 9th, that the enemy had fallen back to Tussilla, 50 miles by rail and nearly 70 by wagon road.—Beauregard himself retreated from Baldwin, on Saturday, to Okolona. Gen. Pope and Gen. Buell each estimate the rebel loss from casualties, prisoners and deserters at over 20,000. Some of the fresh graves on the road have been opened, and found filled with arms.

Gen. Fremont reports, 7th, that the attack upon Jackson's rear precipitated his flight, and that his loss in killed and wounded was very severe, many being left on the field. He says their retreat is by an almost impassable road along which many wagons were left in the woods, and loads of blankets, etc., are piled up in all directions.—Col. Ashby, who covered the retreat, was among the killed.

Our troops have buried over 3000 rebels at Fair Oaks. A reconnoitering party had been within three miles of Richmond.

☞ The annual meeting of the Suez Canal Company took place in Paris recently. M. Lesseps announced that the finances of the company were in a satisfactory condition, and that in eight months the waters of the Red and Mediterranean Seas would mingle.

☞ It is said that when Gen. Fremont was at the West, his most secret dispatches to the President were sent in Magyar, which was as good as cipher, since no traitor knows the tongue. What a compliment to the native tongue of Kossuth—"No traitor knows the tongue!" It is said there is no record of any Hungarian being in the rebel service though there are many in our army.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mrs. Holmes, wife of Mr. James Holmes of Manchester, on Saturday took quantity of corrosive sublimate, mistaking it for camphor, on Saturday morning, and died early in the afternoon. She was 38 years of age.

—— A man in Concord, who does quite a business in the line of stone wall building, is blessed with wife a who has good health and a sinewy frame, and works all day with him in building stone walls.

—— It is reported that one man in every five belonging to the New Hampshire Fifth was either killed, wounded or missing, after the engagement at Fair Oaks.

—— The Legislative Reporter learns that Col. J. A. Gilmore has resigned his commission as Colonel of the Ninth Regiment now being raised.

Congress, Monday.—In the Senate the joint resolution relating to the District of Columbia Penitentiary passed after debate, with an amendment discharging the volunteers imprisoned under court-martial sentence. The Senate went into high court of impeachment on the trial of Judge Humphreys. Proceedings were postponed to the 26th inst.

In the House a resolution was adopted requesting the President to communicate, if not incompatible with public interest, whatever information may be in his possession concerning our relations with foreign powers. The Committee on the Judiciary were instructed, 77 to 43, to report a bill modifying the fugitive slave law, so as to require a jury trial in all cases where the person claimed denies under oath that he is a slave, and also requiring any claimant under said act to prove that he has been loyal to the Government during the present rebellion. Mr. Bernbiesel, of Utah Territory, presented the Constitution of Utah with a memorial asking for admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original States. Referred to the Committee on Territories.

☞ The "ram flotilla" which rendered such signal service in the action with the rebel gunboats near Memphis, comprises 8 vessels. They are mostly steamers raced and fortified by covering their sides with two layers of live oak timber, each about 8 inches thick. The prows are iron-plated and quite sharp, and instead of heavy guns these vessels carry a number of sharpshooters, whose firing among the rebel gunners during the action was very effective. These rams are not under the command of the Flag Officer of the fleet, but are a part of the army, and are commanded by Col. Ellett.

Paymaster Wise, of the gunboat flotilla, publishes a card in the Western papers, in which he says:—

"I have paid the whole expense of the flotilla from the first, and including the cost of the gunboats, their equipment, the purchase of several large steamers, pay of officers and men, and the accumulation of a vast amount of material got together in a hurry; and with all the disadvantages of forming a navy in the far West, our whole expenses do not thus far cover three millions of dollars, and we have hardly a debt unpaid.—Our expenses are now about $150,000 per month, making $5000 per day."

☞ A. Williams & Co., of Boston, will publish immediately the Declaration of Independence, and Washington's Farewell Address, in Great Primer type. This will supply a want long felt, as it will be expressly adapted to the convenience of public readers.

☞ The salary which Heenan receives in England for sparring and exhibiting his muscle, is said to be $100 a week, which is exactly the amount of the pay of the President of the United States.

☞ By the mistake of an apothecary, at Winchester, Ill., a quantity of antimonial wine was sold to the Methodists for communion. It was quarterly meeting day when it was taken, and the effect was frightful.

Old Heads and Young Hearts.—Two men, each seventy eight years of age, procured within a few days, in Boston, licenses to get married. One was an American, and the other an Irishman.

Gen. Hunter has disbanded his negro brigade at Port Royal. They can't make the negroes fight; there is no fight in them. This rebellion enlightens us more on the character of the negro than the two hundred years' previous experience.—Newburyport Herald.

The Total Eclipse of the Moon, this, Wednesday, night, will begin about 12 o'clock, and will become total about 2 o'clock, and ends at 3:15 Thursday morning. Convenient hours for observation!

☞ Henry E. Miner was tried at Manchester, Vt., last week, for pounding Martin Dole, who was talking "Secesh." The jury acquited him without leaving their seats.

☞ A dispatch from Washington says W. H. Hooper and George C. Cannon, Senators from Utah, with a son of Brigham Young, are on a visit to that city.

☞ The English papers concede that Sir William Armstrong's guns are failures, and they pitch into him in the newspapers and in Parliament without mercy.

For the Chronicle.

Prof. Sanborn's Letter, says Uncle Toby, is a curious specimen of logic, coming from a college professor with double honors. The logic of events, however, is stronger than that of schools, and vastly stronger than that of Prof. Sanborn, who seems to be a school to himself.

Let us analyze his logic. His premises are: 1, that the negro is innocent: 2, that he is destined to ruin the country: 3, that his freedom is not worth the price we are paying for it: 4, that the negroes are so degraded as to disappoint all their friends by not rising against their masters.

With this formidable array of premises, he comes to this grave conclusion: "The inference to my mind is, that a large majority of them are content with their present lot."

In the very next sentence, however, he upsets this inference by stating that "about 40,000 have run away, been carried away, or stolen from Missouri." And in the next paragraph he tells us that "slavery must die out soon in the border States."

It is true he adds, "it must be left to State management,"—and that "we shall never have substantial peace till the Northern States consent to drop the negro question." But he does not tell us how this dropping is to be made possible. He forgets to remember, or remembers to forget that, but for aid from the Northern States, Missouri to-day would have been a mere province of the Slave Empire, and the negro question would have been settled there by Toombs and Davis.

The running away of slaves does not prove their content,—and Prof. Sanborn's assertion that "slavery must soon die out in the border States," does show that somebody is not content with it,—i. e. either the masters or the non-slaveholding whites.—If these classes may think and say it is a bad thing, why may not we?

Prof. Sanborn tells us it is because we are Northern States, that we must drop the negro question: but he does not mean Northern—he only means because we are Free States.

When slavery dies out in Missouri, as he says it will soon die,—of course it will then be a free State. And from that day no man of Missouri must be allowed, in Congress or any where else, to tell his own experience in this matter, or in any way encourage emancipation elsewhere. He must drop the negro question.

This argument begins by fixing the destiny of the country to ruin,—and ends with proposing to defeat destiny!

His end proposed is an impossibility! and the means are likewise impossible.—The difficulty which so troubles the Professor is not that a few millions of people are black, or white or yellow, but that they are slaves,—and that this continued, until, as Jefferson predicted, "God has diffused light and liberty" among our countrymen, and "exterminating thunder" begins to be heard.

They had just such a difficulty in the West Indies for about 200 years, caused by the same thing;—but when about 20 years ago, emancipation removed the cause, the effect soon died away,—and the destiny was not ruin, but reconstruction and reparation.

Up to that time there was the same kind of discussion and excitement, in Jamaica, the same prophecy of ruin, the same threats, we have here. There were "lions in the way," and the croaker said "I shall be slain in the streets;"—but he was a false prophet, and the free British West Indies to-day are as quiet as any part of the globe.

☞ The New York Post suggests the following plan for establishing a regular mail communication between California and Japan:—

"Let us imagine that at the close of this rebellion, which is now very near at hand, four of our best steam sloops are passed over to the Post Office Department; are then manned with working crews only, and, provided with partial armaments, placed under the command of some of our gallant lieutenants, who have seen service and deserve to remain in activity. These four steamers can be placed on this route to carry mails, treasure, and even some kinds of freight, if deemed expedient. They would also carry a few guns, and be efficient guards of our commerce in the seas they traverse, doing away with the enormous expenses of the large squadrons we have hitherto maintained."

☞ Tilman, the negro who rescued the schooner Emma S. Waring from the rebels, by killing a portion of the prize crew, received about $6000 salvage, and mysteriously left the city. He was subsisted by U. S. Marshal Murray for a long time, while his case was pending in the U. S. Court, at a cost of $140, for the payment of which, Wm. Curtis Noyes, Esq., counsel for Tilman, sent the Marshal a check of $15 on Saturday.

Rise in Coal.—At a meeting of the coal dealers of Boston, Saturday afternoon, it was unanimously agreed to fix the price of coal at six dollars per ton, on account of the great freshets in Schuylkill county, and the consequent scarcity of coal in Philadelphia.

☞ In the Missouri State Convention, on Saturday, a gradual emancipation scheme was offered but laid on the table by a vote of 52 against 19, and a motion of reconsideration was made and tabled, which effectually kills any such scheme.

The bill defining the qualification of voters was reported back from the committee, minus the section disfranchising those who have been engaged in the rebellion.

☞ The house of an abortionist, an Indian doctress in Buffalo, was entered by the police last week in consequence of a dead body having been taken therefrom in a mysterious manner the midnight previous.—Two young girls were found dying there and a third had just been buried. All three were victims of the doctress's malpractice. They are represented as young and handsome, respectably connected and the victims of seduction.

☞ The army correspondent of the N. Y. Herald, with McClellan, says that during a recent battle a colonel of a certain regiment sat behind a wood-pile, holding his horse during the action. In consequence his regiment sustained a heavy loss at the first volley of the enemy, and did but little service.

☞ Capt. Henry Clay, grandson of the immortal Henry Clay, died at Louisville, Ky., on Thursday last. He was adjutant-general, with rank of captain in Gen. R. W. Johnson's brigade, and was in the battle of Shiloh, where he bore himself gallantly.—His disease was typhoid fever.

☞ The sword voted to Commodore Charles Wilkes, late of the San Jacinto, by the city of Boston, was presented to him at the Continental Hotel, in Philadelphia, on Saturday last. The presentation speech was made by Mayor Wightman.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

Portsmouth, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevents my rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; thereofre, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints.

Wm. F. Leavitt.

From Elder I Chesley, Lee, May 31, 1841.

Dr. Swett: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." Israel Chesley

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

THE FOURTH—Are we to have any Fourth of July this year? It will be ten years next year, we believe, 1863, since our great Reception of the Sons of Portsmouth—since which, little or nothing has been done on Independence Day. Now we do not think it either practicable or desirable to get up such a celebration as that, this year, (though many have expressed the desire to repeat it on the tenth anniversary, —similar, if not on so extensive a scale;) but there is no reason why there should not be a celebration of some sort in Portsmouth this year—something to amuse and interest the children and youth, at least. Why not have a regatta, or some sort of a rural gathering—where with music, reading the Declaration, &c., a few hours could be passed very pleasantly. Who says aye? and who will take hold and do it?

☞ A great improvement has just been made in Islington street, by Street Commissioner Haines, filling in gravel, between Pearl and Ann streets. The cross-walks (which are generally a nuisance to riders, and of which there are at least five times as many in the city as are necessary or desirable,) have also been relatively lowered, and paving stones laid alongside.

But there is one thing more needed, before that and many other portions of the city streets can be kept in good order. The trees need thinning out and pruning up, so as to let in the sun and air, to thaw the ice and dry up the mud. We yield to no one in our love and admiration for trees; but there is neither science nor sense in letting them bury you alive, or grow so thick and low as to do more harm than good—when they become mere unsightly nuisances. There is reason in everything, or ought to be.

NUISANCES.—"See that horrid hog," says Miss McFlimsey, as she gathers up her skirts, and with her poodle behind her, slips quickly by some stray porker. "I wish every dog in town was dead," growls some[] irate storekeeper or neat housewife as they proceed to remove or repair the defilement of some villainous curs (curse?) "Confound those cows! I should like to pound them well—and I'll have them in the pound too"—shouts the owner of some despoiled garden or door-yard. "Why don't you run over us?" asks a pedestrian who holds that walkers are more entitled to the street than riders,—of some Jehu who is going at more than legal gait, (which five miles an hour, by the way, is no gait at all more than a walk.) "Whew! what a smell!" hisses the passer by various institutions in all parts of the city—the owners or occupants of none of which consider them nuisances, any more than does the Irishman his pig, the poor man his cow, or anybody his dog. So it becomes us all, to enjoy what we may, and be watchful to trouble others as little as possible.

☞ Capt. J. Murray, of Co. D, 5th N. H. Regiment, was wounded at the battle at Fair Oaks, and arrived at Fortress Monroe on Sunday, in the Louisiana. Capt. Murray is a resident of this city, and his many friends here regret to learn of the injury he has received.

☞ A rare and exceedingly beautiful flowering shrub, or tree, is the pink hawthorne, on Islington street, just above Cabot, in the garden of Mr. Leveen.—It is now in full bloom, and is worth walking a mile to see.

☞ Short settlements make long accounts. July 1st is a good time for settling the small bills. Bill-heads printed in the neatest manner and at cheap rates, at the Chronicle office.

NEW HAMPSHIRE REGIMENTS.—Not only have the regiments which have gone from this Commonwealth been admirably equipped under the direction of the State authorities, but the soldiers have proved among the best troops in the national armies. Since the march of the forces into the seceded States begun in earnest, the volunteers from New Hampshire have comported themselves with the greatest bravery in the field, displaying the steadiness of veterans, and worthily maintaining the honor of the old Granite State.

ILLNESS OF GENERAL CASS.—On Monday last, Gen. Cass, while in attendance on the funeral of the late Mrs. Campeau, at St. Anne's Church, Detroit, was taken suddenly and seriously ill, and conveyed to his home with many fears of his immediate decease. He was considerably better, however, on the following day.

Judas betrayed our Lord for thirty pieces of silver; many professing Christians have, for a similar service, made ten times the money.

"I have turned many a woman's head," boasted a young nobleman of France.—"Yes," replied Talleyrand, "away from you."

Why is a sawyer like a lawyer? Because whichever way he goes, down comes the dust.

One year of love would do more toward setting us mutually right when in the wrong than an eternity of wrangling.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-FOURTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit, and any purchaser who thinks after applying the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, or when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and so SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has the usual great delay there, here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of Cooper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. E. AMBROSE, recommend him as a reliable agent for OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between Messrs. New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is early established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the interests or wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continual system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time for advertising, but the experience of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that, at any season, they can with shrewdness by curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the fields when other throats occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It is a right way, and a profitable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sometimes later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The business is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

MOOSEHEAD LAKE!

The Most Popular and Delightful Summer Resort in Maine!

THE MT. KINEO HOUSE,

J. R. CROCKER, Superintendent, is located at Mt. Kineo, near the middle of the Lake, and is the central point for Trout Fishing and Moose Hunting Parties. The House, which commands a most delightful and picturesque view of the Lake and surrounding Forests and Mountains, has during the past season been enlarged, refitted and refurnished throughout. On the premises is a billiard room. Stages connect with steamer leaves, a Bowling Alley, new and beautiful Sail and Fishing Boats and birch Canoes!

☞ Popular and Experienced Guides are engaged at the Mt. Kineo House, and will at all times be at the service of its guests.

Parties wishing to visit the Lake can purchase Through Tickets from Boston to Mt. Kineo House, via Boston and Maine and Androscoggin and Kennebec Railroads to Greenville, thence by Stage to Greenville, (foot of the Lake,) thence by the elegant little Steamer, FAIRY OF THE LAKE, Capt. Thos. Robinson, for Mt. Kineo House.

FARE THROUGH $7.50, and passengers have the privilege of stopping over at Portland or any place.

Passengers by this route will find excellent accommodations at the

SHAW HOUSE, Newport, S. B. Brown, Prop.
NEWPORT HOUSE, Newport, C. B. Pratt, "
EVELETH HOUSE, Greenville, T. Robinson.
SEBOMOOK HOUSE, Greenville, J. Crocker.

Passengers by the Morning Trains per Boston and Maine or Eastern Railroads, via Portland, may also arrive at the Lake in regular season DAILY via NEWPORT, or on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, via Skowhegan and Bangor; or on Tuesday and Friday, via Bangor, per Steamer M. SANFORD.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLCITED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Weakness of procreation, Inflamation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for pleasure or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, aversion to the society of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consider the duties of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Persons who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cures of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an extensive practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.
1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.
2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.
3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.
4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.
5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

PERRY & CO.'S PATENT
Royal Aromatic Elastic Bands.
These Bands are not only perfectly free from the unpleasant smell of sulphur, which detracted so much from the value of the old Bands, but have on the contrary a very agreeable perfume. They are equal in Elasticity and Strength to the original, somewhat softer, not liable to be affected by the Climate; and are superior in every respect to anything yet introduced for placing round and securing Papers and Parcels of every description.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, JUNE 12, 1862.

N. H. LEGISLATURE, Tuesday.—In the Senate, a bill was introduced, in amendment of the act remodelling the militia system, passed at the last session.

In the House, several petitions for a tax on dogs, were referred to a select committee, consisting of one from each county.—Mr. Jones of this city, presented the remonstrance of Geo. W. DeRochemont and 55 others, against the right of Nath'l P. Coleman, of Newington, to a seat in the House: referred to the Committee on Elections. A message was received from the Governor, stating the amount claimed from the State by towns, for money spent in aid of the families of volunteers; accompanied by a recommendation from the State Treasurer, (which was acted upon,) that a committee be appointed to co-operate with him in the examination of the claims.—These claims amount to about $200,000.—A bill was introduced by Mr. Coughlin of Manchester, repealing chap. 137 of the Revised Statutes. [This bill proposes to annihilate all the pounds in the State.] Mr. Coughlin (in answer to Mr. Robinson of Portsmouth) said that he presented the bill at the request of other parties, who had promised to appear before the Judiciary Committee and give their reasons. Mr. Robinson said the streets of his city were lined with cows, and he had himself caused thirty to be put in the pound, at one time. They would be unable to get through the streets, if the pounds were abolished. The question being taken, the bill was refused a second reading.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

Whereas, it becomes us to recognize the devotion and bravery of those sons of New Hampshire, who have gone forth to aid in suppressing the rebellion, and who have vindicated on every battle-field the honor and loyalty of the State:—

Resolved, That this House has heard with pride of the uniform daring, devotion and soldierly bearing of the soldiers from this State, and that it tenders to those organizations herein named, which have participated in the active engagements of the war, its cordial thanks for their deeds, which have now become historic, and extends its sympathies to the bereaved ones whose friends have been sacrificed upon the altar of patriotism and country.

To the Second Regiment, Col. Gilman Marston, for its steady coolness amid the memorable scenes of Bull Run, and for its heroic achievements upon the field of Williamsburg. Cool in danger, brave on every occasion, it has earned for the State an enviable renown, and made itself a proper mark for public thanks and private eulogy.

To the Fifth regiment, Col. Edward E. Cross, which bore the brunt of the fight before Richmond, losing in forty minutes two hundred of its numbers in killed and wounded—with many of its officers wounded, with its ranks decimated by a severe fire, it only changed its position to carry the glorious stars and stripes and the flag of the State nearer to the enemy.

To the Sixth Regiment, Col. Simeon G. Griffin, which decided the day at Camden. On the anniversary of a revolutionary battle, it made its name honored, and by its decisive charge, won for itself honor, and for the country a victory.

To the First Battalion of Cavalry, which, by its charge at Front Royal, displayed courage in the face of disaster, and contributed to the safety of the command to which it was attached.

Resolved, That while we are proud of the gallant achievements of the Sons of the State, while we tender to them our thanks and inscribe their deeds on the tablet of memory, we sympathize with those who are called to mourn for those near and dear, who have fallen in the conflict. We honor the living and reverence the dead, and while we express our thanks for the patriotism, undaunted bravery and loyalty of the Sons of New Hampshire engaged in the fight, we share with those who mourn in their regrets for the brave men who have fallen.

Resolved, That the proper officers of this House transmit to the officers commanding the several organizations herein named, a copy of these resolutions.

CONGRESS, Tuesday. — The President sent a message to Congress, recommending the necessary legislation to carry into effect the Seward-Lyons slave trade treaty. A memorial was presented in the Senate, from the people of Utah, asking admission of the Territory into the Union as the State of Deseret. An appropriation for the salary of a Commissioner and Consul-General to Hayti and Liberia was passed. The bill granting lands to the States for the endowment of agricultural colleges was passed, with an amendment limiting the amount of public land so appropriated in any one State to one million acres. The House passed a bill directing the transfer of the Western gunboat fleet to the Navy Department.

☞ The Danish Government has made a proposition to our Government for the settlement of negroes found on board captured vessels, on the Island of St. Croix, where labor is much needed. The plan promises to be advantageous to the United States, if carried out, and Secretary Seward seems to view it with favor.

Prentice thinks the rebels are like the Mails; they run regularly every day, Sundays not excepted.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Fremont, after a week's chase, overtook the enemy eight miles beyond Harrisonburg, and a severe engagement ensued, on Sunday. After fighting for three hours, Jackson's force were driven from the field, and Gen. Fremont's troops occupied the rebel camp. The loss was heavy on both sides, ours being estimated from 600 to 800 in killed, wounded and missing. Gen. Fremont says:—"The enemy was very advantageously posted in the timber, having chosen his own position, forming a smaller circle than our own, and with his troops formed en masse. It consisted, undoubtedly, of Jackson's entire force." He also states that the fight may be renewed at any moment.

All of Gen. McClellan's army except Porter's and Franklin's divisions and reserves have crossed the Chickahominy.

The Federal gunboats have not yet passed the obstructions in James river. No rise in the river has occurred sufficient to enable the boats to pass Fort Darling.

The rebel steamer Nashville was still at Nassau, June 1st.

Memphis remains quiet. It is said that the rebels have destroyed a quantity of cotton at Madison and Witsburg, on the St. Francis river. It was reported in Memphis, on Tuesday, that Com. Farragut's fleet passed Vicksburg, but was compelled to return below the city on account of low water.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A little boy, ten years of age, in Goffstown, on Monday, was hanging on the rear of a dump cart loaded with gravel, and the driver not seeing him tipped it up. The load fell upon the little fellow, nearly burying him, and breaking both legs.

—— Benjamin F. Calef, who was killed on the Northern railroad, near Concord, last Thursday evening, belonged in Franklin and was 31 years of age. He was respectably connected, and it is denied that he was under the influence of liquor at the time, as has been stated in the papers.

—— The depot at Exeter was broken into on Monday night, and robbed of about $10 in coppers. The thief was arrested by Mr. Chas. Messer, of the early freight train, and brought back to Exeter. He had purchased a ticket for Boston, paying for the same in copper coin. The store of John Gilman, in Exeter, was entered on the same night, it is supposed by the same man.

—— Miss Sarah J. Oliver, 18 years of age, of New Ipswich, visited the first police station in Boston, on Tuesday, and said she had left her home clandestinely, in the morning, to obtain employment, but her search had been unsuccessful. She was sent to the Temporary Home in Charles street.

From the Dover Enquirer.

EXECUTION IN NEW HAMPSHIRE IN OLDEN TIME.

Seventy-four years ago, this section of New Hampshire, and indeed nearly all New England, was much excited with the case of one Elisha Thomas, of New Durham, who, having committed an atrocious, though perhaps not what would now be called a "cold blooded murder," was duly tried and hung therefor in Dover, it being the first public execution in the County of Strafford, and the last, with the exception of Andrew Howard, some sixteen years ago. On the day of Thomas's execution the town was filled with people, who came from all parts of eastern New Hampshire and the adjacent towns in Maine, to witness it. The gallows were erected on the flats at the foot of the old road leading down over "Swasey's Hill," a little south of the Cocheco Print Works, and the adjacent fields and steep banks, all around the river, on which there was not then a solitary building, were covered with spectators.

Thus much by way of introduction to the following extracts from a file of the "Salem Mercury" for the year 1788, in which Thomas and the murder which he committed, as well as various other catastrophes which followed his crime like an avenging demon, sparing not even his innocent family, are fully described. No newspaper was printed in Dover at that time, and these accounts were probably derived from Dover people directly, or sent by them to the newspaper at Portsmouth, from which they appear in some cases to have been copied by the Mercury.

Portsmouth, Feb. 8.—The following tragical circumstance occurred at New Durham on Monday last: A number of persons had assembled at Mr. Randall's tavern, on business. Among others present were Col. Tash, Capt. Peter Drown, a son of Col. Tash; and an Elisha Thomas (formerly of Durham, but lately a resident in the above town,) who got into a dispute with one of the persons present; and, having taken a stone in his fist, was dealing his blows with a great deal of violence: when Capt. Drown, pained by a sight so inhuman, slipped between them, and taking Thomas to one side of the room, endeavored by soft words to cool down his resentment, and to dissuade him from persevering in a conduct so alarming. But, alas! what was the consequence! Oh, virtue, where was thy shield! Justice, where was thy arm! At this instant, when this good man was acting the part of a mediator, Thomas drew a knife and plunged it into his breast. The wound was mortal—Capt. Drown survived but a few hours. Thus fell, in the cause of humanity and the meridian of his days, Capt. Drown, a most amiable and deserving man—esteemed and admired by his acquaintances, respected and revered by his friends.

As soon as Thomas had committed the horrid deed, he put himself in a position of defense, and threatened instant death to any person who should approach him.—Col. Tash's son endeavored to seize upon him; but, receiving several wounds, was obliged to desist. Thomas made his escape, but was apprehended and committed to jail in Dover, on Wednesday evening.

Thomas had received several favors from Capt. Drown, and was greatly indebted to him for his assiduity in procuring him a pension for the loss of his thumb while in the late continental army.

March 4.—Elisha Thomas, of New Durham, in New Hampshire, whom, not long since, we mentioned as having barbarously murdered a Capt. Drown, made his escape, but was soon after apprehended and committed to Dover jail. Thomas left at home his wife and six children. Some days after, his wife, taking with her her youngest child in her arms to one of the neighbors set out for Dover to see her husband. In the night the other five, being in bed, the eldest of them (a boy) waked from his sleep by the falling of a board from the wall to the bed, which, with the house, he saw was in flames. Springing instantly from the bed, he in vain attempted to save from the flames his four brothers and sisters, who, with the house, in a short time were reduced to ashes, himself only escaping to tell the news.

March 13.—It seems as though Mr. Thomas (of New Durham, in New Hampshire,) and his family were marked out by fate as the peculiar object of misfortune.

As Mrs. Thomas was returning in a sleigh from Dover, probably to view the sad remains of her earthly residence, and to shed a tear over her departed children—the horse took fright, and running against another sleigh, the tongue came with such force against the unhappy woman's side as to break three of her ribs; and it was with the greatest difficulty she escaped being torn to pieces.

May 13.—Mr. Thomas, under sentence of death in Portsmouth for the murder of Capt. Drown, lately mentioned in the Mercury, last week was very near making his escape. Having been furnished with pincers, he had removed his chains, and penetrated the chimney almost sufficient to pass through, but day approaching fast, thought it best to relinquish the pursuit.

Thomas was sentenced to be hung on the 22d of May, but was reprieved by the President of the State to the 3d of June, and in the Mercury of the 17th we find the following account of his execution:

Portsmouth, June 7.—On Tuesday last, sentence of death was executed on Elisha Thomas, for the murder of Capt. Peter Drown. The very peculiar circumstances of this unhappy man's fate induced a vast concourse of spectators to attend his execution. He appeared to be much affected with his situation, and employed the few moments they allowed him, in exercises, but did not address the spectators. Indeed, the melancholy catastrophe which his rash conduct had occasioned, operated so powerfully upon his senses, that it was with difficulty he supported himself till the fatal moment which was to cut the thread of his existence had arrived. The Sheriff treated the criminal with a degree of tenderness and humanity which did him honor; nor did he hurry him out of the world, but let him live till the last moment, which having arrived, after shaking hands with the Sheriff, he was launched into eternity.

May his fate be a solemn warning to all, especially to those who suffer their passions to rage uncontrolled; for in a moment when they are not aware they may rush into the toil.

The Rev. Mr. Gray, of Dover, previous to the execution, addressed the Throne of Grace in a truly fervent prayer.

The same paper contains the following:

Portsmouth, June 10.—Mr. Thomas had been suspected of setting fire to a Mr. Davis' barn, of New Durham Gore, previous to the commission of the act for which he was executed on Tuesday last; the barn, in which was a quantity of hay, was consumed. The following, written by himself a day or two before his execution, to Mr. Davis, will prove the justice of those suspicions.

"Sir, being about to appear before the bar of the Omniscient God, and being willing to obtain his forgiveness, and knowing that the only way is to confess not only to God, but also to the injured, I have now to confess to you that your opinion of my burning your barn was too true. Alas! it is now too late to make you any satisfaction, but by requesting your forgiveness most sincerely, with a sensible contrition of the crime. I have requested a merciful God to forgive the offense, but could obtain no rest until I had made this to you. I commend you and my soul to that Being who alone is able to save. Farewell forever,

ELISHA THOMAS."

PEARSON'S GRAND HISTORIC MIRROR OF THE WAR, will open at the Temple on Tuesday next. From the many flattering notices this exhibition has received from the press wherever it has been shown, we can confidently recommend it to our citizens as worthy of their patronage.

The following notice written by Ex Mayor Rodman of Providence, we copy from the Evening Press of that city:—

If there ever was a panoramic exhibition of a meritorious character, presented to the citizens of Providence, it is the one now unrolled every evening at Roger Williams Hall. As a picture of the present struggle for the supremacy of our national honor and the integrity of our flag, it commends itself to every patriotic impulse, and as an original picture demanding the higher elements of art, it should rank among the very first in order of anything in the panoramic form ever offered to the public in this country.

Banvard's Mississippi and Bayne's voyage to Europe, are the only two which I call to mind, which can be compared to it in style and execution. Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress contains many beautiful landscapes, but the panorama of which we speak contains all that was meritorious in that, with one with scientific effects superior to all others which we have ever witnessed anywhere. We allude also to the beautiful moon-light scene on the night of Col. Anderson's change of position to Fort Sumter. Observers should recollect, in looking upon this panorama in connection with their memories of others, that this is not a copy of master work of old masters, of old and time corroded cathedrals, and storied palaces of ancestral and historical epochs, but a new, living and original painting of the material for history, now expanding and growing under the inspiration of patriotism and heroic endeavor.

With only one marked exception (the railroad journey of the Massachusetts Regiment) the seven miles to the Junction (which is defective) the whole series is correct in drawing, and apparently so in incident especially. "The morning drills of the contrabands," unusually harmonious in coloring, and in individual portraiture remarkably truthful.

As citizens of this city have been too frequently imposed upon by senseless daubs, miscalled pictures, it is refreshing once in a while to be relieved by the presentation of a work of art, well deserving the name, and I most cheerfully commend it, all unsolicited or unthought of by the proprietors, to the patronage of the public, and to those who love not to be disappointed, especially in matters of art, even of a subordinate character.

☞ Horace M. Smith, Corporal of Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment, arrived at his home in this city, on Tuesday evening, suffering from wounds received in the battle of Williamsburg. Mr. Smith was one of that number who so nobly responded to the call of their country and went forth from this city in the 2d N. H. Regiment, June 20, 1861. Since then he has proved himself a noble defender of the glorious stars and stripes. He was in the battle of Bull Run, where he was slightly wounded; and was in the battle of Williamsburg, where the 2d N. H. again proved themselves worthy of the enduring names of patriots and soldiers.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTSMOUTH.

The proprietors of the "Historic Mirror of the War," now on exhibition, deem it necessary to inform the public that every effort has been made to procure accurate and truthful sketches of all the principal events and incidents of THIS GREAT REBELLION.

Messrs. Pearson, the well-known Artists of New York city, assisted by several of the leading Artists of the day, have succeeded in representing on canvas the great historical events of the times, and at a very large expense they have placed before the public not only a most correct and truthful representation of these exciting scenes, but by all pronounced in every respect

A WORK OF ART.

The unseemly daubs which are generally produced for public inspection under the name of Panoramas, have, in a great measure, shaken the confidence of the people; consequently, when a meritorious work is offered to their notice, it is frequently condemned without being seen. It is necessary, therefore, to inform all classes that this Panorama has met with the most unbounded success, having been exhibited within the past few months to no less than 125,000 SPECTATORS.

This being its first exhibition in this city, the proprietors would inform the citizens that they intend exhibiting it every evening for one week, relying upon its intrinsic merits to create the same enthusiastic patronage which its stay in any other city has never failed to produce. June12

Important to Females.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.

The combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice.—They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, Painful Menstrations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, hysterics, fatigue, pain in the back and limbs, &c., disturbed sleep, which arise from the interruption of nature.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of those irregularities and obstructions which have brought to many to a PREMATURE GRAVE. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place the general health begins to decline.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

are the most effectual remedy ever known for all complaints peculiar to FEMALES. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing, with certainty, perfect regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of some of the most eminent Physicians in America.

Explicit Directions, stating when they should not be used, with each Box.—The Price One Dollar per Box, containing from 50 to 60 Pills.

Pills sent by mail, promptly, by remitting to the Proprietor. Sold by Druggists generally.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent felting, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Manures.

J. F. SHORES, Jr.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G Co's
Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS! Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS.

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, if it is not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried guano. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but these absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing Patents, on acceptable terms, patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Undersigned feel ow gives prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and a full access to all patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey, and your integrity, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of Dr. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with the arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the enterprising merchant and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is the one to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising over failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business policy to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is thought to be very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in indicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that it cannot be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLCITED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at hi, office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never failed to benefit those, placed them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, such as Gonorrhœa, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Gravel, Humors, Painful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unnitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Young men, or those about contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed, in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted persons soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

A "WORD" FROM THE FAMOUS

"LANE,"

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to call at our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JUNE 13, 1862.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— It is rumored that Major Nelson, of the N. H. battalion of cavalry, has sent in his resignation. We do not know the cause of this act,—but the fact that in the vote of thanks which the Legislature passed, complimentary to our officers and soldiers who have been in action, the name of Maj. Nelson is not mentioned, seems significant.

—— Dr. Hunt of Laconia, has received an appointment in the hospital at St. Louis, and leaves in a few days for his new location.

—— The Boston Transcript states that Dr. Richard Steele, of that city, a few days since was taken to a police station, bleeding profusely from a wound in the head, caused by a fall in the street while intoxicated.—And the Manchester American says:

"Some fifteen years ago, there lived in Manchester Dr. Richard Steele, a man of great natural talent, and a great profligate. He was a native of Durham, and was a descendant of revolutionary stock, being a relative of the family of Gen. Sullivan. He graduated at Dartmouth College about the year 1813. He possessed an ample fortune, which he squandered, including the property of relatives. When he resided in Manchester he was exceedingly poor, and performed the most menial labor to gain his daily bread. He was a wreck of a once brilliant man, ruined by intemperance and debauchery. Is it the same Richard Steele?"

—— Edward Bellamy, of New Hampshire, has been appointed Assistant Paymaster in the Navy.

—— Col. E. Q. Fellows, Colonel of the 3d Regiment, has been appointed Colonel of the 9th, now being raised; Major Josiah Stevens, of the 2d, has been appointed Lieut. Colonel, and Capt. H. B. Titus, also of the 2d, has been appointed Major.

—— A man named Frank Libby, common laborer, was found on Friday morning lying dead in the barn of his employer, Mr. John Churchill, at Sandwich. When discovered the clothes on which he lay were on fire, and on examination it appeared that he had been shot, a large slug having entered the left breast and passed through his lungs and heart. No arrest has been made yet, although there is strong circumstantial evidence against a young man living in the place.

—— Quartermaster General Gage recommends the erection of a new State Arsenal at Concord, and the discontinuance of the one at Portsmouth. He also suggests the propriety of removing the old cannon in the Lancaster Arsenal, which were captured from Burgoyne, and placing them, with suitable inscriptions, in the rotunda of the State House.

—— The man who was arrested for breaking into the depot at Exeter on Monday night last, gave his name as John S. Floyd, of Maine, but failed to claim relationship with the Virginia thief of that name.

—— Major W. W. Cook, of the Fifth N. H. Regiment is reported wounded in the hip. He is claimed by the Boston Transcript as a Brookline man. He is, we believe, a half resident of Brookline, doing business in Boston. But he claims Derry, this State, as his home, where he is regarded as one of the driving go ahead men in whatever he undertakes. He is a member of the "Boston Tigers."

—— In Convention of the two houses of the N. H. Legislature, on Wednesday, Hon. Allen Tenny was re-elected Secretary of State, (glad of it,) and John Foss, Esq., Warden of the State Prison.

☞ The Manchester American pitches into the Governor and Council of New Hampshire, for treating Col. J. A. Gilmore, of the 9th Regt., so "that he felt compelled, from a sense of self-respect, to resign his commission." The American also says, "the appointment of Col. E. Q. Fellows, the Colonel of the 3d Regiment, (who, being at home on a furlough, is at once brought forward and appointed to the Coloneley of the 9th,) is a movement which is looked upon with suspicion by the public, and which will not give new honors to Col. F., nor recommend the Governor and Council for acts of discretion and sound policy." It says he is a good officer, but should not have left his post and men for months, and let another do the duty for which he is drawing handsome pay.

"WIND AND WEATHER PERMITTING." Our good friend of the Manchester American, speaking on Wednesday of the lunar eclipse expected on that evening, said:

"There will be an astronomical exhibition in the heavens to-night, if the weather permits."

Now we never knew before that the weather affected the movements of the heavenly bodies—however much influence it has upon mortal vision of the same.

At any rate, the eclipse did "come off," as promised by the star-gazers; and the weather was such that thousands of the curious witnessed its changes—and it was a very interesting "exhibition."

THE REBELLION.

A dispatch from Cairo says Gen. Mitchell has won another brilliant victory at Chattanooga, the enemy being completely routed after two days' hard fighting.

The Philadelphia Press army correspondent says a mutiny in the rebel army was seen from our balloon. The mutineers were North Carolinians. Volley after volley was fired between them and a party attacking them, and finally the North Carolinians broke and fled. The letter is dated the 7th, and refers to the mutiny as happening two or three days before.

Jackson's army attacked Gen. Shields' advance, on Monday morning, near Port Republic. The conflict is said to have been maintained for four hours by 2000 of our men against the main body of Jackson's army. The enemy's force became so overwhelming in number, that our advance was compelled to fall back. After falling back three or four miles, a body of cavalry was sent to attack us, but they were received in such a manner as to compel them to retire, when the engagement ended, having lasted five hours.

New Orleans advices of May 29, via Memphis, says Pierre Soule is under arrest, by order of Gen. Butler, on a high political charge, and will be sent North in a few days. The bells taken from the churches by order of Beauregard, were shipped to New York on Tuesday, by order of Gen. Butler. The Delta wants them united in one casting, and placed on the roof of Faneuil Hall.

Com. Engle of the U. S. frigate Santee, on the 17th, demanded the surrender of Galveston, Texas, to save the loss of life that would follow a bombardment. The demand was not complied with, Gen. Herbert, the rebel chief, saying when the Union land and naval forces appeared, a reply would be made. On the 23d a war vessel arrived, and under apprehension of an attack the foreign Consuls had taken steps for the protection of their subjects.

Gen. Magruder is said to have been assigned to the command of the rebels in Arkansas.

CONGRESS, Wednesday.—In the Senate, the bill in relation to the appointments of lieutenants to the Marine Corps was passed. The bill amending the Fugitive Slave law was postponed. The bill passed providing additional surgeons for the Volunteer soldiery.

In the House, the bill appropriating $150,000for service under the new post route act, was passed. A resolution was passed instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the conduct of Benjamin Wood, member from New York, information having been received by the Government that he has been engaged in communicating, or attempting to communicate, important intelligence to the rebels in arms.

☞ At the sale of the Ocean House property last week, the stables and cottage adjoining were sold for $2,500, to Mr. Cushing, of the new and spacious Ottawa House, on Cushing's (late Bang's) Island, in Portland harbor—which Messrs. Job Jenness & Son are to conduct this season. Other pieces of property connected, were also sold, among which were the cottage, stable, and lot of land on the same side of the road with the hotel, which were purchased by E. A. Straw, Esq., of Manchester, (who before owned a lot in that vicinity, as well as the handsome Cutts estate on North Road,) for $500.

The Manchester Mirror thinks the public, like republics, are ungrateful, in not sustaining Mr. Jenness in his efforts to establish that "first class" hotel, the Ocean House.

☞ The magnanimous, magnificent, munificent and beneficent editor of the Ballot, "acknowledges that he does not possess grammatical talent." Nobody will suspect him of it, when he says in the same column, that "the young soldiers shows the effect of good training"—which, alas! we wish could be truly said of him.

His much-lauded, and (notwithstanding he does write for the Ballot,) really tolerable correspondent, "L," also states that "it is dangerous for a respectable man or woman to walk on Tremont avenue without being insulted!" and talks of "eleven o'clock in the afternoon."

☞ Many of the Memphis Banks are at Columbus, Miss. Gen. Hindman took a forced loan of a million dollars from them a week ago, in the name of the Southern Confederacy. Quiet prevails in Memphis throughout the city, and the ready submission of the inhabitants to Federal rule is said to be surprising and gratifying. The civil authorities continue to discharge their functions as heretofore. The City Recorder, however, has been arrested for causing the arrest of a citizen for conversing in the street with a Union soldier.

☞ The U. S. House of Representatives on Thursday voted, 88 against 58, a general non-concurrence in all the Senate amendments to the Tax Bill, and asked for a committee of conference.

HIST. OF FORMER CONSPIRACIES

AGAINST THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

The Indian Difficulties in Georgia, 1825.—The immense tracts of lands held in Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi by the Creeks, Choctaws, Chickasaw and Cherokee Indians, proved, for a while, the source of much anxiety to government.—The "reservations" guaranteed by solemn treaty to the Indians, in the various Southern and Western States, embraced immense bodies of choice land, up to a comparatively recent period. Thus, the treaties secured to the savages, and promised protection from all infringements by whites on their domains, territories as follows:—In Georgia, nine and a half millions of acres; in Alabama, seven and a half millions; in Mississippi, fifteen and three-quarter millions; in the Territory of Florida, four millions; in the Territory of Arkansas, fifteen and a half millions; in the State of Missouri, two millions and three-quarters; in Indiana and Illinois, fifteen millions, and in Michigan, east of the lake, seven millions.

The "march of civilization" soon compassed those reservations with white settlements, and, as a matter of course, trouble followed. Encroachments would be made by the whites, covetous of the land or of its game. Indians would murder the whites and give the State authorities and the general government plenty to do to keep them in bounds. So great became the anxiety, in the Southern States, to get rid of the aborigines, that their State Legislatures demanded of Government the entire removal of the red men from their midst to the unsettled Territories around the head of the Arkansas river. Georgia made her demand peremptorily, since she held the Federal Government bound by a compact to relieve her. This compact stipulated that, in consideration of Georgia relinquishing her title and claim to the Mississippi Territory, the general government would extinguish the Indian titles to the lands within her confines, "whenever it could be peacably done and on reasonable terms." After making that agreement the Government succeeded in extinguishing the title to about fifteen million acres, and conveyed the same to the State of Georgia. There still remained 9,537,000 acres in the possession of the Indians, of which 5,292,000 acres belonged to the Cherokees, and the remainder to the Creek nation. Shortly before the termination of Mr. Monroe's administration, the State Government became very urgent for the entire removal of the Indians, and at the solicitation of the Governor, two Commissioners were appointed to make a treaty with the Creeks for the purchase of their lands. This was a treaty negotiated on the 12th of February, 1825, the famous Chief, General William McIntosh, signing it in the presence of Mr. Crowell, the United States Indian Agent, by which all the Creek country and several millions of acres in Alabama were ceded to the United States. Complaints followed it to Washington as having been concluded by McIntosh without the authority of the nation interested. The ratification of the treaty was opposed, but was finally carried by the strong vote of thirty-four to four. This sanction, on reaching the ears of the discontented Creeks, produced great excitement, and a secret council of the nation being called they resolved not to accept the treaty. The death of McIntosh was determined on, and on the 30th of April his house was surrounded by a party, who shot him and another chief, and burned his premises. This aroused the State authorities to a determined course, and Georgia resolved to take possession of the lands by force. Troops were called out to sustain the claim. By this act the State opened a controversy with the General Government, which was bound to protect the Indians in their just rights.

When Mr. Adams came into power he made the subject an early matter of examination, and became convinced that the Indians were right—that the treaty, as they represented, had been made by McIntosh without authority, and therefore that the enforcement of its provisions ought not to be urged. As Georgia had called out troops to force the savages into an acceptance and fulfillment of the treaty, it only remained for the President to order a Federal force to the confines of the reservation to protect the Indians in their rights. This step aroused not only Georgia, but also the adjoining States, who were prepared, with troops and money, to assist Georgia "against the Government and the Indians."

To avoid this hazard of war, Mr. Adams succeeded in gathering at Washington, in January, 1826, the head men and responsible representatives of the Creeks, and concluded a new treaty, which was substituted for the old one, whereby all the lands in Georgia were ceded, but none in Alabama.—Notwithstanding the opposition of the Georgia delegation in Congress, the new treaty was ratified by the Senate at the ensuing session by a vote of thirty to seven, and the appropriations were made by the House of Representatives by a vote of one hundred and sixty-seven to ten. This treaty was faithfully observed by the Indians, and Georgia became possessed of their valuable land, after waiting a quarter of a century for government to fulfil its agreement (made in 1802.) At a late day the Cherokees' title was extinguished in Alabama, though their removal to the West was not accomplished until Gen. Scott took the matter in hand (in May, 1838.)

☞ The Times' Washington dispatch says the Secretary of the Navy is about to recommend the establishment of a Navy Yard on the Mississippi, for the construction of iron-clad gunboats. Also, that immediate measures will be taken to secure abundant manufactures of the best quality of plates, as there are now but two or three mills in the country prepared to do such work.

☞ There was another large fire in Quebec, on Tuesday morning. Over 100 houses were burnt, principally wood, and the property of workmen in ship yards.

LOST—On Wednesday, between the Creek Bridge and Stratham, a WALLET, containing between $40 and $50 in bills. The finder will be liberally rewarded on leaving it at the Chronicle Office. june13

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use: Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

Also on hand, the celebrated and unequalled

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTSMOUTH.

The proprietors of the "Historic Mirror of the War," now on exhibition, think it necessary to inform the public that every effort has been made to procure accurate and truthful sketches of all the principal events and incidents of

THIS GREAT REBELLION.

Messrs. Pearson, the well-known Artists of New York city, assisted by several of the leading Artists of the day, have succeeded in representing on canvas the great historical events of the times, and at a very large expense they have placed before the public not only a most correct and truthful representation of these exciting scenes, but by all pronounced in every respect

A WORK OF ART.

The unseemly daubs which are generally produced for public inspection under the name of Panoramas, have, in a great measure, shaken the confidence of the people; consequently, when a meritorious work is offered to their notice, it is frequently condemned without being seen. It is necessary, therefore, to inform all classes that this Panorama has met with the most unbounded success, having been exhibited within the past few months to no less than 125,000 SPECTATORS.

This being its first exhibition in this city, the proprietors would inform the citizens that they intend exhibiting it every evening for one week, relying upon its intrinsic merits to create the same enthusiastic patronage which its stay in any other city has never failed to produce. june13

FOURTH OF JULY.—Mr. Chronicle:—In your item on celebrating the coming Fourth of July, you say that little or nothing has been done since the Sons' celebration of 1853. We beg leave to differ, as quite a respectable celebration was got up in 1858, as some seventy-five or a hundred of our young ladies and gentlemen will testify, who no doubt remember with some pleasure the three weeks' day and night work, in preparation for the event. A fine floral display, trial of engines, regatta, and promenade concert in the mammoth tent, were among the few specialties at that time. As the editor had just absented himself to another state, i.e. matrimony, we will give all due allowance for his lack of interest in the matter. Getting up celebrations is no small undertaking, as we and others know by experience. But we would like to see the coming Fourth observed and celebrated as in years past. If we can't have a big celebration, let us have a little one. R.

We "acknowledge the corn;" (but don't infer from that, Br. Ballot, that anybody was "corned";) and we shall defer to so good authority as our correspondent "H." on the subject of celebrations, or almost anything else, except that "other state" he refers to, but has not entered. Almost everybody "would like to see the coming Fourth observed," but it is for the very reason that "it is no small (nor thankful) undertaking, as we also know by experience,"—that people hang back from doing such things. Let our correspondent and others "able and willing," like him, go a-head, and "have a celebration."

TO THE BENEVOLENT. — Once more must we appear for aid for our country's Soldier Sons. From the plains of Shiloh, from Williamsburg, from West Point and Fair Oaks, come to us on every breeze cries for help and comfort from our wounded and suffering soldiers. The Hospitals far and near are crowded even to overflowing, and others are much needed. Everything is wanted, a shelter, clothing, medicines and attendance. All fall far short of what is needed.

Our soldiers call for aid in their distress. Shall the call be unheeded? Our country is suffering in the person of her bravest Sons. They have willingly left home and friends, and periled their lives for us, and shall we thanklessly leave them in their sickness and anguish without assistance? Men and women of New England, your suffering brothers call for help. Shall they have it? We feel as we quote the words of the Lord Jesus to you: "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto ME," that the answer would be they shall.

It is proposed to have a collection taken up in the churches on the next Sabbath in aid of the sick and wounded in the Hospitals.

PEARSON'S GRAND HISTORIC MIRROR OF THE WAR, which opens at the Temple on Tuesday Evening next, is creating an intense excitement in the principal cities and towns of New England.

We clip the following first rate notice from the Salem Gazette:—

The Grand Historic Mirror of the War, which has been exciting such furor and admiration at Mechanic Hall for the past few evenings, is most certainly a splendid work of art, and at once impresses the mind of the beholder with how much can be described successfully by the artist's touch, and with what truthfulness every particular can be described on canvass.

We took our seats in Mechanic Hall last evening with the expectation of witnessing a fair, common Panoramic View; but from the rising of the curtain on the first scene, up to the last view of this superb Exhibition, we were made spell-bound with interest and enthusiasm. Never before have the citizens of Salem had an opportunity like this to witness one of the finest Paintings ever exhibited in this city or elsewhere.—We could not enumerate the different scenes with which this exhibition abounds, but would just mention some of the most exciting—such as the scene of the glorious Seventh N. Y. Regiment marching down Broadway, on the presentation of which the enthusiasm of the audience was great, and tremendous applause was elicited. Then follow in rapid succession the Ellsworth Zouaves—the different regiments embarking for the battlefield—the towns and cities of Secessia—which, together with laughable foraging scenes, and terrific Battle Views, keep the eyes in a state of delight and wonder, the mind full of interest and awe. We seldom criticize so closely works of this kind, but we take pleasure in recommending this exhibition to our friends as one deserving the most liberal patronage. Nor would we forget to speak of the other features of the entertainment. Mr. Rufus Somerby, the eminent Lecturer of this Painting, acquitted himself in a truly able manner. We have frequently heard him on other subjects, which we thought he handled in pure oratorical style—but we must say the subject which he now treats reflects greater credit on him as an orator than any preceding one. We were also charmed with the songs of Lizzie Somerby. Her deep contralto voice was very fine, and gave double effect to the descriptive pieces she rendered so admirably during the evening. But we will not dwell longer on this subject, but only say to the citizens of Salem, Avail yourselves of the chance at the earliest opportunity of seeing this magnificent entertainment. Go early, if you wish to procure a good seat, which is very desirable, as the Hall is densely thronged at an early hour.

☞ A large quantity of hay bought of the farmers near this city some time ago, is being hauled in and stored in the buildings near the C. & P. R. R. station, formerly occupied by the Rockingham Ice Company. The buyers of this will make money out of pocket, it said by those posted.

☞ The Ballot man speaks of "temperance items" being "news of the day." Well, temperance would be a novelty to a great many people—and we are glad our cotemporary is turning his attention to it. "Let your moderation be known to all men"—though a man would have to be considerably slow, to fulfil that, wouldn't he?

☞ Among the many ingenious designs to show that "our flag is still there" we notice a tasteful and elegant refitting of the 12-oared boat "Sunnyside," which includes a painting of the exterior in the red, white and blue of the stars and stripes. The effect as she appears on the river this season is unique and pleasing.

☞ The Bank of New Hampshire is now paying a stock dividend of forty per cent. of its capital, having reduced the capital from $150,000 to $90,000. The par value of the shares is now $60.

☞ Mr. E. Fitzgerald, of this city, has been elected by the Mathetican Society of Tufts College, poet for the next anniversary of the Society, Oct. 17th.

Important to Females.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.

The combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice.—They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, Painful Menstruations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, hysterics, fatigue, pain in the back and limbs, &c., disturbed sleep, which arise from the interruption of nature.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of those irregularities and obstructions which have consigned so many to a PREMATURE GRAVE. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place the general health begins to decline.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

are the most effectual remedy ever known for all complaints peculiar to FEMALES. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing, with certainty, perfect regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of some of the most eminent Physicians in America.

Explicit Directions, stating when they should not be used, with each Box.—The Price One Dollar per Box, containing from 50 to 60 Pills.

Pills sent by mail, promptly, by remitting to the Proprietor. Sold by Druggists generally.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The heaviest of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibres; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration, or wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit, and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded, if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least relief from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. DR. SWETT:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me, and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it to superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1861.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1860, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease she had to contend with. ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or is not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)

75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street.

BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents to the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters appertaining thereto. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by any, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials herewith given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having the market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, your obedt. servts.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your patrons. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, instantly established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is dull, and that it is time to be liberal when every time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men are laying their hands upon their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that the out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLCITED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since the first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Rheumatic Affections, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Loss of memory, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The mental effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of sexual impotency, Confusion, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted female soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Advertising.

For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $6, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.

Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.

Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

TUFTS COLLEGE.—At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Trustees of Tufts College, held on Tuesday morning, Rev. Charles H. Leonard of Chelsea, was elected a member of the Board. Rev. Alonzo A. Miner, was elected President of the College. It is understood that Mr. Miner accepts the office without salary, and that he will devote only a portion of his time to the institution, retaining his connection as Pastor of the Second Universalist Society in Boston. He will enter upon his new duties with the beginning of the next College year. The friends of the College express much satisfaction at this choice. The institution has long felt the want of a President, and it gains in Mr. Miner a man of learning and an officer of rare administrativo ability.

ALOES FOR SQUASH BUGS.—Probably the most effectual, while it is the most easy remedy for the little pests that eat up our vines, is water made intensely bitter with aloes—say two ounces to a gallon. This may be put upon the vines with a rose-jet watering pot; or, still better, with a roso-nozzle syringe. It has been applied successfully in France and England, and to some extent in this country. It is said that it will also repel rose bugs, and the green slugs that destroy roses and grapes. If it will keep the stupid bugs off the squash and melon vines, it will be an invaluable remedy, and not an expensive one.

☞ The Cincinnati Gazette says the story which has been told of a balloon observatory, with telegraphic connections, by the observations of which Gen. McClellan directed the battle, is imaginary. A balloon was making ascensions on the right wing, but without any more connection with the battle than the wing had.

☞ Mr. Job Story, of Essex, Mass., a few days since found a lot of jewelry and several watches, in his workshop, concealed in a pile of oakum, where they were doubtless placed by some thief. The oakum had not been disturbed for several years.

MISSOURI STATE CONVENTION.—On Tuesday the bill defining the qualification of voters was discussed, and an amendment disfranchising all engaged in the rebellion since the 16th of December, was adopted by a vote of 35 against 31, after a long debate.

☞ Com. Goldsborough has a complete printing-press and apparatus on board his flag-ship, by means of which he strikes off copies of all his orders, letters and dispatches for the 70 vessels of his fleet, thereby economizing time and labor, and avoiding errors.

☞ Report says that Captain Bonaparte Patterson, who is serving in the Mexican expedition, is in high favor with the Emperor, and it is conjectured that he may prove a more acceptable candidate, as King or President of the Mexicans, than an Austrian prince.

☞ A very bad remedy for cows running at large in the streets of Ellsworth, Me., has been tried by some thoughtless persons, that of throwing scalding water upon the cows—causing pain where there is no concience.

☞ A breach of promise case in Middlebury, Vt., in which a Miss aged 46, sued a Mr. Norton, aged 56, for $5000 damages, has just been decided by the jury giving the fair plaintiff damages in the sum of $40.

☞ Not far from Augusta, Me., is a young woman whose husband is among the volunteers for country and freedom, and who takes his place in the field, sows crops and does all the work on a new piece of land.

CHEAP.—In Portland, on Wednesday, John Barry for assault and battery on his wife, was fined one cent and costs of prosecution, and ordered to recognize in the sum of $50 to keep the peace for six months.

IMPEACHMENT.—The State Senate of Kansas is now sitting as a court of impeachment in the case of Gov. Robinson and other State officers. No progress has yet been made in the trial.

☞ The U. S. Consul at Paris has issued notice that no further applications can be received from foreign officers for commissions in the Federal army.

☞ Eight brick stores are in the process of erection in Augusta, Me., a portion of them with iron fronts.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Vicksburg papers state that Decota, Miss., has been destroyed by our fleet, and add that but three little buildings now mark the spot which once gloried in the title of a city. The same reports add that the Federal gunboats shelled the town of Grand Gulf on Monday, and then transports landed a number of troops who pillaged and sacked the town of everything they could lay their hands on.

It is understood that there are fortifications twenty miles above Vicksburg, so formidable that if Commodore Farragut's fleet remains below that city, several of our gunboats will go there together whenever there is any attempt to open communication with him.

Gov. Andy Johnson telegraphs that the rebels are reported to be retreating from Cumberland Gap towards Chattanooga. If so, East Tennessee is at last freed, and Gen. Morgan can immediately take possession.

The War Department has received dispatches from Gen. Halleck, dated 12th inst. Beauregard was with the remains of his army on Saturday last. His army is represented to be greatly disorganized, and the immense destruction of valuable stores proves that his retreat was not contemplated and prepared for.

A Memphis dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune, 12th, states that it was reported that the rebels had burned Vicksburg, but it was discredited. Several Union gunboats and rams were starting up White River.

THE SECOND N. H. REGIMENT.

The correspondent of the Boston Journal, under date of May 31st, writes as follows in regard to the part the 2d N. H. Regiment took in the late battle at Williamsburg:—

After the evacuation of Yorktown on the 4th of May, this regiment being in the advance under Hooker, pushed on in hot pursuit of the enemy's retreating columns, and on the morning of the 5th encountered their rear guard strongly intrenched at a distance of about one mile from Williamsburg.—Companies E and B were at once deployed as skirmishers, and advancing through fallen timber to the open field took a position at but five hundred yards from the enemy's earthworks and opened the battle, picking off with their rifles the men who were endeavoring to serve the enemy's guns. The remainder of the regiment, with the Massachusetts First on our left, formed line of battle in the timber, and with the residue of Grover's brigade lay for more than two hours under a murderous fire, unsupported by a single piece of artillery. At the expiration of that time our artillery made its appearance on the field, took its position in front, and opened fire. The firing now became general all along the line, and a constant cannonade interspersed with the rattling of small arms was kept up until one P. M., when the enemy, being strongly reinforced, made a sortie upon our left. They were met with a fierce, stubborn resistance, but in vain. We were outnumbered, and fighting their way step by step our men fell back. At 3 o'clock our left flank was fairly turned. The Massachusetts First, with others, fruitlessly endeavored to make a stand and were obliged to fall back. The First were the sworn friends of the N. H. Second and had firm reliance on them.—"Never mind," said one of the officers of the First, as he sullenly retired, "the New Hampshire boys are in that chaparral; let Johnny Rebel go in there, and if he don't catch it I miss my guess!" On they came, pouring in a perfect storm of lead, while the shell from Fort Magruder burst in our midst with unerring precision. The N. H. Second rallied on their colors, retired and rallied again, when order was given for each man to take cover and pick his man. The squirrel hunters of New Hampshire were now at home. From behind trees and logs the crack of their unerring rifles rang forth the death knell of many a traitor. Charge after charge was made by the rebels to dislodge them from their position, but forming line of battle with the Excelsior brigade and a remnant of Grover's, they drove back the enemy across the road, but he was constantly receiving fresh accessions to his ranks and the fate of the day looked dubious. At this juncture occurred an incident which proved that Heintzleman's knowledge of military tactics, if not surpassed, was at least equaled by his knowledge of human nature. Riding up, he shouted (as only he can shout) "Hurrah! Richmond is in our hands, only win this battle and the war is ended. Music to the front, bands strike up 'Yankee Doodle' and 'Dixie'—Now boys, cheer and go in!' And they did go in.

The strains of Yankee Doodle, which no traitor ever stood before, sounded above the din of arms. Our reinforcements, under Kearney, came gallantly up on the double quick, and the day was ours. The shattered remnants of the N. H. Second, sadly thinned in its ranks, fell back, formed on its colors, and lay down for the night in the mud and rain. For thirteen hours had they been under the enemy's fire, and at least one out of every five was gone. On the day succeeding the battle quite an unintentional complement was paid to the Second by a captive member of the Virginia Twenty-Fourth. "As long as the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts boys faced us so steadily," he remarked, "we thought we were all right, but the moment that cursed New Hampshire regiment took to the trees and began picking us off, as though we were wild beasts, we knew it was all day with us." We are now before Richmond, and in a few days the N. H. Second may again mark its name on the soil of Virginia.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mrs. Timothy Tuttle, of North Weare, died very suddenly on Tuesday evening. She was standing and conversing, and instantly dropped upon the floor, expiring with scarcely a struggle. She was about 45 years of age.

—— The Board of Health, under lead of the City Marshal, have been making a survey of the city of Manchester, perambulating the back streets and avenues, examining into sewers, drains, making record of uncovered and imperfect vaults, and ordering the cleaning of all filthy and unhealthy localities. Several persons have been brought before the Police Court for leaving drains uncovered, &c.

—— The New Hampshire Convention of the Universalist denomination will hold its next annual session in Keene on the 18th and 19th inst. Arrangements have been made to entertain gratuitously all who may attend.

—— Dartmouth College is already quite well represented in the army, yet we learn from the Manchester Mirror that an entire company of 79 men are making arrangements to go to the war. They telegraphed to Gov. Sprague about a week since, asking if he would accept them for three months. He has since sent to them to come on with a whole company. One of their number has gone on to make the preliminary arrangements, and they intend to go next Tuesday. Fifteen or twenty of the Norwich Cadets will join the company, and the remainder will consist of Dartmouth Boys.

—— Joseph Bixby, of Warren, is in Haverhill jail for stealing an overcoat from the cars on the Montreal Road. Bixby is from a very respectable family, and has a brother in the Legislature.

—— Capt. George, of Co. C, and Lieut. Currier, of Co. B, 7th N. H. regiment, have resigned. It is rumored that others are also about to resign.

—— Mr. John Stevens, of Warren, recently shot a wild cat, which was two feet high, near the Meadow pond in that town.

—— Adj. George T. Cram, of the N. H. Battalion of the "R. I. Cavalry," has arrived from Front Royal, having resigned his commission and received his discharge. He says the charge at Front Royal, was made in a perfect dare-devil style by the New Hampshire Cavalry, on its own book, which had become detached from the main body. Nothing but their determined, reckless manner, and sheer good luck saved them from entire destruction, as their force was only a trifle over a hundred, while the rebels numbered ten times that. Some sickness prevails in the body.

For the Chronicle.

A QUESTION AND ANSWER.—The Boston Courier finds fault with the great body of the New England Congregational clergy, for preaching abolition and war sermons,—and puts this question:

"Is it not true, that as this poison has spread through New England, places of worship have become deserted, and churches have grown enfeebled or broken down altogether?" &c., &c.

To this Uncle Toby would respectfully answer, No: it is not true in Portsmouth, in Rockingham county, or in the State of New Hampshire, of the Congregational churches as a great body, or of all the churches together as a body.

No doubt there may be now, as always, individual cases of church desertion, feebleness, and breaking down—but there are no more now than at some other periods; no more than might be expected in time of war; and certainly no more among those churches where such sermons are preached, than where the whole subject is ignored.

Our knowledge of the churches of all denominations in this State, for the last forty years, and down to the present date, enables us to say with certainty that no such disaster has fallen upon them; and if any doubter will look into the churches in this city on a fair Sunday, he will find the congregations as good as usual. Some of the fullest houses are where such matters have been freely spoken of; and some of the thinner audiences have not been thinned by this means.

In the rural districts may be found assemblies of all sizes,—and among the feeblest and most slender, are some of those where such subjects are never stirred.

Knowing these facts about New Hampshire, it is only fair to presume the rest of New England to be in similar condition, viz., that the churches are in no great danger of "tumbling down," but on the contrary that "Satan's kingdom" is in that predicament—and his sympathizers only have reason to be alarmed.

☞ Gen. Burnside returned to North Carolina on Tuesday, through the inland passage, on board the gunboat Port Royal. On Monday he went up the York River, for consultation with Gen. McClellan.

☞ The 200th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Milton, Mass., was celebrated on Wednesday.

☞ The Post Office Department has received information that the Overland Mail Company is now ready and will resume service.

N. H. LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY.—In the Senate a bill was introduced, reducing the salaries of State and County officers ten per cent. A petition of the Eastern Railroad, praying to be annexed to the Eastern Railroad Company of Massachusetts, was referred to the Committee on Railroads.

In the House, Mr. Malcon of New Castle presented a memorial of the town of New Castle, asking compensation for the destruction of a bridge, destroyed for the public benefit. A bill was introduced, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, repealing chaps. 1667 and 1829 of the Revised Statutes. The passage of this bill would place the matter of naturalization where it was before the passage of the act of 1855, leaving it in the power of Justices of the Peace to issue the preliminary papers, and rendering it no longer necessary for the naturalized citizen to present his certificate thirty days before election.

PEARSON'S GRAND HISTORIC MIRROR OF THE WAR which opens at the Temple on Tuesday evening next, is a very fine painting. The Salem Observer thus speaks of it:—

"Pearson's Grand Historic Mirror of the War is drawing crowds to Mechanic Hall, and is still on the increase. The large hall was crowded last evening at an early hour, and many went away unable to obtain seats. The public of Salem do know how to appreciate a good work of art, which they can testify to by visiting Mechanic Hall. The painting is one of the best ever unrolled before any audience, and the inducements held out to visit an entertainment of this kind are very flattering. The first portion of this entertainment embraces a series of artistic and truthful scenes representing the departure of our fathers, sons, brothers and lovers for the seat of war, there to participate in the glorious battles of our country's flag. Then follows scene after scene of a most exciting nature. The New York 7th Regiment marching down Broadway, called forth peals of delight. The representation of Ellsworth's Fire Zouaves was most impressive, for we could easily recognize the loved features of that gallant commander, the late Col. Ellsworth, marching on to Victory and alas! to Death. The second portion of the entertainment consists of the different battle scenes in this great campaign, and laughable foraging scenes, as being enacted by our noble volunteers. We have mentioned only a few of these truly beautiful scenes, and even from these paintings we have spoken of, the public can get a much better idea of the soldier's life and customs by one visit to the exhibition, than by any description we could give of it in addition to these fine pictures. We have a very eloquent lecture given by Mr. Rufus Somerby, a gentleman filling well his position, and possessing rare elocutionary powers. His description of the various views which glide along, are fraught with deep interest, and we may say he holds the magic wand of interest over his hearers the whole evening. The patriotic songs of Lizzie Somerby gave great satisfaction, and her plaintive ballads were rendered in a sweet, touching manner. Her voice is a deep contralto, and she has fine command over it. As this exhibition closes on Saturday, those who desire to see it should avail themselves of the opportunity, and we consider it a golden one; for never have we had such a meritorious work of art in our midst before, therefore we would say to one and all go early to procure a good seat and enjoy one of the most intellectual feasts you ever partook of.

NAVAL.—The U. S. sloop of war Marion, Lieut. Commanding Doty, from the Eastern Division of the Gulf Squadron, arrived at Boston, Thursday morning.—The Marion sailed from Portsmouth on the 11th of July last, and proceeded to the Gulf of Mexico, where she was employed in blockading. She was relieved by the steamer Mercidita, and since March she has been cruising between Tortugas and the coast of Cuba, attempting to intercept secession vessels. She was ordered home for repairs.

The Niagara also arrived at Boston on Thursday.

MR. ALFRED SPEER, of New Jersey, produces a superior wine, designed for sacramental and family use. Mr. S. has been many years experimenting on the improvement of the Portugal Sambacus grape and its manufacture into wine by a peculiar method of fermentation. The latter has now become a scientific process, requiring four years for its completion, and the experiment is deemed an entire success by physicians, committees of Agricultural Societies, &c., who have investigated the matter.—[Newark Daily Adv.

The above wine is extensively used among families and invalids, and sold only by first class dealers. 1i

CONGRESS, Thursday.—In the Senate, the bill for the relief of Gen. Grant was passed. Mr. Hale introduced a bill to repeal the act to prevent and punish frauds on the part of officers entrusted in making contracts for the Government.

In the House, Mr. Loomis introduced a joint resolution recommending, in addition to the 4th of July, the 14th of June and 17th of September as public holidays to commemorate the adoption of the flag and the formation of the Constitution. On motion of Mr. Washburn the resolution was tabled. The House passed the Senate resolutions regulating the employment of convicts in the District of Columbia. The House concurred in the report of the Conference Committee on the disagreements to the bill making appropriations for bounties under the volunteer act of July last, the entire sum being $5,000,000.

THE SHOALS.—Our readers will remember that a few days ago we copied from the Newburyport Herald, a humorous article on "The Everlasting Negro," in which his being always brought up, on every occasion, in season and out of season, was likened to the assumed perpetual use of fish at the Isles of Shoals—which islands, by the way, ought always to have been called Smith's Isles, and not The Shoals at all. Well, we were and are sure that the writer of that pleasant satire of niggerism, (in which The Shoals and their stated fishy proclivities were only alluded to incidentally,) was no despiser, but, on the contrary, an admirer of, and frequent visitor to, that isolated group of ocean isles; and we know no one would suspect us of saying aught to the discredit or discomfort of any dweller there. But as a valued correspondent at Star Island has written us a private note in relation to the matter—which it seems has been misconstrued and misunderstood by some,—we deem it best to make public a portion of his remarks:

Mr. Miller:—Will you be so kind as to correct the unfavorable impression your quotation from the Newburyport Herald, in last Monday's Chronicle, produced, both on the Shoals people themselves, and on several of their friends. * * * The Shoals people are desirous of being esteemed, and are doing much to deserve it. They are industrious, temperate, frugal, and even heroic toward those unfortunate mariners who, by stress of weather, are driven ashore on the Isles or into dangerous proximity to them. They often rescue such persons at the imminent risk of their own lives. This year they have taken their school into their own hands, making it a town instead of a mission school, at an expense of about $180. The hotels are managed with propriety, and their tables furnished, whether of fish, flesh or fowl, to suit the large majority of their guests. Strangers are treated with uniform respect by the people generally, and though some of the visitors misbehave infinitely worse than anything I have seen during a six years' residence there among the inhabitants; still, charity, that hideth a multitude of sins, forbids us to publish such matters to their hurt.

But enough. You will, I feel sure, publish a little statement in regard to us, in accordance with the above facts, as will allay the irritation produced by the article referred to, and so we shall be still mutual friends. E. E.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTSMOUTH.

The proprietors of the "Historic Mirror of the War," now on exhibition, deem it necessary to inform the public that every effort has been made to procure accurate and truthful sketches of all the principal events and incidents of

THIS GREAT REBELLION.

Messrs. Pearson, the well-known Artists of New York city, assisted by several of the leading Artists of the day, have succeeded in representing on canvas the great historical events of the times, and at a very large expense they have placed before the public not only a most correct and truthful representation of these exciting scenes, but by all pronounced in every respect

A WORK OF ART.

The unseemly daubs which are generally produced for public inspection under the name of Panoramas, have, in a great measure, shaken the confidence of the people; consequently, when a meritorious work is offered to their notice, it is frequently condemned without being seen. It is necessary, therefore, to take the chance that this Panorama has met with the most unbounded success, having been exhibited within the past few months to no less than 125,000 SPECTATORS.

This being its first exhibition in this city, the proprietors would inform the citizens that they intend exhibiting it every evening for one week, relying upon its intrinsic merits to create the same enthusiastic patronage which its stay in any other city has never failed to produce. June13

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD.—Editor of Chronicle:—Two men-of war are reported to have arrived at Charlestown Navy Yard on Thursday to be repaired, sent at the earnest request of Members of Congress from Massachusetts. Would it not be well enough for our Senator, Mr. Hale, if he has finished his attack upon Mr. Secretary Welles, to suggest to the Secretary the unusual facilities at this yard for repairs of vessels that may be sent home from the Southern stations for repairs and sanitary purposes.

Boston yard is crowded with ships, the dock in constant use, and vessels are obliged to await their turn to be docked. Mr. Hale as chairman of the Naval Committee knows or ought to know that we have but little work to do here, with hundreds of worthy men idle, but ready to work when an opportunity offers, and space and facilities at this yard for a vast amount of work. Mr. Senator Clark might also well serve his constituents by giving this matter some attention.

The subject also commends itself to Hon. John Noble Goodwin, the member from Dist. No. 1 in Maine, whose constituency in the towns of Kittery, York, Eliot and Berwick would reap the larger share of the benefits of labor at our yard at this period.

These members of Congress are now being looked after with a vigilant eye by hundreds of mechanics and laborers, who expect the recipients of Congressional offices in Maine and New Hampshire to be as persevering and active in behalf of this naval station, as is Mr. Gooch and others that might be mentioned in Massachusetts with regard to the Charlestown Yard.

Mr. Rollins is constantly at work for this yard, and as Mr. Marston is, with patriotic devotion, absent on the field of battle, it is to be expected of our Senators in Congress that they will take a more lively interest in the wants of this station, because there are so few in a position to exert an influence in its behalf. BROAD AXE.

For the Chronicle.

THE REGATTA. — Messrs. Editors:—Some remarks in the Chronicle in reference to a proposed recognition of the fact that we once observed "Independence Day" in other modes than merely ringing the bells and firing cannon—to usher in a day which, were it not for the patriotism of the boys before early dawn, might be mistaken for the Sabbath,—meet the approval of the public. What entertainment would be more pleasing, or give more satisfaction than a "regatta"? Certainly we have plenty of material in the shape of wherries, whale-boats, and row-boats of all sizes, with sturdy crews to pull them, to improvise a good celebration at a small expense. We have the "Sunny Side," "Zouave," "Shakespeare," "Sancho," "Monitor," and many others, with and without names, which might enter the lists. Why will not our City Council appropriate a couple of hundred dollars for this purpose? Why not start a petition to that effect, to the City Fathers? Who will move in the matter? SIGMA.

☞ We understand that a letter has been received in this city from Col. Kenley, of the 1st Maryland regiment, (whose brave and desperate stand at Front Royal has been so highly commended—it being connected with Gen. Banks' Division,) which states that Mr. John S. Bowers, of that regiment, son of Lt. Bowers, although seriously wounded by a sabre at that fight, is now out of danger and doing well at the Hospital at Winchester. Lieut. Bowers has two other sons in the United States Army, and has himself been a constant applicant for active service since the commencement of the rebellion.

☞ Quartermaster General Gage recommends a new State Arsenal at Concord—which would no doubt be well enough. But his advice to discontinue the arsenal at Portsmouth, ought not to be heeded nor adopted. This city and harbor should have far more efficient fortifications and defences than they now have, instead of what little there is being reduced; and the Arsenal, in case of possible sudden trouble here, might be an invaluable reservoir of arms and munitions. Concord is no doubt the most important point in New Hampshire, but perhaps there may be a few other places worth noticing.

The Journal well asks, Why not remove Fort Constitution, also? and locate the Navy Yard on Horse-shoe Pond?

☞ Among the wounded soldiers in New York city, is Mr. Ricker of Massachusetts, who was an engineer, running from Salem to Portsmouth, where he enlisted, without intimating the fact to his friends. He was in the battle of Williamsburg, where he was wounded in the knee, the ball passing through the joint. An attempt to save the limb failed, and the thigh was amputated about the middle. He was taken to the hospital at Fortress Monroe, and came to New York in the Vanderbilt, accompanied by his wife. He is now rapidly recovering under the tender nursing and skillful surgical treatment at the Broadway Hospital.

☞ Mr. Sigston's temperance lecture, on Thursday evening, at the Freewill Baptist Church, was an able argument and persuasive against drinking strong drinks in any quantity, as tending naturally to drunkenness. His manner is mild and conciliatory, and his mode of operation the presentation of the pledge.

The lecture was well received, and with the juvenile singing, made an agreeable service.

☞ Tuesday next is the Seventeenth of June. Is any public notice of the day to be taken in Portsmouth? or are all days alike to our citizens? That memorable day is a legal holiday in Massachusetts and some other States, and ought to be made so at once, in New Hampshire.

☞ The "Kinco" correspondent of the Manchester American is informed that The Chronicle does not in any wise acknowledge his "soft impeachment" of the fame and name of old Portsmouth—but that, on the contrary, we regard his logical deductions as incorrect as his statements are false.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to bring it into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the larger bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,

ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distresses at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1863. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

Dr. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made to ascertain American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the patentability of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would say that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having that article supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, dear sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.
Drs. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your hospitals. Thanks to you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of Dr. A. H. Baldwin, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston:

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time; they must then win his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when moved in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men generally make the mistake that they choose when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is dull or slack, in the mistaken idea that it is at the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how loud the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as his advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some men greatly make the mistake after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

MOOSEHEAD LAKE!

The Most Popular and Delightful Summer Resort in Maine.
The MT. KINEO HOUSE,

J. R. CROCKER, Superintendent, is located at Mt. Kineo, near the middle of the Lake, and is the central point for Trout Fishing and Moose Hunting Parties. The House, which commands a more delightful scene than any other of the Lake and adjacent Forests and Mountains, has during the past season been enlarged, refitted and refurnished throughout. On the premises is a Billiard Hall, furnished with improved tables, a Bowling Alley, new and beautiful Skif and Fishing Boats and Birch Canoes.

☞ Popular and Experienced Guides are engaged at the Mt. Kineo House, and will at all times be at the service of its guests.

Parties wishing to visit the Lake can purchase through Tickets from Boston to Mt. Kineo House, via Boston and Maine and Androscoggin and Kennebec Railroads to Newport, thence by Stage to Greenville, (foot of the Lake,) thence by the regular steamers, PARIS OF THE LAKE, Capt. Thos. Robinson, to the Mt. Kineo House.

FARE THROUGH $7.50, and passengers have the privilege of stopping over at Portland or any place East.

Passengers by this route will find excellent accommodations at the SHAW HOUSE, Newport, S. B. Brown, Prop.
NEWPORT HOUSE, Newport, C. B. Pratt, P.
EVELETH HOUSE, Greenville, J. Eveleth, P.
SEBOOMOOK HOUSE, Greenville, C. Sawyer.

Passengers by the Morning Trains per Boston and Maine or Eastern Railroads, in Portland, may also arrive at the Lake in regular course DAILY via NEWFORT, or on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, via Skowhegan and Bangor; or on Tuesday and Friday, via Bangor, per Steamer M. SANFORD.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that never fail to effect a cure. Hundreds of them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and disorders in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that the most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

SKEDADDLE.

The shades of night were falling fast,
As through a Southern Village passed
A youth who bore, not over nice,
A banner with the gay device,
Skedaddle!

His hair was red; his toes beneath
Peeped, like an acorn from its sheath,
While with a frightened voice he sung
A burden strange to Yankee tongue,
Skedaddle!

He saw no household fire, where he Might warm his toil or hominy;
Beyond the Cordilleras shone,
And from his lips escaped a groan,
Skedaddle!

"O stay," a cullered passon said,
"An' on dis bosom rest your hed!"
The Octoroon she winked her eye,
But still he answered, with a sigh,
Skedaddle!

"Beware McClellan, Buell, and Banks,
Beware of Halleck's deadly ranks!"
This was the planter's last Good Night,
The chap replied, far out of sight,
Skedaddle!

At break of day, as several boys,
From Maine, New Hampshire and Illinois,
Were moving southward, in the air
They heard these accents of despair,
Skedaddle!

A chap was found, and at his side
A bottle allowing how he died,
Still grasping in his hand of ice,
That banner with the strange device,
Skedaddle!

There in the twilight, thick and gray,
Considerably played out he lay;
And through the vapor, gray and thick,
A voice fell like a rocket stick,
Skedaddle!

—[Vanity Fair.

Death by Lightning.—The Wheeling (Va.) Daily Press gives the following account of deaths from lightning in that city, at the residence of Mr. Pillsbury, who was formerly a resident of Newburyport:

"During a most violent and terrific thunder storm, which passed over this city about 1 o'clock Monday morning, (June 2,) a most shocking and painful accident occurred at the residence of Joshua Pillsbury, on the Island. The lightning struck a chimney and ran down it till opposite a bedroom in which were two young ladies, where it turned and passed through the window of their room—struck the two young ladies, killing both and setting the bed on fire. The fire was soon extinguished.

"Thus, in an instant was a family who retired happy, awakened to witness the most heart-rending scene, filling every person with unutterable anguish. Miss Mary E. Pillsbury was aged 22, and loved by all. The other, Miss Clara Goodwin, of South Berwick, Me., was aged 28, and had arrived only two days previous to visit the family, and to give her hand in marriage to J. W. Pillsbury, son of Joshua Pillsbury, and head of the firm of J. W. Pillsbury & Co., extensive shoe dealers and manufacturers of this city. This renders the unfortunate circumstance doubly painful. Instead of becoming the loved, happy and beautiful bride, giving joy inexpressible to a loving groom, she finds but the cold embrace of cruel death. We deeply sympathize with the afflicted family and friends."

☞ The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, formerly of Syracuse, N. Y., but recently settled over the Second Dutch Reformed Church in Philadelphia, while visiting Fairmount on Monday last, with his family, consisting of his wife, child, (a little girl five years old,) sister and niece, procured a boat for the purpose of sailing on the river.—Being a stranger in the city, he was not aware of the existence of the dam, and before information could be given him by some men in boats who observed the perilous position of the party, their boat grated upon the breastwork of the dam, and they were almost immediately precipitated over it. Prompt assistance was rendered by those who witnessed the accident, and Mr. Talmage, sister and niece were rescued.—The little girl was found at some distance off, insensible, but was with much difficulty resuscitated. The body of Mrs. Talmage had not, up to a late hour in the evening, been recovered.

Six Rainbows at Once.—The editor of the Marquette News says that just as the force of a recent shower at that place was spent, the sun looked out from behind the clouds, when a brilliant rainbow spanned the heavens, then a second, then a third, a fourth, a fifth, and finally a sixth one; all of them in regular gradation from the inner, which was a mere line, to the outer, which was of great breadth and magnitude.

Run Over and Killed.—As Patrick Gallagher, of Bangor, was attempting to stop a runaway horse on the 7th, he was struck in the breast by the thill of a wagon harnessed to the animal, was thrown down, and his back broken. He died the next morning.

MONDAY, JUNE 16, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

On Tuesday our forces had occupied James Island, near Charleston, under the protection of the gunboats. The rebel forces had been greatly augmented—it is said by a portion of Beauregard's army—and every preparation was making for a stubborn defence of the city. Commodore Dupont thought our forces could not safely proceed until he had a stronger force.

The N. O. Delta of the 31st gives a report that Fort Morgan, below Mobile, surrendered on the 29th of May.

The Delta of the 31st reports that on the 26th, while the forces under Gen. Williams were descending the Mississippi, they were fired on, when off Grand Gulf, by a field battery of four guns. One man was killed and an officer slightly wounded. The gunboat Kineo then opened on the town, and the rebels retreated.

Dispatches from flag officer Farragut at New Orleans, June 2, state that he went to Vicksburg in the Richmond, but returned without attacking the place, leaving a number of gunboats as a blockading squadron. The town is under their guns, but it lies rather high above the river for assault. It would, however, be captured before many days.

The Times' Washington dispatch says it has information, derived from secession sources, that six North Carolina regiments refused to go into the battle at Fair Oaks, and that these regiments are now under strong guard in Richmond.

Richmond dispatches to Mobile papers claim a glorious victory for Jackson over Gen. Fremont, on Sunday. They also state that Jackson captured two pieces of artillery from Gen. Shields, on Monday.

The N. Y. Post's Washington dispatch states that a loyal Virginian has arrived there and reports that the rebels have about 75,000 effective troops at Richmond.

Gen. Pope has reached Okolona, Miss., Beauregard was still retreating, Price being with him. Jeff. Thompson was at Grenada with a small force.

Our entire loss by Jackson's attack on Gen. Shields, will not exceed 1000 in killed, wounded and missing.

A demonstration was made on Friday, by a force of rebel cavalry and artillery, on the right flank of Gen. McClellan's army at Tunstall's station, with a view to break up his railroad communication. They were met by a force of infantry, and compelled to retire, without doing injury to the railroad. Very extensive movements of the rebel army in front of Gen. McClellan were made on Friday, but as yet remain involved in mystery. Large bodies of men are moving from Richmond down towards the late battle-field. Our pickets were driven in from Old Church on Friday by rebel cavalry. A contraband reports that 30,000(?) rebel cavalry left Richmond on Thursday morning, going in the direction of Fredericksburg.

CONGRESS, Friday.—In the Senate, the naval appropriation bill was considered, and an amendment for the repair of the buildings of the Naval Academy at Annapolis was adopted. Also another, that after the 1st of November, 1862, spirit rations in the Navy shall cease.

The House passed the Senate bill appropriating $100,000 to enable the Secretary of the Navy to contract for raising vessels, armament, stores and equipments, belonging to and sunk in the waters of the United States. The bill to secure the more prompt payment of officers and volunteers was passed. The Senate bill adding 40 surgeons and 120 assistant surgeons, also passed, after the House had added a section abolishing brigade surgeons, placing them on an equal footing with the army surgeons, it being the opinion of the Surgeon General that their services can thus be rendered more useful.

☞ Frequently, when persons, taking shelter under trees during a thunder-shower, have been killed by the lightning, there have been noticed on the chest and abdomen peculiar and beautiful arborescent appearances, which by many have been described as photographs of the tree, imprinted by the lightning. On the bodies of two Massachusetts soldiers, recently killed by lightning, these appearances have been noticed; but as in these cases there was not a tree of any kind within at least two miles of the spot, nor anything resembling a tree, the hypothesis must be allowed insufficient for the case.

A TREMENDOUS APPETITE.—A boy in Fitchburg, Mass, had his appetite excited, the other day, by the sight of a basket of oranges, and offered to eat the lot if anybody would pay for them. The offer was accepted and he ate twenty-two of them, six with the peel on, and then wanted to take as dessert a basket of radishes.

☞ A Nassau letter of the 9th inst. reports eleven rat iron steamers then there. Capt. Semmes and officers, late of the Sumter, had arrived there to take charge of the Orieto.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A correspondent of one of the Manchester papers says that he counted forty-two pairs of silver-bowed, three pairs of gold-bowed, and three pairs of steel-bowed spectacles, besides two pairs of the latest improved steel spring eye-glasses, in use in the Legislature.

—— The President has appointed Daniel Hall, Esq., of Dover, (a member of the Class of '54 at Dartmouth) a staff officer in the army with the rank of Captain. Mr. Hall has been during the present session the clerk of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, of which Hon. John P. Hale is chairman.

—— The forty-first annual meeting of the State Historical Society was held in Concord on Wednesday forenoon. The chair was filled by Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, President, with Rev. Dr. Bouton as Secretary pro tem. The time was occupied in the transaction of the usual business of the society. Among the new committees were the following gentlemen to collect materials of the present crisis for the use of the society: Rev. Dr. Cummings, Hon. Mr. Hackett, Hon. Charles H. Bell, J. B. Walker, Esq., and J. A. Harris, Esq. Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett was elected President for the ensuing year. The attendance was larger than usual, and great interest was manifested in the affairs of the organization. In the evening, Wm. L. Foster, Esq., delivered the Annual Address in the Representatives Hall.

—— A petition is in circulation in Dover, and is being extensively signed,—to have the Ninth N. H. Regiment located near that place. The Gazette says:—"In a business point of view it would undoubtedly benefit the city, but in a moral point of view we are afraid the regiment would suffer from the association."

—— Lieut. J. H. Hildreth, of Lebanon, 1st Lieutenant in the second company of N. H. Sharpshooters, has been appointed aide de camp to Brig. Gen. Gibbon, in McDowell's department. Lieut. Joseph Campbell, formerly of Lebanon, and a graduate of West Point, has been appointed to the place made vacant by Gen. Gibbon's promotion.

☞ A French paper reports that the Emperor of China recently washed himself, thereby occasioning the greatest consternation among all classes of his subjects. At first it was thought that so daring an innovation would be visited with serious consequences; but soon as it was ascertained that the experiment was performed as an act of humiliation and personal mortification before the Chinese deity, with the hope of averting the political calamities of the nation, public tranquility was restored.

☞ Orpheus C. Kerr says the intelligent and reliable contrabands who have come in, from time to time, have been formed into a military company, by William Brown, of the Mackerel Brigade. They have been dressed in flaming red breeches and black coats, and each chaotic chap looks like a section of stove-pipe walking about on two radishes.

☞ Senator Wilson is about to introduce a bill extending the benefits of the act abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, to slaves whose masters reside there, but who were hired out in Maryland or Virginia when the act went into effect.

☞ Comr. Pennock (of Com. Davis' fleet) telegraphs to the Navy Department that the buildings and machinery of the Memphis Navy Yard were found uninjured when our forces occupied the town.

☞ There is a revival of the temperance cause in Washington, and meetings are held almost every evening. It has been ascertained that there are two hundred and ninety-five places in the city where liquor is sold by the glass, and two hundred and seventy-five places where they are licensed to sell it by the pint and over;—producing an annual revenue of over twenty-six hundred dollars.

ACCIDENT.—A steam box attached to the printing machinery in the Print works of the Salisbury Mills, exploded on Tuesday last, with a loud report, and one of the cast iron pieces struck Mr. Wm. Proudman on the head, making a somewhat severe flesh wound.

WELL UP.—In the last stock sales the Salisbury Mills was quoted at $145 per share. This is $45 above par. The whole machinery of the Corporation is now in operation.

EDITOR ARRESTED.—The Portland Argus says, Doyle, the editor of the Detroit Advertiser, was arrested on the 31st ult., by the U. S. Marshal for treason.—He has for some time been sending information to the South, and when arrested dispatches in cypher were found on his person.

☞ A prize of twenty thousand francs has been offered at Paris, for the best essay on the "regeneration of bone," in the hope that, eventually, medical science will no longer have to resort to amputation.

It is beauty's privilege to kill time, and time's privilege to kill beauty.

Every door may be shut but death's door.

☞ Nassau dates of June 7th note the arrivals of the rebel steamers Cecil on the 5th, and Kate on the 6th, from Charleston, with dates from Rebeldom, of June 2d.

The steamer Nellie, attempting to run the blockade May 27th, was run ashore, after being shelled by the Federal cruisers, and her cargo landed on Long Island, slightly damaged, but the vessel pretty badly used up.

The steamer Tubal Cain, with a cargo for the rebels, has arrived at Nassau from Liverpool, consigned to the rebel agents, Adderly & Co.

FOR HAYTI.—Last week, James Redpath sent a vessel from Alexandria to Hayti with 112 contrabands, who are to settle in that country. This is practical freedom for fugitive slaves: they have gone to a country where their owners cannot claim them, whatever may be the event of this war.

CHAMBERS' BOOK OF DAYS.—Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, are the American publishers of the Book of Days, which, while periodically published, will have the advantage of forming a complete work, in two, or at the utmost three, volumes. It consists of matters connected with the Church Calendar, phenomena connected with the seasonal changes, folk-lore of the United Kingdom, curious fugitive and inedited pieces, etc. The work is beautifully printed, and abundantly illustrated, and the two numbers which we have seen, contain much of interest to all classes of persons and prove that the editors are well accomplishing their wish to "make these volumes a repertory of old fireside ideas in general, as well as a means of improving the fireside wisdom of the present day." For sale in Boston by A. Williams & Co., and in Portsmouth by J. H. Foster. Price 20 cents per number,—to be issued monthly.

John Robins, New York, has issued the 2d of his series of Ballads of the War, by A. J. H. Duganne. This is devoted to the scenes at Fort Sumter, and is finely illustrated. The drawings have been approved by Gen. Anderson. Price, 25 cents. For sale by J. H. Foster.

PEARSON'S HISTORIC MIRROR OF THE WAR.—Our readers must not forget that this beautiful exhibition opens at the Temple to morrow evening. This is doubtless the only perfect and legitimate Panorama of the War now travelling, and wherever exhibited it has created the most unbounded enthusiasm. In the past four months it has been visiting the principal cities and towns in New England, and exchanges from all quarters are loud in their praises of this matchless exhibition.

So far as we can learn, this painting gives us a complete and well-defined history of this gigantic rebellion, commencing with the attack on Fort Sumter, and terminating with the desperate conflict at Pittsburg Landing. The Pearson Brothers, who are the principal artists, accompany the painting, and when any important event occurs it is immediately transferred to canvas, and thus the interest of the subject is constantly kept up; and when we consider the great reputation acquired by the Messrs. Pearson as panoramic painters, and the absorbing interest of the subject on which they have expended so much time and labor, we can safely assure our citizens that a rich treat is in store for them. A good work of art will always command the patronage of an appreciative public; but our citizens have been so often imposed upon by worthless productions, that a really meritorious work is often obliged to exhibit several nights to a "beggarly account of empty benches," before the public ascertain its real worth. We can assure our readers that in Pearson's Grand Mirror of the War, they will find an entertainment at once pleasing and instructive.

The thrilling events of the past year have crowded upon each other so thick and fast, that it is impossible for the mind to comprehend them all; but a visit to this painting will carry us back to the time when the booming shot upon Fort Sumter awoke the people from their lethargy into active life. Vivid and truthful pictures of the "Bombardment of Sumter" and the "Rout in Baltimore" are given with startling accuracy and effect, while following in rapid succession we have other scenes scarcely less exciting. The burning of our navy at Norfolk, the parade of the New York 7th Regiment and the Ellsworth Fire Zouaves, views of Washington and Harper's Ferry, the passage of the Mass. Eighth Regiment from Annapolis to Washington, the battle of Great Bethel, the disastrous retreat at Bull Run, and the gallant charge of the 69th Irish Regiment, are all faithfully depicted. Following these are the battles of Rich Mountain, Ball's Bluff and Mill Spring, and the surrender of Fort Donelson; while the terrific combat between the iron-clad monsters, the Merrimack and Monitor, is presented with thrilling effect.

These scenes, with many others, are painted in the highest style of art, aided by dioramic effects, and wherever exhibited have produced the most thrilling sensations in the minds of the beholders. Appropriate music, vocal and instrumental, is introduced at each performance. The entire entertainment is calculated to inspire in the mind of the spectator, mingled emotions of wonder, admiration and delight. We must not omit to mention that Mr. Rufus Somerby, the well known and popular lecturer, will delineate the painting; it would be useless for us to dwell upon his merits in this capacity, as the public are well aware of his matchless descriptive powers. We trust the Temple will be crowded at the first representation of this beautiful and historical work of art.

Communication.

BAD TASTE.—Uncle Toby was disposed to laugh at the bad taste displayed in a late essay on the everlasting negro, which first appeared in the Newburyport Herald, and he was not at all surprised that it offended the people on the Isles of Shoals.—No doubt it seemed a "pleasant satire on niggerism" to the man who vented his ill-humor in writing it; but it does not seem quite so pleasant to the fishermen who are satirized, even incidentally; nor would it be very pleasant to the "niggers," if they should ever see it.

The people for whom the satire was intended, viz. the ministers and leading laymen of all the New England Churches, who assembled in Boston on anniversary week, can well afford to laugh, and will be apt to do so, over the feeble sneer at their "niggerism," especially as the piece itself shows all denominations of Christians in New England, in one phalanx, and standing firmly together on one side of a great question, viz. on the side of liberty and light, and against slavery and darkness. They are in favor of schools, and families, and rights for all,—and of course are against the slave code in all its branches, and chattel slavery in all its forms.

They have little fear of hard names or sneers,—and are not likely to be influenced by them.

BOUND TO MARRY.—Sunday afternoon a young man who first courted a daughter aged twenty, then the mother aged over forty, and was rejected by both, was by Justice Fuller, wedlocked, according to law, to the hired girl in the family he courted.—That chap did not intend to let his love run to seed while there was a show left.—La Crosse Democrat.

☞ See yon fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTSMOUTH.

The proprietors of the "Historic Mirror of the War," now on exhibition, deem it necessary to inform the public that every effort has been made to procure accurate and truthful sketches of all the principal events and incidents of

THIS GREAT REBELLION.

Messrs. Pearson, the well-known Artists of New York city, assisted by several of the leading Artists of the day, have succeeded in representing on canvas the great historical events of the times, and at a very large expense they have placed before the public not only a most correct and truthful representation of these exciting scenes, but by all pronounced in every respect

A WORK OF ART.

The unseemly daubs which are generally produced for public inspection under the name of Panoramas, have, in a great measure, shaken the confidence of the people; consequently, when a meritorious work is offered to their notice, it is frequently condemned without being seen. It is necessary, therefore, to inform all classes that this Panorama has met with the most unbounded success, having been exhibited within the past few months to an less than 125,000 SPECTATORS.

This being its first exhibition in this city, the proprietors would inform the citizens that they intend exhibiting it every evening for one week, relying upon its intrinsic merits to create the same enthusiastic patronage which its stay in any other city has never failed to produce. June12

☞ We regret to learn that the farm-house and barn of Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin, situated a little back from Greenland road, just above the Tabor farm, in Portsmouth, were burnt the ground, Saturday afternoon. The family were absent to attend the funeral of Mr. Wiggin's brother—only Mr. W.'s mother being at home; and she hearing a horse strangely pounding in the stable, went out and found the building in flames. The contents of the outbuildings, including a horse, cow, and pigs, with hay, tools, &c., were consumed. Most of the house furniture was saved. The total loss we heard estimated at say $1500, and there was no insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown, and as usual, and perhaps natural enough in such cases, incendiarism is suspected.

☞ As Albert R. Hatch, Esq., of this city, was driving in from Greenland, Friday afternoon, with a lady, his horse, when near the powder-house, was excited by the noise of the cars approaching behind, and started into a brisk trot and then broke into a run; and when near Frenchman's Lane, the carriage struck another which was passing, and was considerably smashed up. Mr. Hatch and his companion rescued themselves from the wreck, with providentially but a few bruises, and no serious injury. Their horse was also checked without further damage.

☞ Thanks to Mr. Richard Hilton, of, the Islington Street Refreshment Saloon, for that case of Beer left at our office on his daily round of the city with his beer wagon, the other morning. If any unusual brilliancy is observable in our columns lay it to that "pop." Hilton has circulated enough of that beverag "which cheers, but not inebriates," to flood a small town; and there's more left yet—but not of our half dozen.

Messrs. Foster, in High street, have also furnished us, during the late heated term, with several sample bottle of their Champion Pop, which when taken should not be shaken, unless you want the cork blown sky high.

This is rather a "small" subject for items, to be sure; but being also among the "sweet courtesies of life," we are desirous to reciprocate. And besides, we think that even small beer news is preferable to the lamentable great bier news we are having now-a-days, and seem likely to have for an indefinite time to come.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—To the Editor of the Chronicle:—I see by your paper of Saturday, that the City Marshal and Health Committee of Manchester, have gone over their city, to inspect streets, drains, and other places where dirt and filth may do mischief.

If our Marshal and Board of Health will go and do likewise, they can find at least one uncovered drain, by walking through High street. An elderly North Ender got into the mud there in a dry time.

Some other places are no better, but they are not quite so conspicuous. A. B.

☞ Many readers will be glad to learn that Mr. Diman is to re-open Highland Cottage, Stratham, for the coming strawberry season—commencing June 23d. The drive to Stratham is one of the most beautiful, and Highland Cottage was always a favorite resort under Mr. Diman's charge.

N. H. LEGISLATURE.

FRIDAY.—The Senate passed the bill relating to the allotment commission and the receiving and distributing the pay of volunteers in service.

In the House, a bill was introduced providing for the appointment of County Justices, and being read twice was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary. The same Committee were instucted to inquire into the expediency of giving to Probate Courts jurisdiction in all civil cases where the sum demanded in damages shall not exceed $500, and report by bill or otherwise.

THE REBEL GENERAL JOHNSTON.—The following is from the diary, published in the Natchez Courier, of Major D. M. Hayden, one of Gen. Johnston's aids in the battle of Shiloh:—

"Gen. Johnston, elated with the entire success of the whole day, took the position before the brigades of Bowen and Breckinridge and gave the order, 'fix bayonets.'—The last moment I saw him before his fall, he was haranguing his troops.

"The charge was made with a shout, and the enemy fled in confusion. I was by the side of Bowen, and the Minie balls flew so close that they clipped his hair. I started to the right to see what had become of Chalmers, when I met Capt. O'Hara, who announced that Gen. Johnston was wounded. We followed him down into the ravine, where we found him reclining in the lap of Gov. Harris, who had gently lifted him from his horse.

"I was told that the only and last words he ever spoke were some minutes after he was shot, 'Governor, I believe I am seriously wounded.' Preston, in an agony of grief, threw his arms around him, and called aloud, and asked if he know him.

"I caught hold of his hand and saw that he was still breathing. We administered a little stimulant, but he was totally unconscious and quietly breathed his last."

TURPENTINE FROM PETROLEUM.—The Londoners have discovered a method of extracting turpentine from petroleum, and say it can thus be obtained at one-third the price that has heretofore been paid for the same article from the Carolinas. This discovery will transfer to the North an important item in the list of Southern resources.

The beginning of anger is foolishness, and its end repentance.

Let the bent of thy thoughts be to mend thyself rather than the world.

Important to Females.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.

The combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice.—They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, painful Menstrations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, hysterics, fatigue, pain in the back and limbs, &c., disturbed sleep, which arise from the interruption of nature.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of those irregularities and obstructions which have consigned so many to a PREMATURE GRAVE. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place the general health begins to decline.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

are the most efficient remedy ever known for all complaints peculiar to FEMALES. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing, with certainty, perfect regularity. They are known and recommended by those who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of some of the most eminent Physicians in America.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so easy, even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer Machine invented, is its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant and careless can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,

ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of those complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26d

PERMANENT PERIODICAL & NEWSPAPER DEPOT IN PORTSMOUTH.

The recent change of proprietorship in the News Depot, has led us to a conversation with Mr. Morse on the subject, from which and our recollections we gather the following, for the encouragement of young men who have at first to strive hard to make a headway.—It shows that application and perseverance can accomplish almost anything.

It was the second day of November, 1841, that Joseph P. Morse, a native of Lyme, N. H., but a resident of Vermont during most of his minority, jumped from the Boston morning train of cars into the Portsmouth Station, with a bundle of the Boston Daily Times upon his arm. Being an entire stranger, he observed the route the coaches took, rushed to the centre of the town and soon disposed of his papers. After partaking of a dinner at the Farmers' House, then kept by Col. J. G. Hadley, he went to the Portsmouth Savings Bank and deposited twenty-five dollars, being nearly all of his worldly goods. The next morning, full of life and energy, he commenced the business of regularly selling newspapers in the streets, and might be seen, and heard too, thwarting our streets after the arrival of the morning papers from Boston, with a speed that only found its equal in the clear stentorian sounds with which he proclaimed just so much of the leading items of news as to excite the listener's curiosity. Thus for fifteen years—twice a day—he went through our streets, from Christian Shore to Mill-dam, and from Noble's Island to Wibird's Hill—torrents of perspiration sometimes pouring from his brows, so onward he went.

In Sept. 1843, he located his News Depot in the west end of the Old Bell Tavern. In February, 1852, he purchased that part of the building and in conjunction with Messrs. A. Akerman and H. M. Clark, a new front and other enlargements and improvements were made; and the Old Bell Tavern changed its character from a "home for the weary traveller," to a place of active trade.

For the first four years Mr. Morse told us his business hardly paid expenses; but by promptness he secured the confidence of the people, and his business gradually increased until he has built up one of the best newspaper routes in New England, having the largest and best paying list of subscribers. He has ever adhered to the motto taught him by his mother, "Never to contract a debt that you cannot pay on demand," and "Never enter into any obligation you cannot fulfill." We may here say, that the Savings Bank account opened the first day he arrived in Portsmouth, has never been closed.

Mr. Morse always declares that he owes much of his success and prosperity to the active aid and assistance of his partner for life. That however is a family matter, and not intended to appear in print.

During the twenty-one years that he has been in the business, he has sold over four million five hundred thousand newspapers, weighing over two hundred tons.

But Mr. Morse was not only a seller of newspapers, he was a reader and thinker also. Having been reared in the principles of Jackson democracy, and having a taste for politics, he soon became an active member of that party here, which at that time was strongly committed to the doctrine of the Wilmot proviso. When the party repudiated that principle, he did not, and soon found himself acting with the thirty-three other men in this city, known as free-soilers, who soon had a State organization, and he was chosen chairman of the State Committee. In this capacity he probably did as much as any other man to bring about that union which laid the broad foundation for the overthrow of the proslavery democracy in this State.—When the union of the Free-soil and Whig parties was formed, Mr. Morse was elected a member of the State Committee from year to year, doing thirteen consecutive years service as a member of the State organization.

In 1855 he was appointed Deputy Sheriff, and re-appointed in 1856. He resigned that office before April, 1861, when he was appointed Postmaster of this city.—Thus has the newspaper boy, by industry, frugality and enterprise, come forward step by step to his present responsible position. The same energy and industry will meet their proper reward in other cases as well as this.

Mr. Morse being determined to devote all his time and abilities to the duties of his office, has disposed of his Newspaper business to Mr. S. Ayers Avery of Boston, who now occupies the old stand.

Mr. S. Ayers Avery, who succeeds Mr. Morse in the Newspaper and Periodical business, is a man of pleasant address, and appears well qualified for his post. He has put the shop in excellent order, and in addition to all the various newspapers, he has added a stock of fancy goods, stationery, fruit, confectionary, pastry, &c. &c.

STATE FINANCES.

The liabilities of the Treasury are stated at $51,468.74, and the assets (amounts due on State and Railroad taxes, and cash on hand, with $1,743.71 net income of State Prison) are $45,-805.71; leaving a deficiency of $5,663.03, which is $26,005.90 less than the deficiency last year.

The receipts and payments on account of the War, are stated as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Received on loans of notes, authorized by the Governor and Council, April 29, 1861,	$170,000.00
Received on loans of notes, authorized by the Legislature June 17, 1861,	50,000.00
Received on loans of notes, authorized by the Legislature July 4, 1861,	50,000.00
Received on sale of State bonds at par,	$55,200.00
Interest and premium on State bonds to time of loan thereof,	7,968.51
Received from the United States,	238,940.00
	$561,808.51

PAYMENTS.

Coupons, State Bonds,	14,808.00
	$953,659.72
Cash on hand,	28,259.19
	$981,858.91

From this it appears that the total expenditures for War purposes has been $953,659.72. Of this the General Government has paid back 238,940.00, leaving $714,659.72 as the net amount which the State has paid for War purposes. Add to this the cash on hand, ($28,259.19,) and we have the amount of the War Debt, viz.:—$742,958.91.

The Adjutant General's Report.—Adjutant Gen. Colby states the number of enrolled Militia, as returned to his office, as 28,837. Thirty-six towns have failed to make returns. Including these the number would exceed 30,000. He gives a brief history of the enlistment and organization of the several regiments and corps furnished by the State for the war, with a full list of their regimental and company officers, and states the number of men enlisted for them, as follows:

First Regiment, for three months,		780
Second " " years		1,040
Third " " "		1,028
Fourth " " "		1,043
Fifth " " "		1,024

		9,397

The Adjutant General says:

During the organization, and since the departure of the troops, much care and attention has been given to registering the names of those mustered into service. A registration of every man has been made as correctly as possible from the rolls returned to this office.

Nathaniel K. Raynes, Esq. not long since a postmaster in Texas, and since pressed into the rebel service at New Orleans, has arrived in Portsmouth.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

New York May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this city to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, yours truly,

Louisville, Ky., July 31, 1861.

Drs. Valentine Mott, &c., New York:

Gentlemen—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have arranged my business so as to supply your vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a reliable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

ROCK ISLAND ARMORY.—Perhaps the first suggestion of this was through the columns of this journal, long before the destruction of that of Harper's Ferry. And it shall yet be accomplished, though just now too many seem to be intriguing for favorite places of their own, where land must be purchased to an extent of half a million or more, and power obtained at the constant expenditure of many thousands per annum. They would willingly see the best spot for the armory that our country contains, and already the property of the nation, sold with its unlimited water-power, that Chicago, or Pittsburg, or St. Louis, or some other large city should grasp this much coveted prize. The coal-fields of Illinois, the mighty Mississippi, (here bridged by a railroad—the sole tie of iron that unites the halves of our mighty domain,) the water power, the insular position, the ownership, the central location in the midst of the most martial population of the Union, and far removed from danger from foreign invasion or domestic treason, all point to Rock Island, Ill., as the future site of the mightiest establishment for the manufacture of arms that our nation is to possess. I think little of the patriotism of any representative who would insist on the purchase of another place and the sale of this. Yours, PRATINCOLA.

☞ A lady correspondent of the Portland Advertiser, warns her friends that in her opinion, the steel springs they wear in their skeleton skirts weaken them electrically—subtly stealing vital energy, of which few have much to spare. She declares:

The lassitude of indolent men and women and the affecting appeals from aching nerves, called neuralgic pains, which the more active suffer, are partially the retribution of sly thieves shut up everywhere; within our sleeping and waking couches—our elegant cushions, inviting to repose and recuperation, neatly conceal treachery within.

And has not the attraction of the needle for the subtile fluid of which nerves are at least conductors, as much to do with the lame arm and side of the sewing woman, as the inertion of her business? Is it not as mischievous as the steel pen? I have the more confidence in these observations, as, before Pres Felton reported his cases, I had perceived the paralyzing influence of the steel pen.

This will do very well to talk about, but we apprehend the ladies will hardly be convinced.

In 1769, a gentleman was passing late at night over Point Neuf, (Paris), with a lantern. A man came up to him and said, "Read this paper." He held his lantern and read as follows:

Speak not a word when this you've read,
Or in an instant you'll be dead!
Give up your money, watch and rings,
With other valuable things—
Then quick in silence you depart,
Or I with knife will cleave your heart!"

Not being a man of much pluck, the affrighted gentleman gave up his watch and run off. He soon gave the alarm and the highwayman was arrested.

"What have you to say for yourself?" inquired the magistrate, before whom the robber was arraigned.

"That I am not guilty of robbery, though I took the watch and money."

"Why not guilty?" asked the magistrate.

"Simply because I can neither read nor write. I picked up the note just at the moment I met this gentleman with a lantern. Thinking it might be something valuable, I politely asked him to read it for me. He complied with my request, and presently handed me his watch and purse, and ran off. I supposed the paper to be of great value to him, and that he thus liberally rewarded me for finding it. He gave me no chance to return thanks, which act of politeness I am ready to perform."

The gentleman accepted the plea of the robber, and withdrew his complaint.

WHAT A VIRGINIA CONTRABAND CAN DO.—A lady in Washington, desiring to procure a "help," made application at the headquarters of the "contrabands," on Capitol Hill, when the following colloquy ensued between herself and a female contraband who had escaped from "service" in Virginia:

Lady—Well, Dinah, you say you want a place. What can you do? Can you cook?

Contraband—No, m'm; mammy, she allays cooked.

Lady—Are you a good chambermaid?

Contraband—Sister Sally, she allays did the chambers.

Lady—Can you wait in the dining room and attend the door?

Contraband—La! no, m'm; Jim, that was his work.

Lady—Can you wash and iron?

Contraband—Well, you see m'm, Aunt Becky, she allays washed.

Lady—Can you sew?

Contraband—Charity, she allays sewed.

Lady—Then what in the world can you do?

Contraband—Why, I allays kep' the flies off missis!—National Intelligencer.
